Dedication

For his devotion to the joy of learning and his willingness to give of himself, we dedicate this, the 1966 Arrow, to Mr. Richard Schauf. His quick sense of humor combined with an ability to arouse curiosity in the minds of his students have made him an unforgettable influence on our educational growth.

REFLECTIONS

Ours is the ever-changing face of youth . . . ranging from questioning freshmen to confident seniors. Our physical, mental, social, and moral maturity is being molded and cast by the many experiences of our high school life. Through this ever-blending, ever-challenging, never-static rhythm of teenage life, we develop a distinct mode of living.

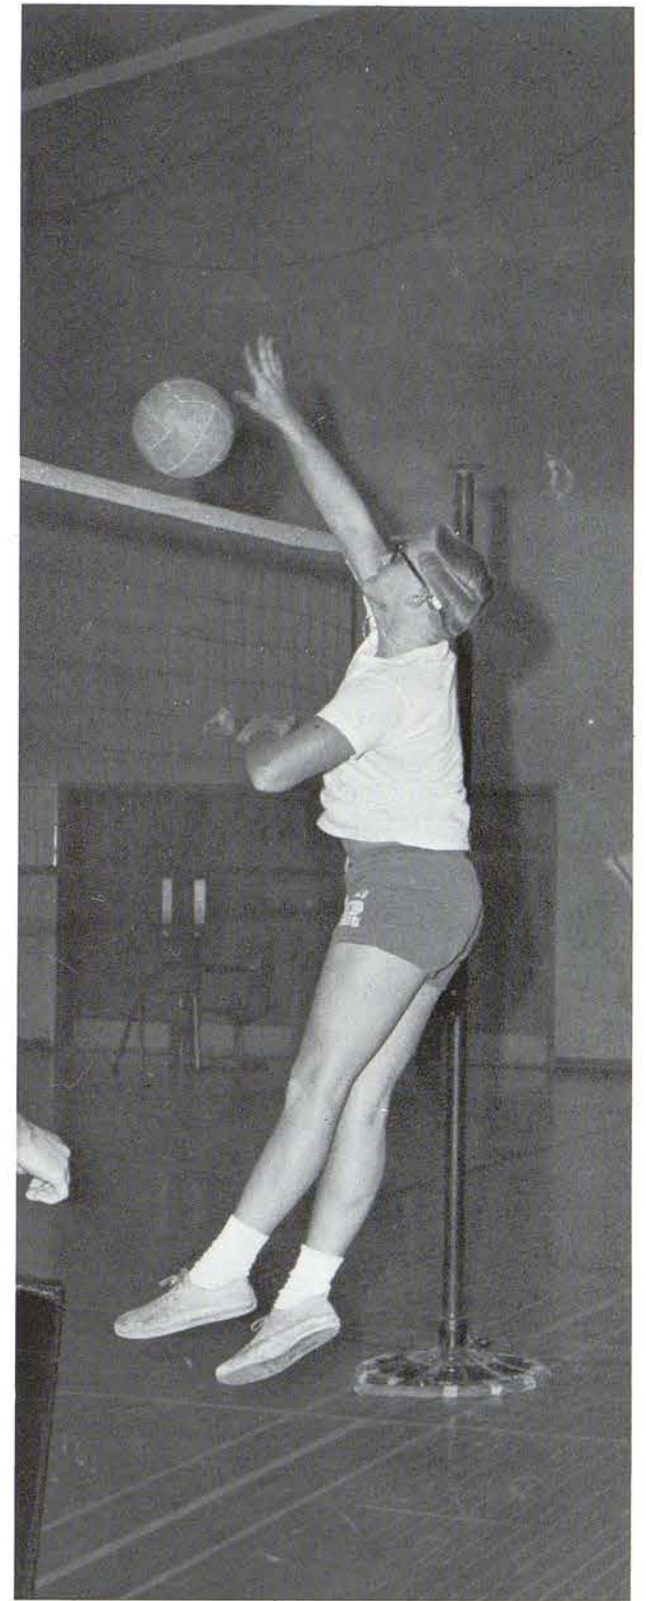

We have only to look back at our activities, our achievements, our fun to catch the reflections of our ever-maturing personalities.

Civic Leaders

ROBERT W. FENSKE
Superintendent of Schools

Because the school is such a vital part of the community, its administration requires close working relationships with business, service, and professional groups. Mr. Robert Fenske's position as Superintendent of Schools requires his active participation in community and civic life.

Mr. Fenske is president of the South Central Conference School Administrators, Legislative Chairman of the Southern Wisconsin Education Association, and a member of the Legislative Committee of the Wisconsin Association of School Administrators. He has also served as president of the Wisconsin Schools Food Association and as president of the Wisconsin School Music Association. He is presently chairman of the District Festival Committee of the Wisconsin School Association. He is an active member of the Kiwanis Club and the United Presbyterian Church.

Our gratitude goes to Mr. Fenske for the years he has given unstintingly of himself for the betterment of education in this area.

In addition to a very bush schedule of school administrative duties, Mr. Frederick Reineking, High School Principal, is a leader in civic and service organizations. He is Governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis Club International. He is Secretary of the South Central Conference, Chairman of the WEA Resolutions Committee, Assistant Chairman of the Administrators' Section of SWEA, Past Master in the Masonic Lodge, Director of the Stand Rock Indian Ceremonial, Key Club Adviser, and Elder on the United Presbyterian Church Board.

In his capacity as high school principal, he is interested in the welfare of each student, and is deeply concerned with providing training that will enable each student to realize his or her potential.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

STANDING: Robert Fenske, Superintendent of Schools; Warren Schultz, Merten Tofson, Treasurer; Gordon Foster, Clerk. SEATED: Henry Murphy, Robert Nelson, Hans Helland, Director; Rueford Bork.

Students have everything provided for learning--schools complete with classrooms, heating, lighting, books, libraries, laboratories, and study halls. Behind the functioning of these facilities is the Board of Education.

Members of the Board are leaders and capable representatives of the community elected for a term of three years at the annual district meeting which is held in July. The new member on the Board this year is Mr. Rueford Bork who was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Tom Crist, Jr.

The Board estimates the yearly budget, studies curriculum changes, approves teachers' salaries, hires new teachers, and makes decisions regarding bus transportation. The Board with Superintendent Fenske coordinates the instructional activities of 6 schools, 1,500 students, and 70 teachers.

During their terms of office, the members give unselfishly of their time and energies in fulfilling the demanding duties of their positions on the Board. Their efforts are greatly appreciated, not only by those directly connected with the schools, but also by citizens in the community.

Long hours of painstaking, never-ending work makes the days of our office secretaries very busy ones. Keeping records, compiling reports, and countless other duties that make for a smoothly operated school are the responsibility of these secretaries.

Reflections of Our Student Body

We met people . . . when we shivered together at the same bus stop . . . exchanged confidences across the aisle . . . looked up research material in the library. We became better acquainted when we worked together on a panel discussion . . . goofed on the same physics experiment . . . helped an underclassman with a difficult problem . . . visited back of the "line" during lunch hour.

Through association with our fellow students and the experiences we shared with them, we developed tolerance, understanding, and consideration for others.

Scholarship and Leadership

Reflections of Our Academic

Life

The hard hours of cramming . . . the puzzled questions . . . the joy of discovery . . . the satisfaction of a job well done . . . these are all a part of the reflections of our year. Looking back, we begin to realize the value of the knowledge we have gained.

As we learn through the experience of others, we better understand the realities of a demanding world. Our learning is not a hazy reflection, but a step upon which we can build and strive to achieve our goals in life.

