The Iran Crisis . . .

Brought ex-hostage Kevin Hermening to WDHS in the spring of '81. In an all school assembly, Kevin described his months of captivity. The audience listened intensely as he explained mixed emotions of turmoil and hope, ending in the freedom of the 52 hostages.

Wisconsin Dells, Let's Do It Right . . .

WNNO Radio Station held a radiothon on August 29, 1981, to raise $15,000 for the building of a new athletic complex at WDHS. By noon the next day, the sum pledged was beyond even the highest expectations. A total of $36,787.00 was raised by more than 700 pledges. The project gave the residents of the Dells the opportunity to show one and all the tremendous source of pride present in this community.

Our Very Own . . .

After many weeks of tense waiting, and hopeful praying, the new Wisconsin Dells Athletic Complex was finished on time for the first home football game. Contractors from around the state rushed to complete the new bleachers, lights, and scoreboard. Meanwhile the WDHS janitors supplied the necessary services needed to keep the greens in playing condition. Thousands of dollars contributed by local residents, and many weeks of hard labor provided WDHS with one of the best sports complexes in the state.

A Wisconsin First . . .

'Um-pa-pa-um-pa.' What is that sound? It's a marching tuba band! The first all tuba band to march in Wisconsin, made its debut in the annual Wo-Zha-Wa Parade. The organizer of the band, Mr. Robert Howard, worked throughout the year organizing, gathering music, and interested players to make his idea a reality. After the maiden march through the streets of Wisconsin Dells, the band gave a concert featuring many different numbers. Mr. Howard is hopeful that the first marching tuba band will become a permanent attraction.

A Way Of Life . . .

The world revolves around the sun; the Dells revolves around tourism. Everywhere you look there is something beautiful, fun, and fantastic. Adults and students alike, depend on the 1.8 million vacationers for an annual income. There is no doubt about it, the Dells is a tourist town. It is our economy, our lifestyle, a tradition, and a blessing in disguise. WELCOME TO WISCONSIN DELLS.

Hoe Down . . .

Students had a foot stomping, hand clapping, knee slapping good time as they hoe downed to the sound of "Drive In" at Sadie Hawkins '81. Corn stalks and hay bales helped to set the mood for the participants dressed in cowboy hats, bibs, freckles, and boots. The girls each chose their own "Lil' Abner" to escort them for the night. If they were lucky he might even consent to get married for the evening.

New Look For Fall . . .

Spectators viewing the WDHS marching band in action this year noticed that the flag and rifle squads had new matching uniforms. The addition of the rifle squad meant the purchase of new uniforms. Band director, Robert Spargo, felt the rifle squad's uniforms should match those of the flag squad. To achieve a new style, outfits were ordered fashioned after those of professional drum and bugle corps.

"Dells Country"

WNNO converted their AM station from rock music to country music on September 9, 1981. Transmitting the new country and old rock from the same location adds a great deal of convenience. "Coverage of the two types of music attracts a wider range of listeners," commented Bruce Voss. "In turn this gives the commercials more public exposure." Western fans are tuning into 900 AM to enjoy the new "Dells Country."

Working Year Round . . .

Mr. Bob Kruse, a native of Chicago, Illinois, can always be found snapping pictures at major WDHS activities and events of surrounding schools. He is an expert photographer who devotes his time and skills to high school students. The Dells would be out of focus without Mr. Kruse.

New Faces . . .

The appearance of seven new faces enlightened the atmosphere of WDHS during the 1981-82 school year. The WDHS staff was strengthened by Mr. Tom Collins, drivers education, Mrs. Mae Kleifgen, mathematics, Mrs. Laura Devine, special education, John Dixon, student phy. ed. teacher and coach, Mrs. Cindy Collins, JV Volleyball Coach, Mrs. Anita Gray, secretary, and Mrs. Beverly Gamble, a night shift janitor. Their personal contributions added several unique aspects to everyone's school year.

Welcome Visitors!

WDHS is proud to present the AFS students of '81-'82. Attracted to the Dells were foreign exchange student, Barbara Ziani of Italy, and domestic exchange student, Connie Kloch of New York. Broadening their cultural awareness beyond the Dells, Scott Jagow spent the summer as a visiting foreign AFS student in Mexico, while Dells domestic exchange student, Judy Hess, made a guest appearance in the state of Oregon during the first semester of her senior year.

End of Season . . .

Two weeks after Labor Day each year, for the past fifteen years, the Dells holds its annual fall festival, Wo-Zha-Wa. Wo-Zha-Wa is an Indian word meaning fun time. Bargain hunters, fun seeking residents, and tourists alike, flock to the streets to take part in the weekend events. The highlight of the festivities was a 110 unit parade late Sunday afternoon.

Safe and Sound . . .

Mrs. Kutzke has helped children arrive safely at school for the past seven years. As a crossing guard on Broadway, she has enjoyed watching the timid kindergarten child grow braver and wiser in crossing the street and watching for cars. Safety is her primary job goal, but she also enjoys the friendly smiles and the daily "Thank You's" indicating a job well done.

A Choice . . .

Mouth watering deserts, fresh fruit, and a variety of delicious sandwiches — A fancy restaurant; No, these are a few of the many scrumptious items on the WDHS a la carte line. Shortly after the start of school in the fall, the cafeteria instituted an a la carte line in addition to hot lunch. The new program contained food such as sandwiches, yogurt, malts, chips, salads, juice, and deserts.

Special Tribute . . .

The arrival of spring brought Native Americans to the Dells for the annual Indian Awareness Week. Among the many activities that highlighted the week were contests, guest speakers, including Miss Indian America, Melanie Tallmadge, and many art exhibits which were displayed at the high school. Dells competitors that placed in the various contests were George Greendeer, receiving a first in the art show, and Byran Powless placing second in the mile run.

Seniors

The Class of 1982 holds memories from the past four years at WDHS that will remain with us all of our lives. As the year came to a close, seniors reflected on all the good times we have had. Our memories included accomplishments as well as defeats.

The years rushed by as we went from reading Huckleberry Finn in English 9, to choosing a vocation for a career paper in Social Problems. When we first entered the gymnasium, our faces turned grim at the thought of running nine strenuous minutes. Those frowns were replaced by smiles as we marched down the aisles of that very same gym to receive our diplomas.

Inflation also hit our class in 1981. The Junior Class trip was cancelled because the price had jumped enormously from previous years, and students were unable to meet the rising costs. Despite the downfalls, WDHS supplied us with the laughter, the fun, the giggles, and the grins that come from finally being a member of the high school crowd. Who could forget the excitement of entering the large school as terrified freshmen? The Class of 1982 thanks WDHS for giving us the opportunity, knowledge, and achievements needed to move forward to a new beginning.

Bob Buss — 8th
Grade Class President

Incomparable Memories

The Class of '82 has conquered many challenges since climbing the numerous flights of stairs from chorus to Mrs. Campbell's math class in four minutes. The Senior Class will never forget their memories of eighth grade. Their feeling of superiority was short-lived, however, as they were to be degraded as "little freshmen" the next year. Yet, after each summer vacation, they found themselves rising through the ranks, finally reaching the number one status of "Senior."

Milk breaks and outdoor recesses have become a thing of the past. The seniors remember when the dance to dance was the "hustle", that chewing gum in Afro class would result in the possession of a sticky necklace, and the thrill of winning a 2nd place rating at the '78 Music Festival with the song, "Dance with Me."

Although these events are now a part of the past, the future may once again bring roller skating parties, a basketball team that qualifies for State competition, or a boys' State track championship title for the children of these seniors. However, the memories of classes to come will never compare to the Class of '82.

'82 Annual Staff Has a "Good Old Time!"

The 1982 Arrow Staff consisted of a small but hard-working group. The thirteen talented people who assembled the book put forth unending effort to produce a lasting and memorable yearbook. They captured glorious memories in words as well as pictures so that the special highlights of '82 would not be forgotten.

The class period didn't officially start until Terry Hall yelled, "Beat it we're all here," to the patient attendance lady waiting outside the door. From that point on there was a mad rush for proper croppers, typesheets, tri-copies, typewriters, and liquid paper. Staffers worked diligently in class and out of class. This close-knit group spent added hours, including work nights, parties, paperback and popcorn sales, in order to produce a quality book.

Although small, the staff proved through dedication and determination that the number was not a handicap in any way. Staff members can now look back with pride and realize that rewriting stories, spending hours selecting pictures that were "just right", and all the other little frustrations were not in vain. We hope that this Arrow is one of the main attractions of the year.

Underclassmen

WISCONSIN DELLS HIGH SCHOOL
WISCONSIN DELLS, WI 53965

Filled with energy, competitiveness, and ambition, the WDHS underclassmen were quite an extraordinary group. They seriously undertook the responsibility of generating school spirit. Leading the underclassmen was the Class of 1983. The juniors embarked on numerous new experiences. Receiving class rings early in the year confirmed the reality that they were only one step short of their goal of school supremacy. The annual magazine sale proved to be a major fund raiser contributing to a successful Junior Prom. Additional junior year highlights included running the concession stand and playing powder-puff football. The juniors had the thrill of overpowering the sophomores and freshmen, but they knew their place was still behind the mighty seniors.

One step under the juniors were the sophomores, who snatched a surprising victory in Spirit Week competition. After last year's first-hand glimpse of high school, the sophomores naturally fell into the daily routine. The sponsoring of bake sales and dances was the top money provider for the Sadie Hawkins dance. Sophomores finally had the pleasure of receiving their long awaited driver's license. Academically, the Class of 1984 encountered their first major deadline pressures of preparing their first term paper. With this experience gained, the sophomores will be well equipped to write their career paper as seniors.

"Freshmen, Freshmen don't be shy..." a familiar phrase, was one of great importance. Entering high school was a daring step for all. Overcoming fear and getting acquainted with people were difficult, but they mastered the tasks successfully. A new way of life was acquired throughout the course of the year; freshmen were forever cluttering the halls and asking questions. The Class of 1985 looks ahead for a brighter future, but also look back on the memories and accomplishments of that first step.

This year the young scholars proved to be groups of students bound together by lasting friendships. Each class developed its own individuality, yet they united for events, including the singing of the "Alma Mater" and group cheering at the athletic outings. The underclassmen continued to mature throughout the year and grew distinctively as they were influenced by the atmosphere of WDHS.

Staff & Academics

WISCONSIN DELLS HIGH SCHOOL
WISCONSIN DELLS, WI 53965

Education is an important ingredient in one's life. Academics is the key to providing knowledge to all students, varying from basic facts to complex details. Studious individuals have long discovered that a combination of determination, initiative, and positive attitudes help form a successful student. Class discussions, lectures, and demonstrations are educational means to a knowledgeable end.

The day grades were distributed, students anticipated the outcome of their productivity. Students earning an eighty-five or above in each class, and maintaining an overall average of ninety, received special recognition by being placed on the Honor Roll. Honor students were also acknowledged at a special assembly held for the entire student body. At this gathering, gold, silver, or bronze pins were handed out to the deserving students.

Students not achieving a place on the Honor Roll, however, were not overlooked. They obtained their own personal satisfaction in knowing that they did their best. A well-rounded education is a needed factor for one's future. WDHS provides its students with this lifetime opportunity.

A Day At WDHS

Whether an upperclassman or a frosh, on the first day of school, students return eagerly to take a leisurely sightseeing tour through the hall of WDHS. At a glance, it is apparent that the janitors have worked diligently throughout the summer to reshape the building for another educationally rewarding year.

Before classes begin, students enter the gymnasium to receive brochures - consisting of course listings, locker combinations, rules and regulations, and the teachers' schedules. As the two-minute warning bell rings, students dash to their first period destination.

After a morning full of notes and lectures, students, as well as teachers, tend to divert their thoughts to the delicacies of the day's lunch menu. After working all morning to prepare the nutritious meal, the faithful cooks proudly present it to the students and faculty.

Finishing off the day of activities are the afternoon classes, consisting of more notes, lectures, discussions, and - of course, tests! When the 3:17 bell sounds, students rush to their lockers, then dash to find friends for last minute conversations before heading outside to board the bus. Chauffeuring students safely home are the fearless and very patient bus drivers, who along with the cooks and custodians help to mold WDHS into a "home away from home".

1/Evelyn Larkin never fails to give the school bright clean laundry and a happy smile. 2/Before their daily morning run, a few of the loyal bus drivers take time out for a quick pose. 3/Working over hot stoves all day to prepare the noon meal are cooks Beverly Rothe, Marlene Cone, and Shirley Stone. 4/Custodians Vern Nelson, Bob Lumby, Beverly Gamble, and Guyle Gamble put all their energy toward keeping the school attractive.

Administration Adds to Class

Leadership and guidance were the significant qualities of the '81-'82 administration, which proved to be a unique group. The spotlight focused on Mr. Larson who won a coveted award of "Athletic Director of the Year" from district III. The honor was bestowed upon seven directors of the state and was announced in the spring of '81.

New faces brought different dimensions to this year's administration. Anita Grey was a new but familiar addition to the secretarial staff. Mrs. Grey "graduated" from junior high to a high school secretary. The School Board also obtained new members. William Nehring and Fred Schubring became a part of the policy providers of the school district.

Basic skills testing for the sophomores and juniors was also introduced to the school this year. The positive and highly needed test was designed to measure the students progression in the mathematics and language arts area. The test was constructed to pinpoint areas where students may be weak and could then be provided with remedial assistance if necessary.

The administration seems to be overlooked frequently, but the time they spend is greatly valued and needed. These people prove to be an all-important critical link between the community and the school.

Secretaries: Mrs. Augusta Green, Mrs. Anita Grey,
Mrs. Marlene Galitz — attendance.

Not Pictured: Mr. Peter Tollaksen — president.

Mathematical Magic

Young math scholars were given the chance to test their skills with other competitive students in the state. The Wisconsin Mathematics league administers one test per month, for six consecutive months, awarding students for both individual and team scores.

The Math Department was fortunate to have an extra member added to the staff. A surplus of arithmetic teachers managed to keep class sizes smaller. This enabled them to focus on the students individual needs.

With society leaning more towards a computerized world, students might be required to enroll in two or three extra credits in math courses. The Math Department at WDHS hopes to achieve a specific goal. Mr. Richard Geyman, Math Department head, commented, "We try to give students a skill that they can utilize in the field of their choice."

Math: Mr. Richard Schauf — Algebra II; Mr. Richard Geyman — Basic Geometry, Geometry; Mrs. Mae Kleifgan — Algebra II & 101A; Mr. Tim Trapp — Algebra I, Math IV, General Math.

1/Mrs. Kleifgan explains a problem to Michelle Sommerfeldt. 2/Mr. Schauf repeats the process of factoring trinomials. 3/Mr. Geyman passes out compasses.

Big Business

Welcome to the real world of business . . . What? You say you're not ready? Fortunately studies in this field are available in many different areas at WDHS for personal development.

Courses such as typing, shorthand, record-keeping, bookkeeping and general business are on the program. Business instructors guide students in the building of proper technique and work toward achieving goals. Ambitious students wishing to continue their education in this field will have the advantage of knowing the basics. Selecting the proper courses depends on the student's future plans.

After completing the choice of recommended classes, students will be one jump ahead of fellow competitors. Knowing the standards in business keeps students ahead in this popular, expanding field. Remember it's a tough world out there!

Business: Mrs. Orpha Reifsteck — Personal Typing, Recordkeeping, Bookkeeping, General Business; Mr. John Hoenecke — Personal Typing, Typing I & II, Shorthand I & II.

1/Mrs. Reifsteck assists Kelly Powell in centering a column. 2/Mark Mackesy finally finds his type. 3/Mr. Hoenecke observes the class during timing drills.

Matter-of-Fact

Will the Dells eventually be run by robots and computers? WDHS science students prepared for this possible encounter by studying the forces that pull on an object, its composition, and energy source.

The Freshmen classes did everything from making lipstick to erupting volcanoes. These projects were part of the General Science and Physical Science II curriculum, which introduced a basic knowledge of science. Electronics students spent hours wiring and rewiring breakers, switches, and batteries to find the perfect connection. Disecting various creatures and viewing organisms under the close lense of a microscope occupied Biology students.

Upperclassmen had the option of experimenting with three science courses. Chemistry students learned new principles with the assistance of substitute teacher, Mr. Harlan Feldt. The periodic chart became as familiar as the teacher, and was especially useful in balancing equations. Students enrolled in Physics experimented with the laws of matter, which involved vector addition, converting pounds to newtons, and solving torque problems. The computer science department added one new computer this year, making three terminals available for use in Computer Science. The studies consisted of daily classroom discussion plus developing programs. One program, student oriented, made printed computer class lists available for the first time.

These science courses gave students an understanding of the present-day life and introduced the possibilities of the futuristic world. Whether years ahead will bring robot villages or a community on the moon, Dells students have basic background knowledge pertaining to the science of the future.

History Repeats Itself

Dells students knew that the unique rock formations of the Wisconsin River were a result of the area being avoided by the glacier. They also recalled that Wisconsin Dells was once Kilbourn. Since the WDHS student body knew the history of their city, they reached beyond the city limits to find points of historical interest.

The history lesson began with freshmen studying World History or Humanities. These courses took an in depth look at ancient civilizations. U.S. History lead the Junior Class from the Boston Tea Party through World War II. Film strips helped the students visualize the changes America encountered. Seniors focused on the economic, political, and social problems governments face. Social Problems also required seniors to look to the future by preparing a career paper to assist them in choosing a vocation.

Learning about the heritage of the Badger State was the objective in Wisconsin History. Students enrolled in this class studied everything from the state flower to the duties of the Governor. Current Affairs students viewed present events that made the headlines. Time magazines and video tapes acted as colorful texts for this division of Social Studies.

The Social Studies courses offered at WDHS helped familiarize students with national and state events of the past and present, as well as local happenings. With these topics, Dells students gathered a complete history knowledge.

Social Studies: Mr. Wayne Stapleford — World History, U.S. History; Mr. Harold Park — Humanities; Mr. David Lake — U.S. History; Mr. Gordon Lewison — Social Problems; Mr. Larry Black — Wisconsin History, Current Affairs.