Faculty Made Up of Individuals Working in Harmony

Enrichment of the English curriculum through library resources is discussed by Mrs. Ellen Fisher, head of the English Department, Mr. Roger Gruman, teacher of English IV, and Miss Arvilla Eichsteadt, school librarian.

Mr. Frank Weigel Is President-Elect of Wisconsin Education Association

Mr. Schauf and Mr. Hutchins, pinning a "Vote WEIGEL President-Elect" sticker on Mr. Weigel, were co-chairman of the committee which conducted a successful campaign to elect Mr. Frank Weigel president of WEA.

"I love, you love, he loves." These verbs are turned into "amarem, amares, amaret" as Loretta Joyce and Jan Joyce conjugate verbs in the subjunctive in a Latin II class.

Small groups aid good discussion as freshmen John Baumgarth, Laurie Bender, Jane Anderson, and Jean Corning analyze sentences for their structural linguistics.

Languages Develop Expression of Thought

Dan Delmore shows a passage to speaker Don Skarda, as the junior English class discusses the common traits of poetry of the early 1900's.

Members of Spanish III listen critically to Elaine Jensen and Diana Newman as they recite memorized dialogue.

Through Writing, Reading, Speaking

"Sleep no more! Macbeth does murder sleep" sounds through room 119 as senior English students listen to a recording of Shakespeare's works. Analytical reading and class discussions also serve as supplements to an English program designed to instill an appreciation of American and world literature. Methods of expression as well as vocabularies are enriched by numerous compositions, book reports, and term papers.

Because of the increasingly important role foreign language plays in universal understanding, the Latin and Spanish classes attempt to give students a broad, cultural foundation as well as vocabularies and the basic concepts of grammatical structure. Through a study of the history, literature, customs, art, and music of the related countries, students become familiar with different ways of life. The language lab, records, tape recordings, and movies provide opportunities to master the spoken language.

A paradise for girls is the all-boy senior English class. The new semi-circular arrangement of desks stimulates class discussion.

Susan Reineking, Tara Neubauer, and Pam Johnson study scales on the slide rule, which they will use to shorten computations in chemistry and Math IV.

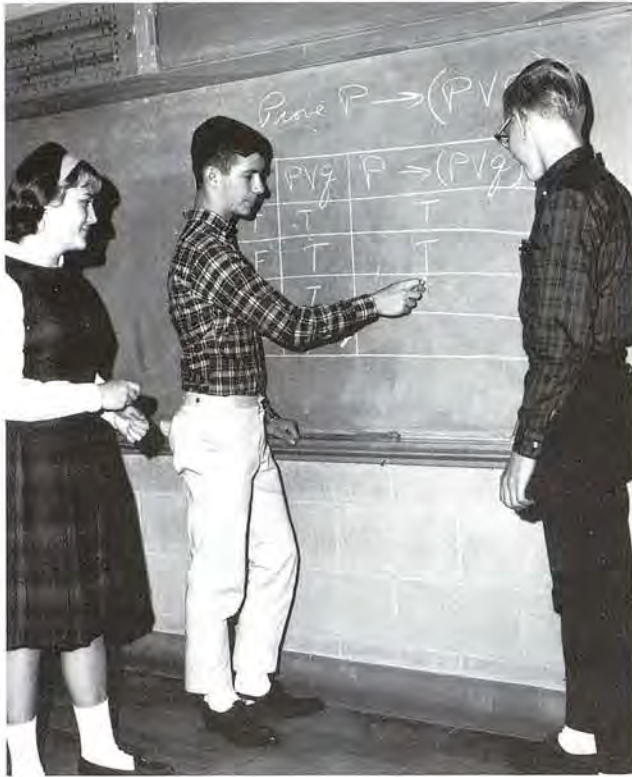

Using an enlarged flower model, Don Kieta, Linda Sheil, Peter Van Deuren, and Ruth Kimball study the structure and functions of flower parts.

Math and Science Students Explore

The physics class enjoys the results of the experiment in which students analyze heat capacity in the ice-cream making process.

P implies p or q is a tautology. This conditional statement is proved through the use of the truth table by Julie Braun, Ed O'Brien and Jerry Tatera.

Concentration and caution are exercised by Charlotte Walch and Derryn Loomis as they learn lab techniques.

the Mysteries of the Universe

Why do H_2O and H_2O_2 molecules bond differently? How does DNA affect heredity? Why does 1° equal 1? Students in the science and math programs are encouraged to dig for explanations to prove accepted facts.

Freshmen in general science classes receive an introduction to the various phases of science. In biology classes, students learn the secrets of the plant and animal life. Chemistry students study the composition of matter and the changes it undergoes, while seniors in physics classes analyze the relationship between matter and energy. In senior science practical application of scientific principles is stressed.

Because mathematics is the language of science, it is becoming increasingly important in the highly specialized vocations of today. Foundations for higher mathematics are laid in pre-algebra and algebra I classes. In geometry, algebra II, and math IV classes, students learn to think logically by using the proof method of solving problems.