1/Bob Leege focuses in on an interesting organism. 2/ Mr. Stapleford ponders his next point. 3/Mr. Black reviews his notes before addressing the class. 4/"You got that?" 5/Mr. Lake assists Valerie Schmitz with a clue for password. 6/Mark Udulutch discovers the new TRS 80 computer. 7/"Mr. Torgerson, will you OK mine NOW!"

All Aboard the Language Express!

Hello, welcome to WDHS. I will be your guide for your next four years and point out to you the English credits needed for graduation.

Our first stop deals with freshmen and sophomores. At this time you are required to take two full years of English.

The next point of interest pertains to juniors and seniors. Here you are allowed to pick out your remaining I, O, W English credits. They consist of Journalism, Drama, Creative Writing, Advanced Composition, Great Books, Short Stories, Accelerated Reading, Language Skills, and Honors English.

The rest of the tour applies to those interested in a foreign language. The foreign language offered at WDHS is Spanish. The Spanish class provides everyone with a basic understanding of the language. The program can last from one to four years, depending on your needs.

We are now nearing the end of our tour, and I hope you have enjoyed all your classes. For any questions or in depth details, consult the Silver Bible which was handed out at the beginning of this tour.

English/Spanish: Mr. Harold Park — English 9 & 10; Mrs. Kay Prosser — English 10, Creative Writing; Mrs. Dianne Effinger — English 9; Mr. Larry Black — Journalism; Mr. Mark Susdorf — Basic Communications, Drama, Speech, Writing Lab; Mr. Dale Maher — Short Stories, Adv. Comp., Great Books, Honors English; Mrs. Alice Montemurro — Spanish I, II, III; Mrs. Roxanne Biffert — Publications, Language Skills, English 10; Ms. Nancy Walsh — English 9 & 10, Acc. Reading.

Handy Homemakers

All-you-can-eat breakfasts and luncheons were prepared by students eager to please their teachers at WDHS. Everyone worked eagerly at this project in order to display their excellent cooking abilities. The courses Home Economics, Foods I and II, offer knowledge and basic fundamentals of cooking. Through these classes students become aware of the preparation time and energy required to produce a well-balanced meal.

Clothing I and II students worked diligently, trying to meet class requirements and personal goals throughout the year. "Make it with wool" was one of the unifying ideas that involved productive clothing students. It was a contest held nation-wide allowing all interested participants to enter.

Two other classes offered at WDHS are Child Care and Family Living. Each of these classes prepare students for the real situations they will come in touch with in their houses of tomorrow.

Home Ec: Mrs. Mary Golz — Home Ec. Clothing, Child Care, Family Living; Mrs. Jean Brew — Home Ec. Foods, House-Home Management.

1/Willing assistance is given by Mr. Susdorf. 2/Run that by me one more time. 3/Sue Weidling concentrates on sewing a straight hem. 4/Mrs. Brew supervises Leeann Turner's next move. 5/Mrs. Golz aides Dawn Fischer in gathering. 6/Kathy Markley instructs James Masters on the next step in bread making.

Preparing for the Future

As students traveled to the east side of the school, they discovered the world of Agriculture and Industrial Arts. Agriculture classes furnished students with an opportunity to learn conservation, farm management, and crop production. In addition to classroom studies, the students visited neighboring farms, a fertilizer plant, the annual Dairy Expo, and the Co-op. These experiences better educated them concerning products and procedures for modern farming.

Venturing further down the hall, sounds of buzzing, banging, hammering, and clanging emitted from the Industrial Arts room as students learned how to use hand and powered tools. Students selected and designed their individual projects ranging from toys to gun racks. Progress in this class depended on creativity and a willingness to work.

The last leg of the journey leads to Auto Mechanics. This program provided an understanding of the construction and operation of the automobile. Included in Auto Mechanics, was the course Car Care, which was especially designed to unlock the mysteries of the automobile for females.

All of these programs supply skills and a basic knowledge and understanding of mechanical and agricultural needs. When a student leaves the industrial section of WDHS, he has firsthand experience to assist him in future endeavors.

Ag/Industrial Arts: Mr. Dean Piel — Ag, Welding, Horticulture; Mr. Jack Capelle — Auto Mechanics; Mr. Charles Simonitsch — Graphic Arts, Drafting, Woods I, II, III.

1/Todd Geisser cannot avoid the draft. 2/Mr. Piel explains why the med fly will never make it to Wisconsin. 3/Karl Schultz gets a grip on things. 4/Craig, Doug, and Tom work to make the world a quieter place. 5/Jeff Jones gets a charge out of Auto Mechanics. 6/Welding one big happy family. 7/Hans Myklebust shows off his work. 8/Drafting takes deep concentration.

Let's Get Physical

"Chin up, don't give in, push yourselves!" These are familiar phrases of encouragement spoken to students from physical education instructors. Freshmen and sophomores attended classes twice a week during the academic year. Junior and seniors chose from a large variety of units that ran for three consecutive weeks.

Assisting Mr. Fred Kuhl and Mrs. Ellen Fisk, student teacher Mr. John Dixon supervised many classes throughout the year. WDHS was not an unfamiliar place to Mr. Dixon since it is his Alma Mater. Besides being a change of pace, Physical Education classes helped form healthy student bodies.

Gym classes are only one aspect of staying healthy, another is by completing a semester of health class, which is required of every sophomore. Students studied topics ranging from first aid to personal hygiene, plus obtained knowledge from guest speakers on alcoholism and narcotics and their effects.

1/Michelle Hess teaches Anna Krause a lesson in self-defense. 2/Mr. Johnson and Jackie Geisser wrap up the hour with a first aid demonstration. 3/Jody Zufall races for a touchdown in girls' flag football.

Health-Physical Education — Mr. Bob Johnson — Health; Mrs. Ellen Fisk — Physical Education; Mr. Fred Kuhl — Physical Education; Mr. John Dixon — Student Phy. Ed. Teacher.

Fine Arts Go Public

The Fine Arts Department at WDHS cultivates a new world of ideas and learning abilities for students involved in the art and music curriculum. The Arts Department offered the students the opportunity to develop their creative talents by enrolling in any of the numerous classes available. In addition, members of the Music Department express their talents vocally or instrumentally.

After daily practice, students were pleased to get the chance to demonstrate their talents to the community. Art students also entered pieces in the annual art show. Public concerts contributed public exposure to musicians.

Students not only enjoy these classes, but they use much of the knowledge they have attained after high school. "Most students in first semester art classes carry on with a second semester," commented Mr. Mike Kratochwill. "A significant percent of college-bound graduates pursue an art-related career."

1/Teri Lentz combines concentration and determination into her ceramic piece. 2/Members of the community view entries in the annual art show. 3/Martha Peterson, Michelle Hess, and Suzie McClurg sing a choral "Portrait of Hoagy Carmichael." 4/Joe Lawton prepares for a hard days work in Jewelry and Leathercraft.

Fine Arts — Mr. Bruce Christoph — Concert Choir; Girls' Glee; Nancy Bauer — Jewelry; Mr. Micheal Kratochwill — Jewelry, Ceramics, Drawing and Painting; Mr. Robert Spargo — Concert Band, Symphony Band.

Specialized Courses Add Variety

WDHS offers a variety of programs which enable students to obtain individual guidance. These classes are taught by highly trained professionals who specialize in their field. With their guidance, students accomplish feats which at first seemed unconquerable.

The guidance counselors have been the nucleus of this group for many years. Their offices serve as information booths that provide answers for inquisitive students eager to expand their education. The library also serves as a source for obtaining information on general education and vocational careers.

In addition, programs are offered to students with special learning disabilities. These courses are designed to focus on the individual's needs. Alternative Education provides fundamental instruction in connection with regular classroom training.

The class of '84 viewed the scenic area behind the wheel of the Driver Education car. This project informs students of the hazards and enjoyment of driving. It is also a necessary requirement in the receiving of a driver's license.

Special media devices are needed to fulfill the challenging nature of these specific courses. Equipment such as video and cassette recorders, overheads, and projectors are attainable from the Audio Visual Room. All of these areas help WDHS students prepare for the various roads which lead to their future.

Special Departments: Mrs. Barbara Keeble — Guidance Counselor; Mr. Donald Skarda — Guidance Counselor; Mrs. Marcella Slocum — Librarian; Mrs. Laura Devine — Alternative Education; Ms. Ronda Jones — Alternative Education; Mrs. Geraldine Potter — Alternative Education; Mr. Tom Collins — Driver Education.

1/Mr. Skarda discusses future schooling with senior students. 2/Ms. Jones enjoys working individually with her students. 3/Secretaries Mrs. Karen Thompson and Mrs. Marion Skarda fulfill library and guidance needs. 4/Mrs. Devine watches closely Adrian Poff's work, as he poses for the photographer. 5/Mrs. Potter reflects her shining personality. 6/Mrs. Slocum is always available to assist students in finding library materials.

The Real Thing

Have you ever dreamed of becoming a chef, an advertising copywriter, a carpenter, or even Florence Nightengale? Dreams can come true, WDHS students discovered, at the South Central Vocational Center. Classes including Foods Service, Marketing, Building Trades, Health Occupations, and Exceptional Educational Needs not only enlightened students through books, but let them experience the career of their choice.