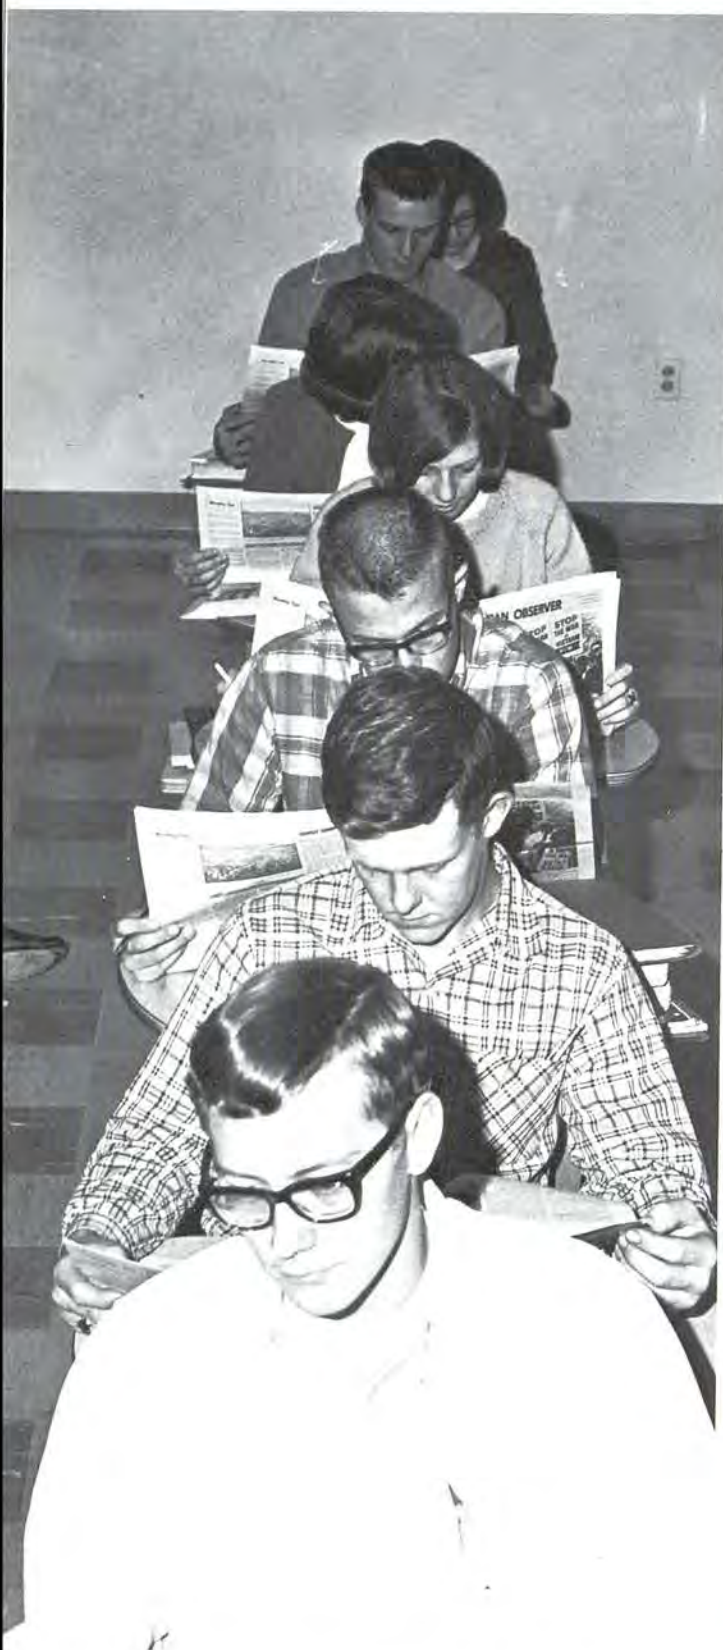

Working with a simple machine, the incline plane, Pam Johnson, Vickie Harrison, and Maria Ives measure the height of a hill.

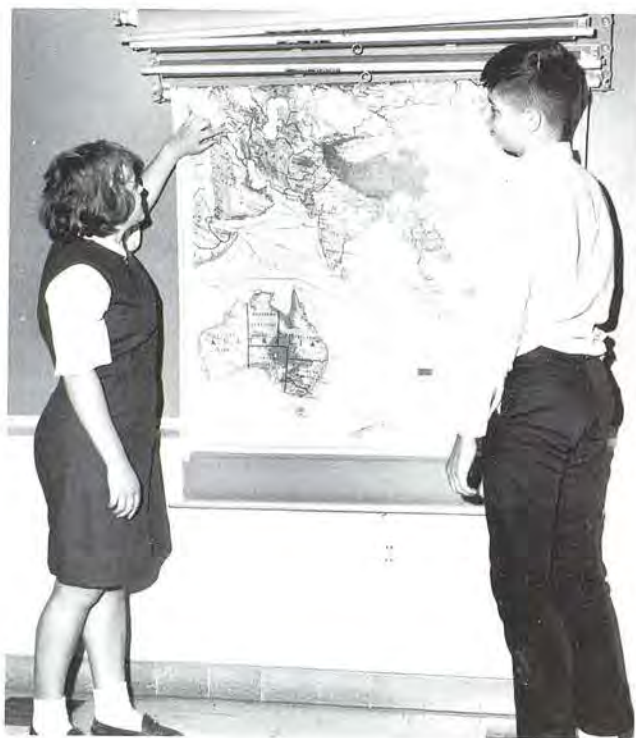

Social Studies Give Students

Hitler's voice rings through the halls as United States history classes analyze the causes of World War II with the aid of recordings and movies. Other supplementary teaching aids such as current events, periodicals, and film strips, help social science students gain a better understanding of world problems.

In citizenship classes, freshmen learn about modern developments in selected areas of the world, concentrated on their government and culture. A course in world history traces the growth of countries from ancient times to the present. Juniors in American history classes develop a renewed appreciation for democracy through a critical examination of the growth of American social, economic, and political institutions. Through a study of current social problems, seniors prepare to assume the responsibilities of a democratic society.

Current problems are analyzed with the aid of AMERICAN OBSERVERS by members of Mr. Buenzow's social problems class as they prepare for the weekly quiz.

Teresa Hagen and Dennis Draper point out trouble spots in the Near East to Mr. Lorentz's citizenship class.

Insight into Today's Problems

Maureen Casey, Jamie Bork, Linda Follendorf, Danny Delmore use artistic talents to arrange the American History bulletin board.

Clista Murray, Ramelle Backhaus, and Twila Garvin study Wall Street Journals, as they decide how to invest their two thousand dollars.

Working diligently, Larry Lapp and Harley Grant meet requirements for term papers in social studies classes.

Phyllis Pfister, Diane Sheil, and Sue Anderson find proofreading a tedious job as they check over the stencils of "How to Study."

"If the adding machine can't do it, how can I?" is the thought going through Rick Lofthouse's head while he and Larry Hendrickson total figures in bookkeeping.

Business Department Stresses

Practice makes perfect is the motto of the first hour typing class as they work diligently on their daily assignment.

"20,000 WORDS is a girl's best friend" according to Charlene Walker. She is referring to the handy dictionary as she transcribes a dictation test.

The elementary shorthand class discover that it takes hours of dictation practice to become expert shorthand writers.

Goals of Vocational Preparation

Clicking sounds can be heard coming from room 115 as the nimble fingers of busy typists fly over the keyboard. In shorthand classes, students work to build a reserve speed in taking dictation and ponder over punctuation rules and longhand spelling in their drive for accurate transcription. Bookkeeping students struggle with debits and credits in their attempt to balance books and figure net profit.

The courses in the business department include Typing I, Shorthand I and II, Typing II and Office Practice, and Bookkeeping I. Electric typewriters, transcribing machines, adding machines, duplicating machines, filing practice sets, and the teletrainer are used by students in these courses as they prepare for office jobs.

For those who wish to further their education in the field of business, the department builds a sound foundation on which to progress. There is also opportunity for students to learn basic skills of typing and general business which will help them in any field they choose.

"How did it get all wrinkled?" ask Audrey Savage and Phil Cleary as they put a stencil on the mimeograph machine.

Mr. Weigel demonstrates brazing techniques to Jerry Armson, Bruce Walker, and Greg Georgeson in advanced welding class.

Ted Grey and Merlin Oberleitner use a hand plane to square up a board which will soon be a laminated breadboard.

Ag, Homemaking, Industrial Arts

Boys in Ag IV prepare and weigh samples of corn for use in a moisture test to determine the corn yield in bushels per acre.

Jane Blood and Micalca Lorenz use pancakes as a means of testing the heat conduction of various types of top-stove cookware.

Emphasize Practical Techniques

Tantalizing aromas from the home ec. kitchen, the flickering blue light of the welding torch, the buzzine sound of the saw are evidence of the work being done by students in vocational courses.

The Industrial Arts Department gives exploratory experiences into the industrial world. Several areas of industry are open to the student which will benefit him in his years as a working citizen.

Ag students have a supervised program whereby they apply classroom knowledge to farm projects. Today's Ag courses emphasize farm modernization and mechanization and are valuable to those who plan to continue in the field of agriculture.

Efficient home management is emphasized in homemaking classes which include work in cooking, sewing, nursing, child care, and budgeting. The homemaking department is well equipped with tools necessary to train girls in the art of running successful and happy homes.

Skills in using a sewing machine and basic sewing techniques are practiced by Brigadine Garvin as she works on her apron in freshman home economics.

Mrs. Couhig and Susan Reineking demonstrate spotting techniques as Lynn Fowle does a hand stand.

Barbara Evans makes good use of the new field hockey equipment as she meets an oncoming attack.

Physical Education Promotes Fitness

Tom Stewart and Mr. Staley stand by as safeguards while Alex DeCarli soars over the vaulting box, Tom Anderson, Dale Salzman, Ruggy Gaffney, and Jeff Reid.

To Mr. Staley's count of 1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . . 4, Larry Borud does deep knee bends during exercise warm-up period.