At 135 Thirteenth Street, the Building Trades classes can be found constructing a house. Unlike previous years, the Mechanical Trades class is combined with the Building Trades class to give the entire group the benefit of learning both trades. Health Occupations ventures to Jefferson Meadows Care Center and St. Clare Hospital twice a week to discover the careers associated with this field. Annual pumpkin cookie, submarine sandwich sales, and catering kept the Food Service class on the move while paying for their lab fees. If cookie or sandwiches were not what the students craved, then they might have visited the Snack Shack. The new snack and school supply store is operated by the Marketing class.

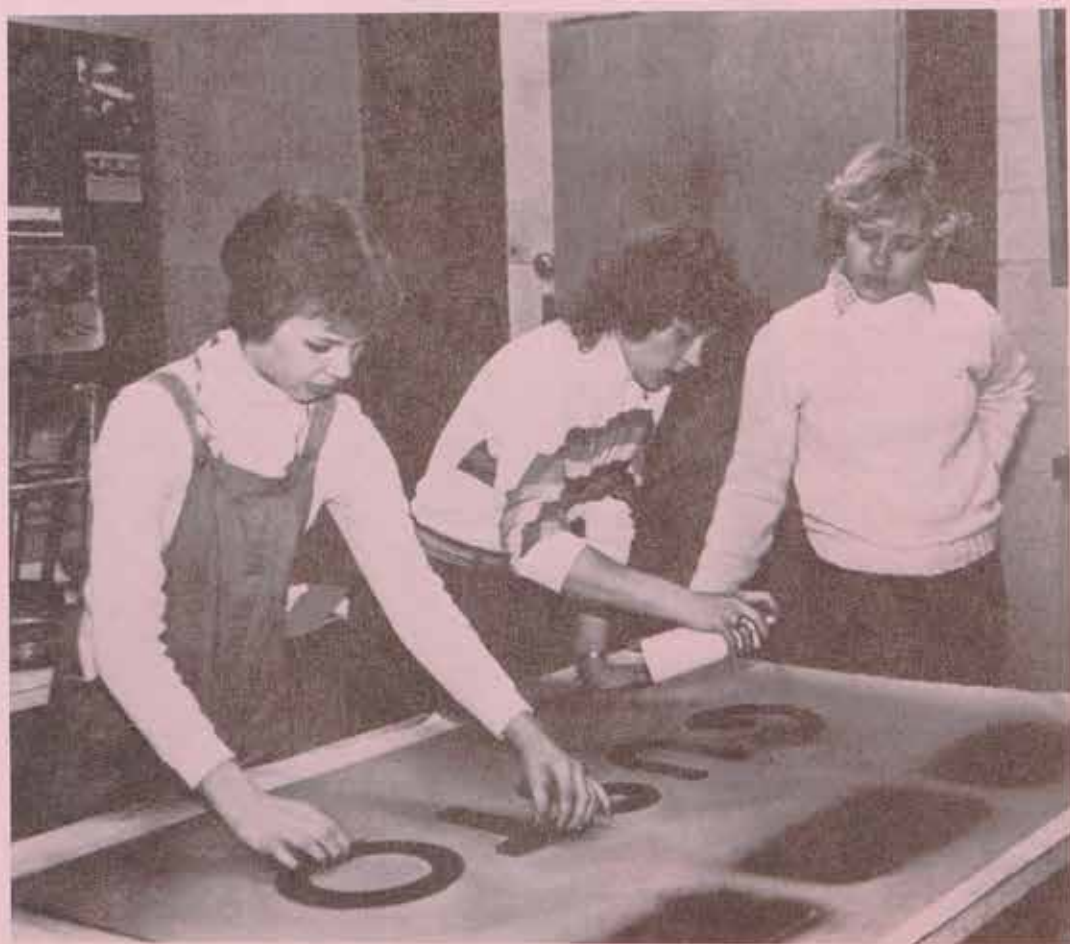

Competency based education is the purpose of the South Central Vocational Center. "After five years, this program has finally become a part of its four home schools," commented second year Director Cate Nicklas. "In the future if this program is terminated, we have succeeded in selling the importance of vocational education in today's school systems."

Clubs

"Get involved . . . join a club!" With interests ranging from Art to Spanish, there was a club to suit everyone's taste. In addition to various cultural enrichment groups, organizations such as Key Club and Mat Maids were designed to be of service to others. FCA, FFA, and FHA also provided personal growth and preparation for the future.

Clubs rendered new students a chance for informal introductions to fellow classmates, and gave members an added opportunity to be together with friends. The advisors also got better acquainted with students while furthering their own personal interests. As members and advisors gained friendships, they were enriched with a greater knowledge and understanding of the subject that their particular club was oriented around.

In addition to regular meetings, many clubs went on field trips and educational outings. Several of the groups held special events involving members' parents, enabling them to become more aware of school activities. The various organizations provided fun and experience to fill the students' spare time, but more than that, they taught them the dedication and responsibility needed to make a club successful.

"Pursue Tomorrow's Potential," was the administrative theme of Key Club International for 1981-82. Key Club is a seventeen member group of young people who are concerned with the welfare of others. These people give up time to bring a ray of happiness to those searching for it.

Key Club unlocked the doors to reach people by carrying on various projects throughout the year. The group celebrated many holidays; these festivities included Halloween and Christmas with the T.M.R. students of the grade school. Key Club also shared Christmas spirit with elders of the community, and the club presented food and fruit baskets to those in need. The main project this year, as in every year, was the Easter Seals Telethon. Key Club played an important role to represent our community in this fund-raiser. The members answered phones and received pledges at the local radio station.

Key Club's caring nature remained in effect throughout the entire year. Activities ranged from working on service projects to taking on the enjoyment of viewing a college basketball game from the U.W. Fieldhouse in Madison. Key Club, led by President Anne Christopherson and Advisor Mr. Robert Larson, took pride in their accomplishments and continued to "Pursue Tomorrow's Potential."

Be a Pepper

Pep Club members spent numerous evenings roaming the halls with locker signs in one hand and masking tape in the other. Amid the paint fumes and stencils, members brought creative ideas to paper. The result was that each sporting event got a special boost from the signs in every corner.

Pep Club also started the Christmas season with good cheer and sponsored the first Christmas dance. This year Pep Club was required to pay for its own supplies. The decision to sell pom-poms proved to be a success and contributed greatly to the funds.

Participation has declined considerably from the past years, but after conquering major struggles, the work was accomplished in good spirit. Pep Club still remains as a traditional Dells Chief fan.

The scene opened in a lighted theatre filled with music and excitement. This feeling was experienced by Art Club members as they received a taste of the Arts at the musicals, "Chorus Line" and "Hair." Art Club may seem to pinch the pocketbook of students, but members may invest their own enjoyment by attending the Art Club outings they choose.

Art Club's function was designed to help students develop a personal taste of art. Art Club has numerous offerings ranging from music to dance. "Can you imagine how boring life would be without art? I'm sure I could truthfully say that 99.9% of the people in the world take part in some kind of art," stated President Lesley Johnson.

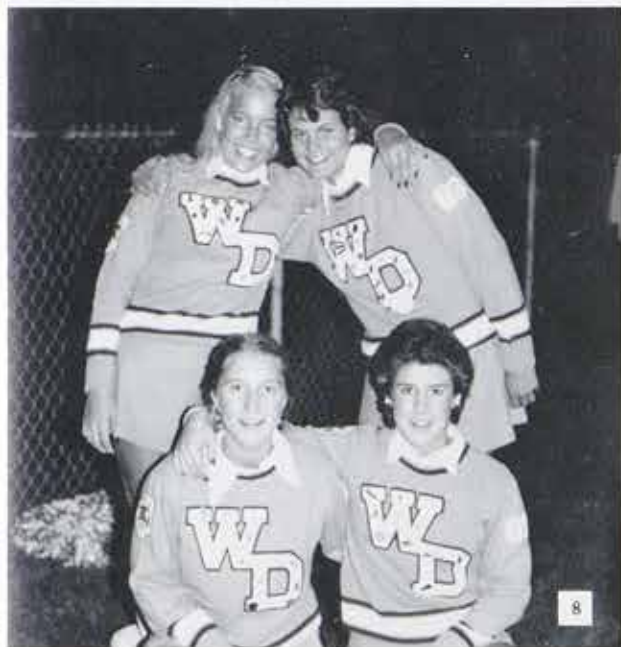

The main attraction of every sport, whether it is football, basketball, or wrestling, centers around the players on the floor. However, a very key ingredient to their success can be found on the sidelines. For each sport event, four spirited girls lead the fans in cheering their team on to a victory.

Cheerleaders contributed time, effort, and expertise to each game or match. In order to perfect timing and voice projection, the girls spent numerous hours after school preparing for upcoming games. In addition, cheerleaders must be physically healthy if they are to extend exuberant effort needed to encourage fans to yell for the team.