In preparation for a more advanced gymnastics program, Cheryl Burns and Philomena Gray develop skills in balance and coordination.

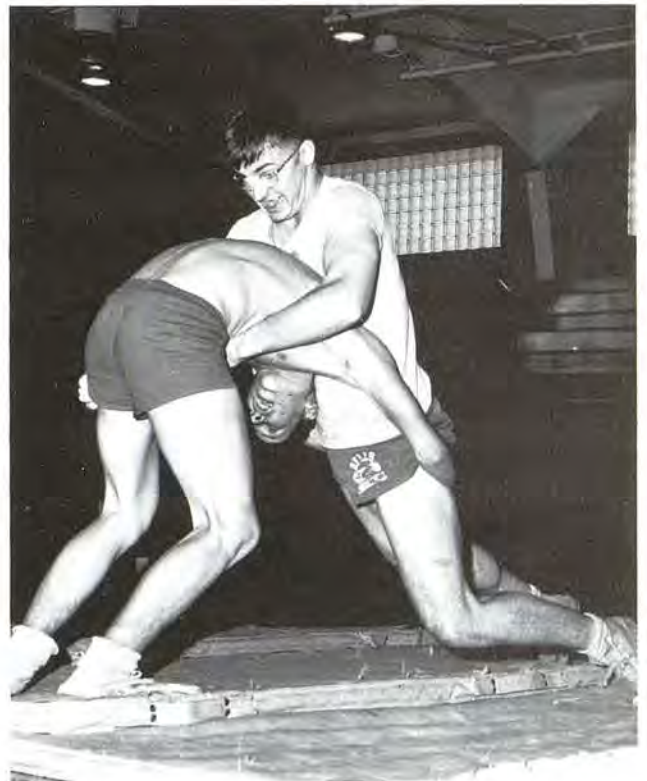

Coordination, Sportsmanship, Fun

Loud thumps and excited cries emerge from the gym as the girls' physical educational classes become involved in a tense game of basketball. Through participation in various team sports, students learn good sportsmanship, cooperative and competitive effort, individual achievement, tolerance and respect for others. Individual fitness is stressed through exercise programs as well as gymnastics and tumbling. Other activities include soccer, field hockey, basketball, volleyball, tag football, soft ball, badminton, wrestling, both folk and modern dancing, and health education.

Physical education is part of the total educational process and complements the academic curriculum to make learning as inclusive as possible and to keep our young people active physically as well as mentally.

Physical education activities are "carry-over" activities, and emphasis is placed on developing an interest and skill in sports that will enable the student to enjoy and take part in them as an adult.

Demonstrating the wrestling hold known as the take-down, Dennis Sweeney forces Tim Brandt to yield to the inevitable.

An important part of the Veteran's Day program on November 11 was the excellent performance of the Mixed Chorus which sang "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah!"

Music Department Develops

Intricate harmony and rhythms keep the madrigal singers on their toes as they rehearse diligently during the seventh hour.

The lights dim, and the crowd grows silent. Suddenly, the curtain opens as the concert band bursts into a fast march. The crowd settles back to enjoy another concert.

Although the band works hard to perfect its public appearances, the real goal of the music department is to give students an appreciation of good music through the actual experience of performing it.

The department gives all students who enjoy music a chance to further develop their interests by participating in groups such as the mixed chorus, madrigal singers, concert band, Blue and White Band, dance band, and ensembles. Individual skill is also important. The success of participants in local and state solo-ensemble contests shows a rising level of ability as well as a growing enthusiasm for music.

Skill in playing the clarinet may be lost, symphony themes may be forgotten, but a love for fine music will always endure.

Personnel of the concert band and their arrangement is decided by testing ability in chair tests and challenges. In an attempt to get into the concert band, Ed Fitzgerald plays a challenge for the attentive tape recorder.

Dave Gussel, Ben Borchert, John Willard, Bruce Wimann, and Fred Griesbach produce the sounds of swinging slides as the Blue and White Band practices during fourth hour.

Musical Skill and Appreciation

Under Mr. Bestul's expert direction, the concert band works to smooth out some difficult passages in Anderson's FIDDLE FADDLE in preparation for the fall Pops Concert.

Reflections of Our

Activities

Selling mums and booster buttons . . . packing food into Christmas baskets . . . writing newspaper copy . . . making cookies for a bake sale . . . stuffing chicken wire with Kleenex . . . For every moment that is given there is payment . . . in laughter . . . service . . . fellowship . . . accomplishment.

Reflections of our activities make us realize that they are an essential part of our education. They give us a means of broadening a consuming interest, of developing abilities, and talents, of working together, of finding a place to belong.

New Concert Band

The WDHS band upholds its tradition of excellence this year by creating new standards of musical ability. During marching season, the band consists of ninety-five members and performs for four football games as well as the Homecoming parade. Early in September, the marching band travels to Madison to participate in the University of Wisconsin's Band Day. After shedding their blue and white uniforms, the Concert Band and the Blue and White Band organize and rehearse separately under the direction of Robert Bestul and Robert Howard, respectively. After hours of concentrated rehearsal, the Concert Band performs for the fall "Pops" Concert, Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and competes for top-division rating at the Music Festival in Sauk Prairie. The Concert Band also plays an exchange concert at Lake Geneva and for the first time presents an open assembly to the student body at home. The band rounds out its busy season by playing at graduation exercises and at the Stand Rock Concert.

Entertainment at Special Events

Harmony! Not always--occasionally there was discord. But fifty-five voices practiced diligently under the direction of Mrs. Lynda Pedersen every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during the 7th hour to iron out all discords, and soon there was harmony. Madrigal singers claimed the 7th hour on Tuesdays and Thursdays as their rehearsal time with Mrs. Pedersen and accompanist, Derryn Loomis. A girls' triple trio was formed, and all three of these vocal groups competed for honors in the Spring District Music Festival.

The first appearance of the band and vocal groups was at the Veterans' Day program, followed by the "Pops" Concert. Immediately after that concert, the group started work on the Christmas concert, held on December 22. For this concert various religious selections were presented, opening with the candlelight processional "O! Come All Ye Faithful." For the final appearances the Chorus sang at Baccalaureate and Commencement, and the entire music department pooled its talents to present the Stand Rock Concert.

American Field Service Welcomes

The AFS Adult Committee with Mr. David Lake, high school adviser, planned the club activities to further the main purpose of the club, that of expanding world friendship and understanding. This year, WDHS welcomed Alex de Carli from Brazil as its foreign exchange student.

While his hosts, the Jack Van Wie's, provided American home life for Alex, his fellow students at WD introduced him to various school activities. His quick smile, charm, and friendliness soon made him a part of our lives. Through his association with members of the student body in sports, organizations, and dances, Alex became familiar with the life of the American teenager.

As a money-making project, David Knox sells Christmas cards to Patty Wilson and Cheryl Burns.

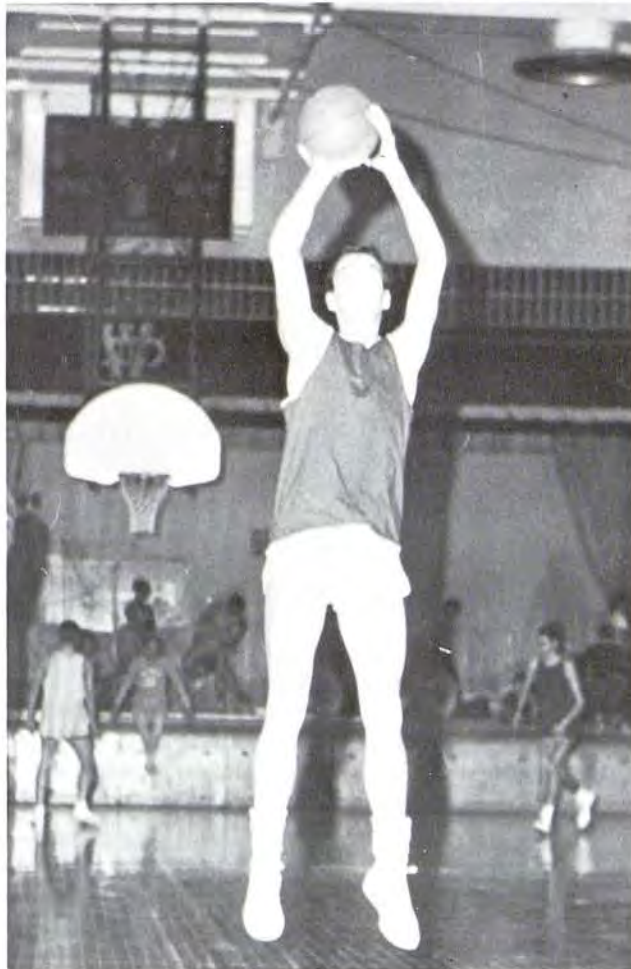

Alex and John Swansby measure the radioactivity content of a piece of material found near the Dells.

Preacher Jim Grey unites Sue Tollaksen and Alex in "holy matrimony" at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

Key Club "Serves With Integrity"

Community service highlights this year's Key Club activities. Throughout the year the boys in the blue and gold sweaters aid the Kiwanis Club with the annual bicycle safety check and the auction for the needy during Maxwell Street Days. They also provide valuable assistance for the Red Cross during the Bloodmobile Drive. Christmas is made brighter for needy families in the area by the baskets which are prepared and distributed by the Kiwanis and Key Clubs.

The boys are familiar sights at the athletic contests where they sell peanuts, distribute programs, and hold ropes at intermission time. The club also awards a $100 scholarship to an outstanding senior at the conclusion of the year.

In order to raise money for their annual scholarship award, Key Clubbers Richie Lucke and Les Pennington package peanuts to be sold at basketball games.

At the weekly supper meeting, Mike Horkan, Don Skarda, Greg Van Deuren, and Gene Stowers pass judgment on pot-luck casseroles and salads.

Mike Horkan and Cindy Gissal perform the tedious task of putting up the announcement case of coming events.

Sharon Murray lights the candle of Education as Debbie Reese, Pat Nichols, Cindy Gissal, and Nancy Schultz watch attentively.

NHS Recognizes Outstanding Students

"Education has for its object the formation of character" . . . Recognizing qualities of scholastic ability, leadership, and service, the National Honor Society honors those students who have shown outstanding character. New members are initiated in the fall in the traditional candlelighting ceremony, and each new member receives a NHS medal and certificate of membership. Maintaining an

"89" average is required of NHS members for remaining in the club.

Although an honorary organization, NHS members perform such services as keeping notices of current high school events in the announcement case and supplying "Chiefs in the Spotlight" with up-to-date pictures. In the spring the group takes an all-day field trip with Mr. Donald Skarda, adviser for the club.

Details, Delays Harass Arrow Staff

Early in September the 1966 ARROW was launched into orbit with picture taking, "dummy" planning, copywriting, indexing, and occasionally some argument. Working diligently under the leadership of co-editors Debbie Reese and Sharon Murray, the staff members did their best to capture the essence of an entire school year between the covers of the '66

Co-editors Debbie Reese and Sharon Murray crop pictures to fit layout for the organization section of the ARROW.

ARROW.

Plagued by that demon "Deadline," the staff worked closely with the school photographers to produce an accurate and lasting picture of WDHS. Thus, as this school year ends, its memory is captured forever in the pages of the 1966 ARROW-- which gives us "Reflections of Ourselves."

One of Pete Fox's jobs as assistant business manager is checking the lists of orders for padded covers.

Chieftain Expands to Full Page

Throughout the week Chieftain staff members hustle to cover the news and views of busy teachers and students in order to meet the unrelenting Wednesday deadline. This year for the first time, under the leadership of Editor-in-Chief Colleen Wrzesinski, the Chieftain expanded to a full page, and the staff was kept busy writing and editing interesting news for the paper.

But it wasn't all work for the staff. To start the year's activities, Mr. Walsh of the Dells Events entertained the staff to a breakfast before the trip to the BARABOO NEWS-REPUBLIC paper. A spring carwash brought in some much-needed money, and a Christmas party provided fun.

The Chieftain staff and their adviser, Mrs. Ellen Fisher, are proud of the record made: At any event of any size, there is a Chieftain member.

Student Council Is-Introduction to Self-Government

Active minds and active workers form a framework for Student Council. It resembles a democratic government in that each class elects its representative to the Council. Each class president automatically becomes a Council member. The faculty selection of students from each class rounds out the membership of the Council.

With Mr. Fitzpatrick as advisor, the Council starts the year's activities with the planning of all Homecoming activities. It also supervises class officer elections, the dance schedule, the decoration of the school Christmas tree, and the annual Family Fun Fair which aids in the financing of our foreign exchange student.

In the second meeting of the year the council discusses the question of B-team and wrestling cheerleaders.

President Bob Neubauer seeks Mr. Reineking's approval on the schedule of post-game dances.

Shirley Bender and Mary Lebica do their part in keeping the library running efficiently by checking in magazines and putting newspapers on sticks.

Arranging current newspapers is a part of librarian Kay Gavinski's daily routine.

Service Is Keynote for Librarians

Through the doors of the library, one steps into a world of adventure and learning. The student can "travel" to the court of King Arthur and his knights, or he can go voyaging to the Antarctic with a scientific expedition.

Finding one certain book or magazine could seem like trying to find buried treasure without a map. Therefore, librarians are available to aid a person in obtaining information quickly.

Under the direction of Miss Eichsteadt, student librarians check books out, collect overdue charges, file cards in the card catalog, check-out records, filmstrips, and tapes to the teachers who wish to use them, and help keep the library neat. Their first duty is to the students to give them the quickest and most reliable sources of information.

Una Lingua Communis Is Revived

After a year of inactivity, the Latin Club with the help of the adviser, Mr. Harold Park, is once more one of our high school clubs. An organizational meeting was held, officers were elected, the constitution was retyped, and the club was on its way to an active year. Known as Una Lingua Communis, the club cultivates a thorough knowledge of Roman culture, life, and customs. Meetings which enable members to gain a better understanding of the language are held every month.

Activities for the year include a Christmas party, a dance to earn money to send students to the state banquet held in Sheboygan, a Valentine skating party, and the Ides of March festival. The club also plans a spring banquet at which members don togas and "go Roman."

In a brief after school meeting, the Latin Club discusses details for the Ides of March festival.

Spanish Club Sings Villancicos

"Riu, Riu, Chiu," and "Alegría, Alegría" are beautiful carols. By singing such carols with Spanish and Latin American background, club members become acquainted with the culture of Spanish-speaking countries. On January 6, the Twelfth Day of Christmas, students travel from door to door singing traditional Spanish villancicos.

Spring time means preparation for the Pre-Lenten "Carnaval." Dancing, games, and prizes accent this festive occasion. Chicago holds interesting sights for students as they view Spanish films during the Pan American Film Festival. Visits to exotic restaurants like that in the Spanish society highlight the trip.