Freshman girls were allowed to participate in this sport, making a total of three cheering squads. The varsity groups mainly consisted of upperclassmen, who had participated in preceding years. Junior varsity girls strived for the best in hopes of being on top next year, and the freshmen squads were busy learning the basics. Without the cheerleaders, every sport would be missing the excitement and support needed for a V-I-C-T-O-R-Y.

Spanish Club Members Acquire Good Taste!

Does dinner at Chi Chi's Mexicali Rose, or a bilingual play in Madison interest you? If it does, you should have joined Spanish club and participated in these activities. Events such as these took place throughout the whole year. During the Christmas season, the caroling members brought a Feliz Navidad to residents of the manor. The club remained busy and expanded their knowledge of the Spanish culture throughout all these activities.

Check It Out!

Twenty-one dedicated librarians assisted Mrs. Slocum in the library this year. Librarians club has been active for twenty years. Each year there continues to be an interest in the club. These student librarians help out in the library during their study halls by lending a hand to their fellow classmates in gathering the material they need.

New Horizons

What is the organization that presents a challenge, introduces new horizons, and adds excitement? AFS acquainted club members with these aspects while developing a knowledge of new cultures. Through AFS, students learned more about themselves, others, and their surrounding world.

The Dells was fortunate to have a community adult AFS club. Helping students finance trips to other parts of the world was the main objective of this club. "This community club provided a tremendous opportunity for students to learn another culture at no expense to them," commented Advisor Ronda Jones.

AFS was an organization that believed in "firsthand" experience. It took a special person — someone who dared to get involved. The world was their class; its people their teacher.

Youth Energy Strikes FHA

"Youth Energy — Unlimited Potential" depicted the theme idea chosen for the fall FHA District Convention staged at the Fond du Lac Moraine Technical Institute. Four of the fifteen Dells members attended the ceremonies and workshops, along with Advisor Mrs. Jean Brew. Pertinent problems such as child and drug abuse were discussed in small group sessions. In addition to sharing the entertaining aspects of homemaking, each girl was made aware of her own self-worth and strengthened confidence by the workshop's key speakers.

During the year, holiday seasons kept members of FHA busily preparing for the gala festivities. Baking and frosting cookies, in addition to creating original crafts and decorations, were two of the favorite activities engaged in to spread a bit of holiday cheer toward teachers, parents, and the elderly. Annual events which also required planning and careful preparation by members included a mother and daughter quilting party, and the FFA-FHA Parent's Banquet.

Whether enrolled in Home Economics Classes or merely interested in the field, the club provided a wide range of craft and food activities designed to develop an individual's potential in homemaking. The FHA activities focused on individual growth, preparation for family living, development of occupational skills and careers, and participation of youth in today's society.

Fun For All

Any interested farming student was able to join the FFA club. This active club attended World Dairy Expo, Farm Progress Days, and the State FFA Convention. Money for these field trips was raised by the concession stand at home football games.

The Future Farmers of America organization includes all 50 states plus Puerto Rico. Thirty-one students make up this WDHS version of FFA. The local FFA Chapter has a long and successful history of farm judging, field trips, horticulture studies, and work with animals. This tradition was maintained again.

The advisor, Mr. Dean Piehl, has been involved with the FFA for three years. Mr. Piehl remarked that a combination of competition and actually learning benefited all members.

What's Developing in the Darkroom?

Each year millions of people take pictures of the Dells area. Although they all carry cameras, there is quite a difference between the average tourist photographer and the zany members of Camera Club. While tourists take pictures, the student "photogs" make pictures, or at least try to.

It has been many years since Camera Club contained more than just the annual staff photographers. "The renewed interest is great. It takes a long time to be able to create instead of just take pictures. This is a rare opportunity for the kids to get experience working in photography." "Our group was so fantastic! If they continue working enthusiastically, the Dells should have some very interesting "photogs" in the future," commented President Lesley Johnson. Camera Club advisor, Mr. Richard Schauf, pointed out, "This is the only training in photography offered at WDHS.

Leaders Of the Pack

Student Council is an organization consisting of four dedicated individuals from each class at WDHS. These students act as a liaison between fellow classmates and administration. The members oversee class dances, bake sales, and student elections. The primary function of the Student Council was to set up and sponsor Homecoming. Money for this project was obtained from the weekly "Donut Deli." President Terry Hall summed up the year by commenting, "This year's council was hard working and accomplished the necessary tasks with enthusiasm."

Personality +

National Honor Society was a group of students with ambition, intelligence, and creative personalities. These students were chosen by faculty members on the basis of grade average, character, leadership, and participation in the community. The object of the group was to set forth a good example for fellow classmates of WDHS. In addition, the members kept students informed by keeping the announcement case in the lobby up to date.

Maid's MATer!

Since their existence in 1972, the Matmaids have grown from a small devoted group of students to a large active club. The main duties of the club are to set up and wash the wrestling mats before each home meet and tournament. After the meet is completed, this faithful troupe of thirteen members roll up the mats.

Each year the Matmaids help to increase the wrestling spirit at the annual Chief's Booster Night. Wrestling key chains were given to the spectators during the first home wrestling match of the season. United with the wrestlers, Matmaids participated in selling film coupon books. This money helped to buy new mats for the practice room walls.

The Matmaids season of work began with wrestling in the winter and ended with freestyle tournaments in the spring. During tournaments the Matmaids not only took care of the mats, but sponsored a concession stand for spectators. At WDHS, the success behind the wrestlers is shared with the loyal team of Matmaids.

Spiritual Hope

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) is a group of religious faith and action. The objective of FCA was to strengthen the moral, mental, and spiritual fiber of young people. Teachers acting as advisers enjoyed belonging to the club and were able to view the students in a different light.

The boy's and girl's club met individually on a weekly basis, but combined to provide seasonal services for people of the community. Early morning breakfast meetings were held throughout the year at the Red Wagon and Country Kitchen restaurants. A potluck dinner was also sponsored for members parents, in order to let them observe and take part in an FCA meeting.

Teen-agers are at an age at which they are deciding their own personal commitment to religion. FCA enabled students to look objectively at the different aspects of religion. Getting involved in this club offered members a chance to discuss and strengthen their beliefs.

Old Attraction — Talk of the Town

Sweating palms, knocking knees, and a shaking voice. An exhilarating rollercoaster ride? A breathtaking experience at Cinema 180? — No! These symptoms exemplify the 49 Forensic competitors before performing their selections.

Competition began at the local contest, which was held during school hours for the first time this year, and then advanced on to the Sub-district, District, and State levels. Of the 23 contestants participating at State, 13 received "A" ratings. "I think it is the challenge that has kept me participating in Forensics every year," commented State qualifier Peter Baggot.

The coaches, Diane Effinger, Kay Prosser, and Nancy Walsh felt that the returning of several veterans helped to upgrade the performance of the team as a whole. They were extremely pleased with the team, and agreed that the cooperation and enthusiasm shown were tremendous.

Ropin' n Ridin'

Rodeo Club races into action from April to October each year in state-wide competition. Whether at home or at Gadtke's Arena, members practice up to twelve hours a week in the areas of barrel racing, pole bending, bronc riding, bull riding, roping, and steer wrestling. During the winter months, participants remain active by practicing roping and by training a horse. "Rodeo members are among some of the hardest-working sports enthusiasts who work year-round for available scholarships," commented Advisor Mrs. Gadtke. "All this would not be possible if not for the parent involvement in hauling horses and equipment."

Music

Even individuals not actively involved in music are still affected by its presence in their cars, homes, and at high school dances. Individuals were given the opportunity to participate in as many as nine different music organizations, from marching in an all tuba band, to singing and dancing Broadway's favorite hits.

Although individual practice was important, music students realized that cooperation, listening, and overall concentration during practice made each performance successful. The majority of musical activities are actual classes, however, financially they are treated as clubs. Therefore special performances, competitions, and musical workshops were financed through fundraisers. The annual band fruit sale, dance marathons, and bakesales were organized by willing students along with helpful advisors.

Out of state competitions or workshops were achieved by hardworking dedicated individuals. Ask any WDHS music member if the trip to Nashville, Tennessee, St. Louis, Missouri or the first rating at State was worth the effort. The answer should undoubtedly be a big "Yes!"

Symphony Band Goes on Tour

The Symphony Band under the direction of Robert Spargo experienced the thrill of "going to the road." The highlight of this year was reached when Symphony Band traveled to St. Louis, Missouri, for a Class A competition at the Six Flags Theme Park. The group raised the funds for the trip by selling over $4000 worth of fruit.

Symphony Band is comprised of higher-level band students. These musicians perform various concerts throughout the year. The group presents annual Christmas, Mid-Winter, and Spring concerts. Other performances included the large ensemble festival. The band concludes each year with their final performance at Graduation.

Symphony Band is featured at many different musical activities. Members spend long hours rehearsing and perfecting selections which are chosen by the director. Participants dressed in black and white seemed to attract attention wherever they performed.

Jazz Band Gets the Blues

Variety and style were the keys to the 1981-82 Jazz Band. Young musicians blended their talents to produce a totally new style of music, while having fun at the same time. Unlike other types of music, jazz is more relaxed and individualized. This allows each musician to improvise, adding his or her special talents to the group as a whole.

Jazz Band was an inexperienced group, due to the fact that over half the members were underclassmen or first year participants. Emphasis in practice stressed the fundamentals of jazz and improvisation. The band's ability to perform solo work contributed to each concert and competition.

After many weeks of practice, the Jazz Band began the season with the annual grade school and public concerts. Highlights of the year included the LaCrosse Jazz and Swing Festival, and the annual fund-raiser night, Caberet. Although Jazz Ensemble was inexperienced, they worked hard and accomplished many of the necessary steps to forming a complete and exciting group.

The Sound of Things to Come

Freshmen and sophomore instrumentalists participated in Concert Band which developed discipline and various skills essential for more advanced performers. Concert Band performed Class B music at contest, which was less difficult than that played in Symphony Band. After mastering certain techniques, qualified members graduated to Symphony Band.

Both bands combined for marching season and then were divided into two different groups after chair tests. Concert Band performed in the Christmas, Mid-Winter, and Spring concerts, and also in the large ensemble contest. They assisted Symphony Band during the annual fruit sale to raise money for the trip to St. Louis. Since Concert Band was unable to attend the St. Louis festival, prizes were awarded to the two students who sold the most fruit.

Concert Band provided entertainment in addition to improving the members playing ability. To make room for the upcoming freshmen, many of the musicians move on to Symphony Band. The young musicians prepare to meet the greater challenges of the more advanced band.

Band . . . Instruments Up! 1 2 3 4 and the WDHS Marching Chiefs began another year. The marching season opened with the first home football game. The band presented pre-game and half time shows throughout the football season. The group also made their annual showing in the Wo-Zha-Wa and Homecoming Day parades. The band concluded their yearly performances by marching in the Memorial Day parade.

With the Athletic Complex located at WDHS, students no longer had to arrive early to catch the bus to the field. Ample bleacher space accounted for the new seating arrangements, allowing the band members to sit in the high school student section. Home games were scheduled two weeks apart, giving the students time to perfect a different half time show each game. The extra time also provided for a one hour practice on the field every day to help polish timing and precision.

The '81 Marching Chiefs encountered a memorable season by being the first band to march on the new field. "Leadership from the upperclassmen helped us to mold the freshmen into a better unit," commented Bob Spargo, marching band director.

On the Road Again

The Dells area has always been proud of its musical attractions, such as The Wisconsin Opry and Fast Mollies', but one of the most popular musical groups in the area performs right here at WDHS.

The Dells Concert Choir spent many hours of throat straining practice, learning how to vocalize correctly and how not to go flat. Seventy-three enthusiastic students worked together to sing as one voice during the many scheduled concerts. In addition to these concerts, this year the Concert Choir had a wide variety of special attractions.

Early in the year, the Marching Band and the Concert Choir joined forces to help dedicate the new Athletic Complex with a joint musical number. Both groups also anticipated a special concert with the Symphony Band and the Concert Choir traveling to St. Louis for a national music festival. Due to an exceptionally strong man's section, an all male Glee Club was added to the WDHS music department and performed at this year's large ensemble festival in a separate concert.

These special activities, combined with the normal choir routine of public shows and contests, proved once again that WDHS Concert Choir is, "Truly Alone In Its Greatness."

Vocalists Tune Up With Aluminum Linoleum

Girls' Glee maintained its average number of participants, which consisted of eighty-seven girls. The two group section, including those active in band, united for such events as Christmas, Mid-winter, and Spring concerts. Included in the list of favorite numbers performed were, "I Can Sing A Rainbow" and "Christmas Nightingale."

An additional section joined the Choir Department, the Men's Choir. The group consisted of the bass and tenor voices of WDHS' Choir. They participated in all the concerts performed throughout the year.

Talented musicians were able to become deeper involved by entering the music contests which were held annually. The large group ensemble competition required choir and band members to function as a whole. The solo ensemble contest allowed interested individuals to exhibit personal talents by presenting a solo or small ensemble, to a qualified judge. The male and female choir provided an opportunity for all interested individuals to express themselves vocally.

Corporation Stays in Swing of Things

A hush falls over the audience, the six piece band strikes up the opening number, and 29 members of the WDHS Swing Choir enthusiastically rush on stage. Weeks of practice paid off as immediate applause rises from the audience. The audience is once again silenced as the Swing Choir breaks into song.

Members of the Corporation started work in the spring of '81 to prepare a song for auditions. On the night of auditions, hopeful candidates presented their selections and tried out a short dance routine. Admittance requirements were based on vocal quality, stage presence, dance ability, and overall appearance.

The group expressed dedication and enthusiasm by holding practices in members' homes early in the fall. After the songs were memorized, the Swing Choir started dance rehearsals with Miss Nancy Walsh, the new choreographer. Miss Walsh was previously a member and choreographer of the UW Singers. She also worked with the Reedsburg Swing Choir and has arranged musicals for various high schools.

The idea of a live band was not exactly new to the Corporation, but it was a different approach than last year when all music was taped. Director, Mr. Bruce Cristoph stated, "We had several talented musicians that were interested in being in the band, and a live band offers much more versatility." The band also demonstrated its talent in a jazz combo and many of the Swing Choir numbers provided special band features.

Swing Choir held their usual concerts at the junior high and high school, plus competed in several contests, including the UW La-Crosse Festival, St. Norbert College Festival, and the contest at Bishop Luers, Indiana. The group also provided entertainment at the second annual "Caberet." One of the highlights of the year was the WDHS sponsored Swing Choir Festival. Approximately a dozen schools from Wisconsin and surrounding states competed for points. Since the Corporation hosted this event, they were unable to participate in the contest. However they did give exhibition shows during the day and in the evening.

As the year drew to a close, members were filled with memories of strenuous rehearsals, lengthy bus rides, and rousing applause. Participants realized that all of their work and practice had been worth the satisfaction of knowing they had put on a spectacular show. While members may be relieved that the hectic schedules and the rehearsals are over, they will miss the friendships, glitter, and excitement that comes from being a part of the Corporation.

$ MONEYS $

Money, everybody wants it, needs it, but getting money is a different story. At WDHS, music students realize that to have exchange concerts, music festivals, or travel, they must provide the funds. The '81-'82 music season gave students plenty of chances to raise the money.

The Band held their annual fruit sale in mid-November, profiting more the $4,000. This provided the funds for Symphony Band to attend the spring music festival in St. Louis, MO. The first Swing Choir Festival took place at WDHS January 9, 1982. Some of the area's finest Swing Choirs were given the chance to participate and discover new techniques, dance steps, and overall styles of other competitive Swing Choirs. The proceeds from entry fees, food sales, and donations from that day were used to pay for the Corporation's visit to Fort Wayne, Indiana. There they competed in the biggest Swing Choir festival in the Mid-West.

The fund raising season was concluded by a 22-hour dance marathon on March 19th. This paid the way for the Concert Choir to attend the spring music festival at St. Louis, MO. along with the band in April. That concludes the '81-'82 list of music fund raisers. Got any ideas for next year?

Classy Events

Soft music, dimmed lights, formal dress, and cheering students were all part of the classy events held annually. These features are not only characteristic of the President's Inaugural Ball, but of WDHS's Homecoming and Prom festivities.

Homecoming was geared toward upperclassmen, but all classes participated in the dress-up days, hall decorating, pep rally, parade, and the dance with equal enthusiasm. The activities of Spirit Week and the football game preceded the highlights of the Homecoming dance on Saturday night. Couples and spectators arrived at the dance with flowers, cameras, and a feeling of anxiety. Before the big night drew to a close, senior couples paraded down the gymnasium and over the bridge for Grand March.

The juniors' special evening was staged on a Saturday night in May. Fund raisers and planning began early in the school year to prepare for the realistic trip to the Big Apple via Prom. The final product transformed the gym into New York, complete with skyscrapers, the Brooklyn Bridge, and romantic candle lit tables.

Whether the students chose to go to the dance, create the scenery for the couples, view the grand march, or cheer the team to a victory, all students participated in these memorable events. By actively participating in these classy events, students showed off their "class."

The Big Apple Comes to the Dells

From the old fashioned horse drawn carriage sauntering through Central Park to sightseeing off the Brooklyn Bridge, the feel of New York drifted through the gym. It was evident that the Juniors had succeeded in giving New York that "special glow" as the Prom couples swayed to the music by Starliner.

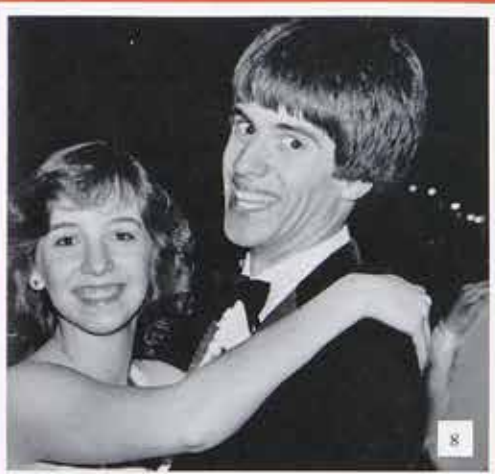

Preparation of the grand event began in early October when the Class of '82 selected "New York, New York," as their theme. Prom Chairman Terry Hall and Co-Chairman Susan Golz continued planning and making needed arrangements right up until the May 2nd deadline. On the morning before Prom, a group of enthusiastic juniors gathered at the high school to complete the transformation of the gym to the Big Apple.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Queen Chris Ouimet by King Bruce Nelson. After the 1981 Prom Court danced the last dance to the theme song, "Just Between You and Me," by April Wine, the lights dimmed to announce the end of a memorable evening.