Debaters Argue Current Labor Problem

To appreciate the research and long hours a student must spend on debate, it is necessary to understand exactly what a debate entails. A debate itself consists of four people, two debating together as a negative team, and two debating as an affirmative team. The work of the debater is to dig up enough evidence to be able to refute any contentions made by the opposing team, and he must be able to think quickly and logically.

This year's debate teams were busy collecting and preparing a large assortment of information needed for the topic RESOLVED: That the Federal Government adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor management dispute in basic industries. The Whitewater-Delavan district debate competition climaxed the year's hard work and training.

Debaters Jane Anderson, John Dickerson, and Jamie Bork discover a fact which may be stressed in their coming meet.

Presenting the affirmative viewpoint, David Knox must also limit the length of his speech to ten minutes.

While Harriet and Margaret chat pleasantly, their inner selves, Hettie and Maggie, portray their real feelings.

A tense moment occurs when Harriet's inner self, Hettie, quarrels with her.

One-Act Play Goes to Sectional Contest

In November, two one-act plays were presented to the student body. The first, MONKEY'S PAW, is the story of a magical monkey's paw and one family's misfortune due to it. The other play, OVERTONES, shows the difference between outward appearances and what we really feel, by the use of outer and inner selves.

The second play, OVERTONES, was selected to compete in the district one-act play contest. From there it went on to the sectional contest, where it received a B rating.

Both casts, their student directors, and Mr. Gruman, the faculty director, gained from the valuable experience of putting on the plays.

Accent On Living Is Keynote for

The goal of the Future Farmers of America is to train young men in the technical and financial aspect of farming and to encourage leadership. To work for a home where love, truth, security, and faith are realities, not dreams, is a purpose of the Future Homemakers of America. Under the guidance of Mrs. Janet Winn and Mr. Frank Weigel, advisers, activities of both organizations were planned to carry out national and state objectives.

Highlighting the activities calendar were the parents' dinner in November, the roller skating party, and family banquet night in the spring. Both clubs participated in the conventions at Green Lake, which were attended by chapters throughout the entire state. In April Shawn Anderson, Charles Rhinehart, Gary Johnson, and Neal Stone, with Leonard Hammerly as alternate, traveled to Oklahoma to participate in the national soil judging contest.

The gym during GAA practice session is "No man's land." Organized to stimulate interest in girls' athletics, the Girls' Athletic Association places the emphasis of its activities on fun, fitness, teamwork, and sportsmanship for the fairer sex. The girls meet every Thursday from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Bee Couhig the club provides wholesome exercise for all its participants, plus a basic knowledge of the rules of various sports. Team sports include basketball, volleyball, softball. Individual activities are bowling, gymnastics, and badminton. Through these sports the girls improve in skill, good sportsmanship and move along the road towards becoming worthy, healthy members of society. Social events such as banquets and parties round out the GAA program. Through GAA activities, the girls earn points toward a progression of awards including chevrons, numerals, letters, sweaters, and GAA pins.

Coveted "WD" Symbolizes Athletic Prowess

The coveted WD letter stands for grueling practice, hard training, and excellence in sports. Being a letterman is a distinct honor and means that the individual must do a little more, and give out a little extra. It might mean the winning T.D., the record-breaking jump, or the decisive basket.

Each year the WD club has a number of important duties. The lettermen select the finalists in the cheerleading contest, show visiting teams to their locker room, establish a scholarship committee to award their annual $100 scholarship to an outstanding senior, and help out selling concessions at games.

This year's scholarship committee consists of John DeMerit, Dennis Sweeney, Mike Horkan, and Duane Gray.

Lettermen Buck Rogers, Danny Delmore, and John Delmore do not mind cleaning when they polish WD trophies.

Cheerleaders Heighten School Spirit

"So HEY--You Chiefs! Let's get 'em with all our might!" thunders through the gym on Friday afternoons as the cheerleaders whirl breathlessly through their well-planned pep assemblies.

At 6:30 practice sessions every Thursday night, the girls work under the direction of their advisor, Mrs. Bee Couhig, to perfect old routines and originate new cheers in preparation for games and assemblies.

Cheerleaders proudly display their new letter sweaters of red, white, and blue, the new school colors.

Reflections of Our

Athletics

Runners sprinting through the halls . . . wrestlers losing weight . . . cheerleaders with wind-blown hair at football games . . . cagers casting an anxious eye at the scoreboard . . . golfers practicing on the indoor putting green. On the track, the gridiron, the court there is achievement for each player . . . and honor for the name of WDHS.

In our sports we see reflections of individual efforts which make up a team--students bound together by loyalty to WDHS, physical stamina, good sportsmanship, and pride in our school.

3-5 Record

The team played good consistent football and provided many thrills throughout the 1965 season, outscoring their opponents 95 to 83.

The season opened with a 12-0 loss to Tomah. The next week Black River Falls was victorious by a 13-0 score, but the next week Nekoosa was thumped 26-6. Reedsburg proved to be a powerhouse as they won 19-0. The following Friday the Chiefs won at Richland Center 20-6 in a well-played game.

The Chiefs played one of their best games against archrival Baraboo in the Homecoming game, a thriller which ended with a 13-7 loss. Sauk-Prairie was an easy win with a score of 27-0. The final game with Portage ended in a one-point loss 14-13.

At the end of the season, Bob Neubauer was voted Most Valuable Player by his teammates, was an All-Conference selection at guard, and won third team All-State (AP) honors. He was also one of the three Wisconsin players named on the Prep All-American Football Team. Junior tackle Dennis Sweeney was voted captain for the '66 season and received All-Conference honors, offense and defense, and was also on the third All-State team (UPI). Honorable mention All-Conference honors went to Jeff Field and Pat Sweeney.

The team loses only two seniors through graduation, Greg Van Deuren and Ron Thomas, and the outlook for '66 is good.

At the end of the season the team elected Jon Lonetree the Most Valuable Runner and Jerry Kasdorf and Greg Van Deuren the Co-Captains.

Duane Gray Represents Wrestlers at State Meet

In November wrestling mats were unrolled and stage curtains closed, for the wrestlers were in session. Many long hours of practice, dieting, and vigorous exercise went into each week's schedule. Although the Dells grapplers had a poor season, the sport was received enthusiastically, and individual performances highlighted the season. Fine performances were turned in by Duane Gray, Captain John Delmore, and Bill Werner, who posted records of 13-4, 16-3, and 12-9 respectively.

The team named Bill Werner the Most Valuable Wrestler and elected Duane Gray captain for the coming season.

His best score of the season was a 78 against Elroy. The playing team, made up of Toby Tofson, Bill Wimmer, Ruggy Gaffney, Don Skarda, Larry Meyer and Randy O'Neil, won over 27 teams and lost to 34 teams in the overall competition for the season.

and Conference Records

The 1965 track squad, under the direction of Coach Jim DeMerit, topped off a successful season by finishing third in the Class B State Meet. The Chiefs won the sectional meet, finished third in the Conference race, and qualified ten boys for State competition.

The '65 season was one of broken records as the cindermen set eight school and conference records and tied another. The pace was led by Bob Fenske who set two school records: 15.3" for high hurdles and 19.9" for low hurdles. He also set two conference records. Fred Camacho set two school records, 21.5 1/2" in the broad jump and 54" for the 440, and one conference record, 41'4 1/2" in the broad jump. Freshman John DeMerit tied the pole vaulting record. At the end of the season the trackmen elected Fred Camacho Captain and Bob Fenske the Most Valuable Trackman.

Program

Every Monday night at 6:30 about 60 boys met in the gym for intramural basketball. This intramural program provides an opportunity for all boys not out for varsity basketball to play on organized teams. Each participant had to play in at least two quarters, and this enabled every boy an equal chance to play.

Coach Larry Hudack organized the group into two freshmen-sophomore teams and four junior-senior teams. The season schedule was worked out so that each team played 3 teams throughout the season. At the end of the season there was an All Star game between the first-place team and the All Star team, which is made up of 3 players from each of the other teams.

High scorers for the junior-senior group were Dave Weber, Dan Delmore, Tim Brandt, and Bill Burns. High scorers for the freshmen-sophomore teams were Lester Grant, Tim Leege, Terry Leege, and Dean Dickman.

Basketball Season

Coached by Robert Brimer, the Dells Cagers posted a somewhat unimpressive record of 6-12, but the scores were close and many of the games were lost in the last few minutes of play.

In the most unusual game of the season, the Dells featured a slow-down against Baraboo in the regional tournaments only to lose by 3 points. At the end of the season, Dennis Birkholz was elected Honorary Captain by his teammates, and Rich Lucke was named Most Valuable Player.

7:00 A.M. Brings Out Volleyball Enthusiasts

Coach Richard Schauf instilled enthusiasm and vigor in his volleyball team through early morning and afternoon daily practices and a rigorous training schedule. During the season the Chiefs played eight nonconference 3-game matches and a 10-game conference meet in April, which was also the regional tournament.

Lettermen Captain Joe Kieta, Mike Van Deuren, Dan Delmore with Glenn Palenik, Doug Scott, John Swansby and Norm Heitman formed a fine nucleus for the squad, and prospects were bright for a first place in the conference.

Doug Scott spikes the Chiefs to victory during the Baraboo volleyball game.

Norm Heitman saves the day as he recovers a spike during the Hillsboro game.

Reflections of Our School

Life

Sharing fun . . . dancing the frug at Friday night dances . . . fellowship with the "boys" during lunch hour . . . gabbing with the gang at after-school sessions at the drug store . . . hurried, last-minute practice for a pep skit . . . Monday morning discussions of weekend happenings . . . campaigning for class offices . . . these are integral parts of our school life.

School is more than classes, book reports, tests, and club meetings. It provides an outlet for our energies during our leisure time--it gives us fun, laughter, and companionship.

HOMECOMING COURT

Excitement and Confusion

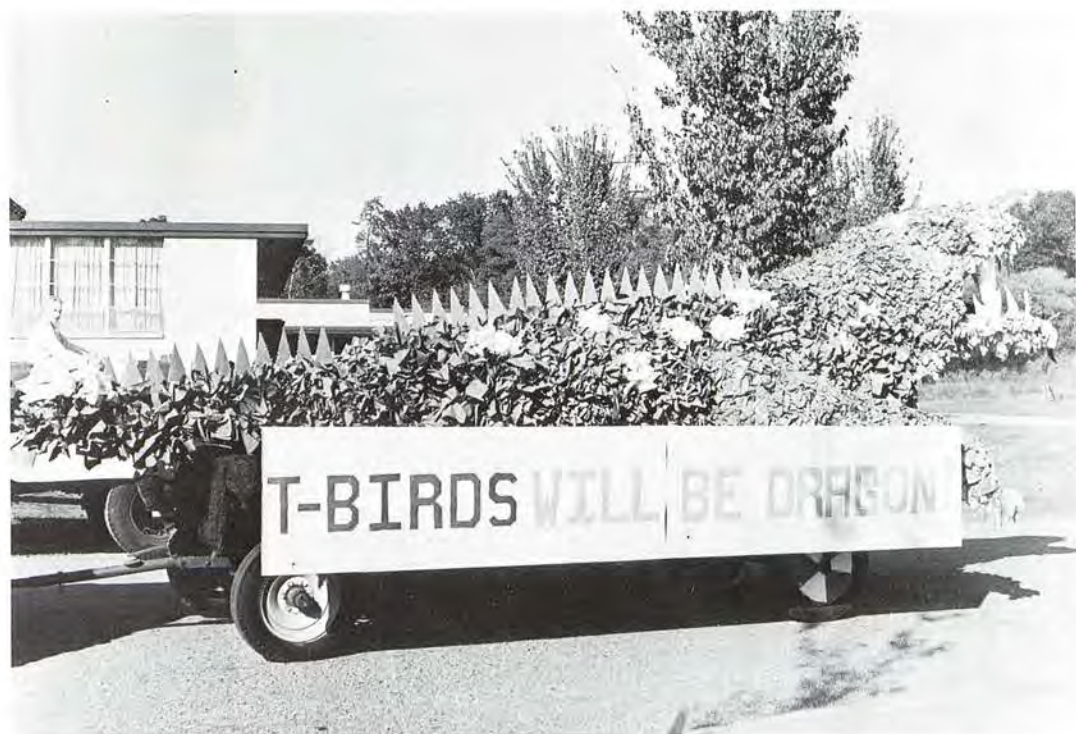

King Bob Neubauer and Queen Charlotte Walch lead the dancing after the coronation.

On Friday, October 15, attractively decorated floats emerged from vacant lots and garages. Painting windows, decorating floats, making mums, decorating the gym --all were signs of the energetic activity and careful planning which preceded Homecoming.

Homecoming festivities started with the traditional pep meeting at which the juniors won the competition cheering. The senior skit took first place in skit competition. After the pep meeting, the WD marching band led the parade down Broadway. Convertibles carrying the Queen, her Court, and the Varsity football squad were applauded and cheered by on-lookers. At night the stadium was filled with proud parents, enthusiastic alumni, and cheering students as the Dells Chiefs fought Baraboo Thunderbirds in a game which ended in a 13 to 7 defeat.

Autumn leaves, cornstalks, and pumpkins transformed the gym into an "Autumn Fantasy" where couples danced to the soft music of Larry Woodbury and his orchestra. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Homecoming Queen Charlotte Walch by King Bob Neubauer.

The seniors' bright green dragon captures first prize in the float competition.

Dominate Homecoming Week

In keeping with the G.A.A. tradition of decorating store windows for Homecoming, Ginger Richter adds the final touches to a colorful slogan.

Linda Sheil and Karen Briggs work busily to finish stuffing the egg on the sophomore float.

PROM COURT: Craig Casey, Richy Lucke, Jerry Taylor, Sam Dickerson, Jerry Spaude, King; Billy Delmore, Crownbearer; Shirley Sobjinski, Queen; Rundy Anderson, Crownbearer; Mary Gissal, Sue Anderson, Connie Kaminski, Karen Olson.

"Bali Hai" Sets Southern

Mary Gissal and Sam Dickerson lead the couples through the traditional Grand March.

Weary juniors, under the direction of Prom Chairman John Delmore, worked far into the night stuffing the Tiki with newspaper, stapling and measuring strips of crepe paper, painting palm leaves, sewing sheets, and spray painting trees. After long hours of work, the gym was transformed into the dream island of the South Seas known as "Bali Hai."

At 9:00 couples drifted in to dance to the music of Woody O'Dell's orchestra under a blue tropical sky. A huge Tiki god with fiery eyes and gaping mouth dominated the scene, and a gray mountain looked in the distance. At eleven o'clock couples stopped dancing to join in the grand march which was led by Prom Queen Shirley Sobjinski and Prom King Jerry Spaude. At midnight couples left for dinner and the Post-Prom party at the Dell View Hotel, and then home to dream about the wonderful evening.