Homecoming Itinerary

"Complete Tour Package"

Monday

Today starts the beginning of "Spirit Week," Homecoming 81's theme: "The Best of Times." Float building begins!

Tuesday

Today students dress like the days of the Old Wild West.

Wednesday

Spirit Week participants dress like their favorite characters from the popular television show M*A*S*H. Students decorate windows downtown.

Thursday

The traditional Blue and White day. Hall decorating between the classes starts after school. Queen announced at the evening pep assembly.

Friday

Dress-up Day, afternoon pep assembly at the new athletic complex. The Homecoming parade follows; Senior girls verse the Junior girls in the Powder Puff football game.

Evening: Dells takes on Sparta in the big Homecoming game.

Saturday

1/Homecoming Co-chairman Terry Hall and Chairman Anne Christopherson lead the parade with the proper Homecoming spirit. 2/Freshman Susie Hess and Christine Dorow work on the float while the freshman boys look on. 3/Dana Mantor exemplifies sophomore spirit. 4/Senior Bob Buss becomes smothered after catching the game saving touchdown pass. 5/Coach Fred Khul gives a "pep" talk at the assembly. 6/Powder Puff Coaches Todd Steyer and Dan Morse explain game strategy. 7/Senior football players croon the Alma Mater. 8/W*D*H*S 4077th. 9/Captain Beth Bubon leads the varsity football cheerleaders during the parade.

Spirit Week Highlights

Overall competition between classes during Spirit Week was unexpectedly won by the Sophomore Class of '84, slipping ahead of the seniors by a mere nine points.

The undefeated senior girls once again proved themselves by shutting out the junior girls in the Powder Puff football game with a score of 6-0.

With less than 10 seconds left in the Dells vs. Sparta football game, Randy Scott threw a pass to Bob Buss. Buss seized the ball in the end zone, giving the Dells a Homecoming victory with a score of 8-6.

The Best of Times

1981 Homecoming Court: AFS Rep. Connie Kloch and George Holmes, AFS Rep. Barbara Zimm and Chris Larson, Michelle Hess and Jeff Stieve, Becky Stutz and Steve Schulz, Queen Gail Maher and King Matt Dixon, Leann Turner and John Wenkman, Lisa Turner and Bob Buss.

1/Seniors say, "We are number one in the pyramid building contest." 2/Karl Schultz, Marty Hickey, and Joey Van Dinter find that a section eight will not discharge them from school on M*A*S*H Day. 3/Lisa Turner and Beth Babon inconspicuously decorate houses during spirit week. 4/Powder Puff players cheer for a victory in the Homecoming Parade. 5/Kim Elliott and Darren Marsich have a good time at the Homecoming Dance. 6/Queen Gail Maher reflects on her week-long reign. 7/J.R. Holmes goes to lunch on Western Day. 8/Tracy Triggs and Lauri Griffin exhibit their hula-hoop know-how at the Homecoming pep assembly.

Homecoming Highlights

Lisa and Lecann Turner ride double through the parade route. 3/"Up, up and away to a victory," exclaims Fozy Bear, a passenger on the senior float. 4/Jennifer Young runs into the inescapable senior defense. 5/Mrs. Biffert, annual staff advisor, finds herself caught up in the Homecoming spirit. 6/The one and only Dells Cross Country team. 7/The Junior Class gathers a mighty grunt in the breakdown yell contest.

Sports

WISCONSIN DELLS HIGH SCHOOL
WISCONSIN DELLS, WI 53965

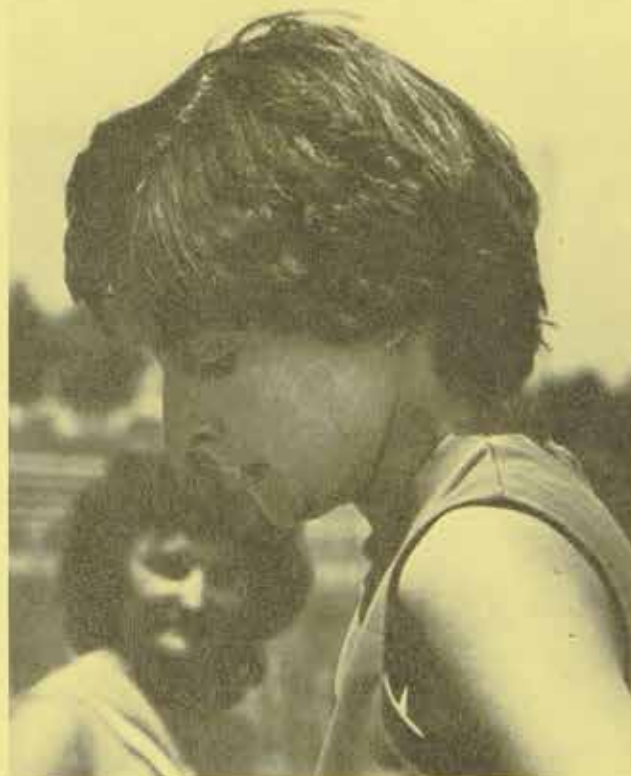

Whether it was the thrill of victory or the agony of defeat, the 1981-82 sports' season had its share of smiles and tears. Athletes from varied backgrounds discovered that hard work and dedication were the major elements of success in any athletic endeavor. Students also agreed that teamwork and self improvement were just as important as a winning season.

Athletes spent many hours of personal time mastering important techniques and skill. Numerous days of rewarding practice were necessary to produce the teams that entertained WDHS each week. However, most competitors would agree that this work was well worthwhile, considering the recognition and satisfaction gained.

Participation was stressed this year, with the entire Dells community becoming involved in the athletic program at WDHS. Coaches, families, and students alike gathered at competitive events to show their spirit and support for our teams. Although not every team was entirely successful, local support never weakened as Dells fans showed that win or lose, we are still proud of how our athletes play the game.

Golfers Have TEE-rific Season

As a Dells tourist attraction, Dell View Golf Course not only attracts tourists, but also students involved with the WDHS Golf team. The Dells Golf season swung into action in late April and ran through mid-June. The team consisted of five Varsity golfers and five JV golfers.

Even though golf is an individual sport, the members must work together as a team. Long hours of practice and concentration are what it takes to be an exceptional golfer. The Golf team finished the season placing 3rd in Conference and 2nd in Sectionals.

Coach Jack Capelle named Pat Hintze "Most Valuable Player." Pat also qualified at Sectionals for the State meet. When asked about future teams, senior letter winner Randy Blegan stated, "With four returning lettermen, the 1982 team should do quite well."

Batmen Sparkle on New Diamond

The Dells Varsity Batmen salvaged the 1981 season with a strong finish by advancing to Sectionals and closing the season with a 7-10 record. The team's backbone consisted of seven seniors and four juniors who managed to drive out their competitors in away games as well as at home on the Chiefs' new diamond. Although the team did not play exceptionally well during the regular season, they did excel in certain areas.

The team's strong point centered around their excellent batting ability. Junior Scott Beer, All-Conference winner, led the Chief's hitting attack with a batting average of .537. The team also profited from senior leadership, including five returning lettermen: John Dinegan, Dan Marz, Ralph Corning, Dan McFarlin, and Bruce Voss, also an All-Conference title holder.

Coach Tim Trapp summed up the season by commenting, "The boys played good ball towards the end of the season, and missed winning Sectionals by one run."

JV/Frosh

The main attraction of the 1981 season for the JV's and newly acquired coach, Jim Murphy, was winning the doubleheader over Tomah. The victory over Poynette gave them a 7-7 season record. The Frosh had their own schedule for the first time. It was short, but sweet, producing a perfect 3-0 record.

Although the JV/Frosh had separate schedules, they played basically as a single unit. Due to the fact that there were only five upperclassmen on the JV team, the freshmen were heavily counted on to fill the starting JV positions in addition to playing their own games. Strong freshmen pitching lead the teams to their respectable records. Freshman pitcher, Peter Tucker, struck out 67 batters, 55 of these during JV games.

Coach Murphy accredited the fine seasons and the boys' winning attitudes to the fact that a majority of the boys had come from winning Little League programs. He smiled as he summed up the season saying, "It was a job well done."

Girls Outrun Competition

Responsibility, leadership, dedication, and sportsmanship are just some of the qualities girls acquire from participating in track. Female athletes quickly learned that being a part of the Girls' Track team requires total dedication. "You can't go out for track expecting it to be all fun and games. You have to be very dedicated in order to do your best," stated team member Lisa Turner.