Under the stern gaze of the watchful Tiki, dancers drift across the crowded floor.

Pacific Theme for Junior Prom

The appearance of Queen Shirley and King Jerry climaxes the grand march, as they march to the strains of "Bali Hai."

Rise and Shine— It's Monday Again!

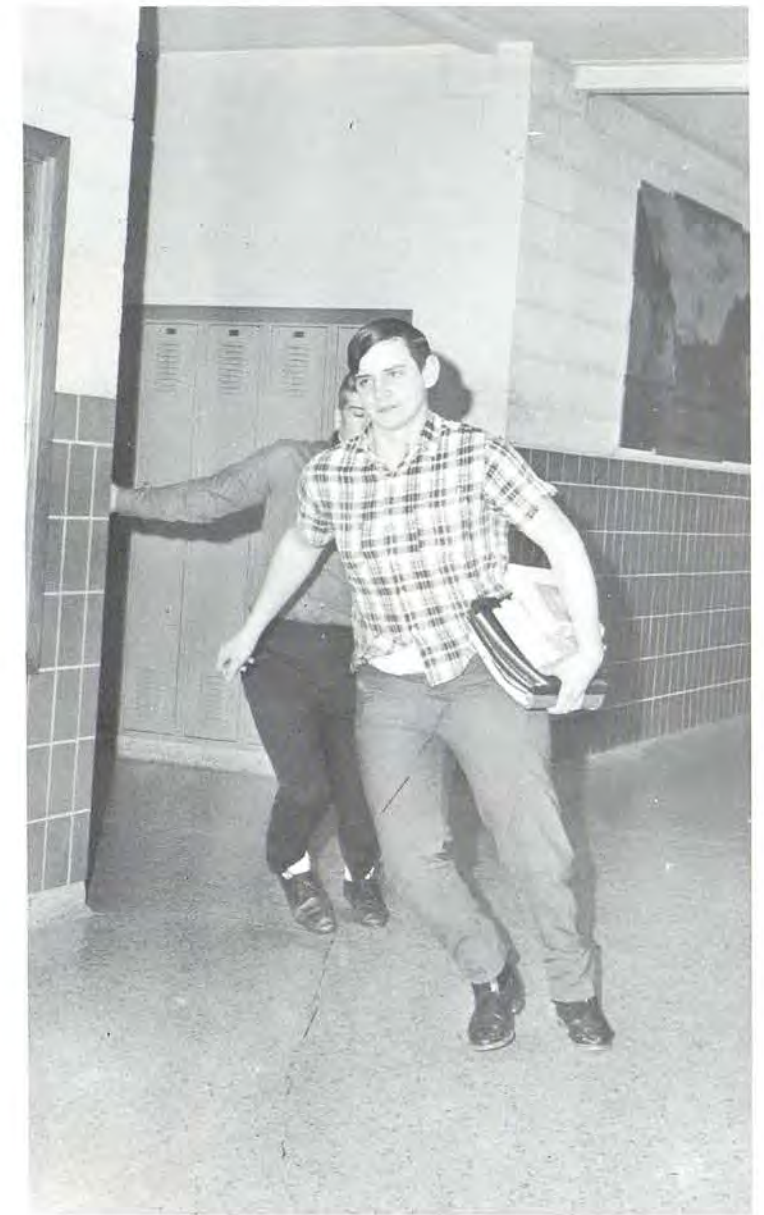

Mondays were nerve-shattering . . . Mondays were a must . . . Mondays were permeated by an unforgettable mood. Mondays were blue days. But there were monotony breakers . . . going to the Patterson assembly . . . listening to forensic speeches . . . stopping in the hall to tune in on the weekend news.

John Delmore and Tom Peters settle back to serve one of their many hours of detention.

A bright spot on Monday's schedule, Mr. Patterson uses his acrobatic skills to entertain the student body.

On Monday mornings the bell seems to ring earlier than usual for Dan Scott and Mike Schweda.

A new three-shift lunch period accommodates hungry students.

Rita Ennis, Ann Johnson and Sally Olson study ring designs before making a final decision.

Pedestrians beware when wrestlers are losing weight! Mike Hartman runs his twenty laps in preparation for the Friday night match.

Juniors show mixed emotions as they register for another school year, under the supervision of Mr. Lake and Mr. Morehead.

Tuesdays Were "Get-In-the-Swing-of-It Days"

Tuesday had trials . . . studying for tests . . . proofreading copy for the Wednesday deadline . . . arranging the underclassmen picture schedule. Tuesday started first semester exams. But Tuesday had some compensations . . . there was our favorite TV program.

Guess who? Sue Walker, Karen Briggs and Kim Helland are wearing their hair in the latest style.

Wednesdays Were "Hump Days"

Wednesday were good days with Monday and Tuesday as history, and the weekend almost in sight. Wednesday was looking forward to Thanksgiving holiday. Wednesday was report card day. Now and then there were opportunities to get out of classes . . . to see the preview of the one-act plays, or a guidance department movie.

On clean-up day Mackey Adams discovers he has more in his locker than he thought he did.

Thursday's Antics Were Prelude to Weekend

Thursday was bright with promise . . . the weekend was just around the corner . Pressures were letting up, and everything looked good. Thursdays were for dress rehearsals, for painting signs for Friday's pep meeting, for reading the weekly edition of the Chieftain. Thursday was the day before Christmas vacation. Thursday was anticipation of the long-awaited weekend.

Thursday the local Rotary Club hosts three senior boys, Ruggy Gaffney, Charles Gaffney, and Pete Fox, during their meeting and luncheon at the Steak 'n Stein.

Left: Everyone looks forward to reading the Thursday edition of the Chieftain and Jim Grey, Craig Dittrich, Bob Storandt, and Bob Heinzelman are no exception.

Kathy Kalamarz begins the transformation of Pat Nichols into the sophisticated Margaret in the play OVER-TONES.

As the bell rings, students rush from behind the dotted red line to begin their afternoon classes.

GAA enjoys the profits and students enjoy the results of the noon-hour candy sale.

Left: Over 145 alarm clocks were collected when students decided to start Christmas vacation at 2:30 instead of at 2:45. Pete Fox, Paul Bremer, John Swansby, and Cathy Bannen make a last inspection before putting their alarm clocks in lockers.

The last week of school is dedicated to collecting as many signatures as possible. Chris Lebica and Jean Miller exchange annuals during a free moment.

In a last minute attempt to get a bus for the Baraboo game, Ann Johnson signs up Mary Walker.

The Sadie Hawkins dance is by far the most popular dance of the year as courageous girls are given the chance to ask that special boy for a date.

Senior cheerleaders, Marlene Roney and Connie Kaminski, serve cake to senior football players at the pep meeting before their last home game.

Tim Leege, David Van Wie, Cheryl Edgington, and Sharon Johnson display mixed emotions as they compare report cards.

Thank Goodness Now, It's Friday

Fridays meant fun, fun, fun! Fridays were games, dances, dates. Fridays were the contagious excitement of pep assemblies, the Homecoming Parade, finishing up Prom decorations, asking your favorite boy to the Sadie Hawkins dance. Fridays were fun and carefree.

Arrow Casts Reflections of 1966

As we look back on 1966 we see reflections of ourselves--our triumphs and disappointments, our accomplishments and failures, our laughter and tears. We recall the tense excitement in the final minutes of the game, the thrill of playing a fast march or singing a hymn, the long hours of homework, and the crowded dance floors.

Some images are hazy now. Others come sharply into focus. However, the many experiences and impressions of our high school life will be indelibly reflected on the mirrors of our memories.