Individual leadership was shown by Lisa Olson as she led the team in scoring and set a new 440 record of 62.33. Marjie Cloud also set a shot-put record of 32'7". In addition, all three relay teams practiced diligently, and it paid off with three new records. The mile relay team of Toni Grefe, Lisa Olson, Jean Heitman, and Theresa Novy finished 1st in Conference and set a new school record of 4:18.2. The 440 and 880 relay teams, consisting of Beth Bubon, Kim Morse, Toni Grefe, and Kay Heidtke produced two more school records. The 440 yard team finished with a time of 55.98, and the 880 with 156.81.

Every individual had to perform well in order to produce successful team results. Performing in their new uniforms, the Dells girls finished 1st at Sparta, 3rd in the Mauston Invitational, and placed 6th in Conference. Coach John Hoenecke felt the girls had a successful season. "Despite the lack of seniors, the underclassmen did an outstanding job!"

Track Attracts

"On your mark, get set, Go!" was a familiar phrase to track fans. The Boys' Track team raced off to a fresh start with new ideas and stronger support than ever before. New this season, the Mini Clinic, invited parents to participate in their son's achievements. Sprinters, long distance runners, and those involved in the field events demonstrated their improved techniques, which were developed by Head Coach Bob Johnson and assistant coaches Dean Phiel and Ken Zartner.

Leadership and teamwork enabled the Dells team to peak at the precise time, prior to the Conference meet at Sparta. Support provided by faculty, friends, and family paid off as the boys returned home with a 2nd place finish in that meet. In addition, their journey to Viroqua awarded them a 2nd at Regionals. Our home track hosted the Sectional meet, with the Dells placing 4th. "The Boys' Track team had a prosperous year, highlighted by placing 1st in the Dells Invitational," commented Coach Johnson.

"Welcome Spectators" to the girls' volleyball games of the '81 season. Performances began at 5:00 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday nights, played rain or shine.

The trademark of this year's Varsity squad was leadership. The team consisted of ten seniors and three juniors coached by Ellen Fisk. The players looked stunning in their long-sleeved uniforms purchased new this season.

The girls had high expectations for the season, but encountered difficulties along the way. The Chiefesses ended the season tied for 3rd place with an 8-6 record.

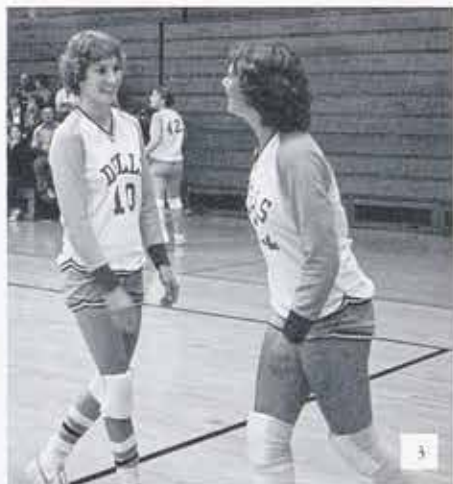

The JV squad had a unique addition to their unit. Volunteer Coach Cindy Collins joined the team in a thrilling 11-3 record; placing 2nd in the Conference.

The season was summed up by Most Valuable Player, Paula Ramsey, commenting, "The overall attitude was great, but it was mixed with the normal ups and downs of any sport."

Chiefs Display Exuberant Effort

Effort was the key to a year of improvement for the WDHS Boys' Volleyball team. The squad came a long way this year, despite the adversity. The team stuck together as a whole and had it pay off in the end when they excelled in tournaments. Though the team did not have a very successful Conference season, certain individuals did excel. David Fedderly received All-Conference honors, Mike Smith received MVP, Tracy Seidler was the Most Improved, and Jody Ward and Brian Murray were named Most Dedicated.

Coach Susdorf summed up the team's season by saying, "The ten-man squad lacked the experience in the beginning, but they still always gave 100%, and it paid off for them when they excelled in tournament action."

Dells Harriers: See How They Run

Every community has its hidden attractions, and at WDHS, this attraction is the Dells Cross Country team. The harriers put in many hours of grueling practice this past season, but still received less recognition than many other competitors. The runners have also performed consistently well against tough Conference competition.

This year's team consisted of fifteen boys, including five senior leaders and a young girls' team with all eleven members being underclassmen. During the conference season, the boys turned in an excellent 4-1 record with their only loss coming from the Portage Warriors. The female harriers also had a successful season with a 2-3 conference mark, showing definite possibilities for the future. The Chief's best overall performance took place at the River Valley Invitational with the Dell's runners taking second place out of eleven teams and bringing home a team trophy.

Senior All-Conference runner Tim Gelhaus summed up the season stating, "We came close all season but could not come away with the big wins."

Chiefs' New Field Adds Appeal

The 1981 Varsity Football team kicked off the season with two non-conference games, both ending in victories for the Chiefs. The best technical game was played at Waunakee; furthermore, the Dells dominated Eau Claire Regis with two long run plays by quarterbacks Scott Beer to Randy Zamzow. The team's efforts were strengthened by fourteen returning lettermen serving as key players.

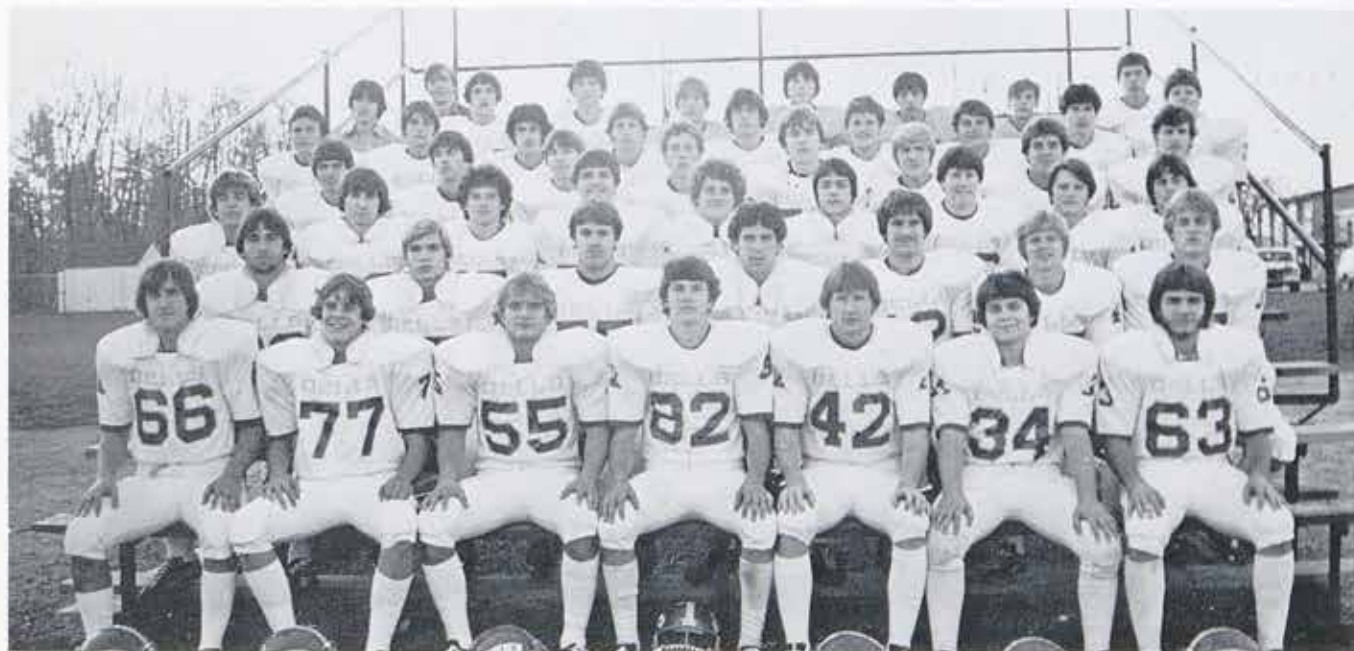

The varsity squad played their first home Conference game of the season against Portage at the Dells' new athletic complex. The new field offered players and fans the advantages of improved lighting, a new scoreboard, press box, and convenient refreshment stands.

At Tomah, the players put forth good physical effort, but were unable to make the big plays. The team worked together in the Homecoming game to miraculously overpower Sparta. The final touchdown pass was thrown from Randy Scott to Bob Buss, who scored with only two seconds left on the clock.

Later in the season, the team triumphed over Mauston as Randy Zamzow received the Mauston kick-off and ran 96 yards for a touchdown, but was defeated by its two biggest rivals, Baraboo and Reedsburg. On dedication night, the team gave its best drive of the season against Baraboo, but was defeated. While the score was tied in the first half of the Reedsburg game, unfortunately, the Chiefs encountered numerous physical injuries, which resulted in a disappointing loss.

The varsity squad started out the season with high hopes and a great deal of potential. Injuries and penalties brought some frustrating defeats. However, the team wrapped up the season with a victory over Adams on Parent's Night.

Young Gridders Hold Potential Power

The JV and Frosh football teams played well for a memorable season, finishing with 4-3 and 4-2 records.

The JV season hiked off to a great start as the 32 players on the team achieved a 30-0 victory over the Portage Warriors. From then on, the JV squad had their ups and downs, but came out ahead in the end. Head Coach Bob Johnson felt there had been improvements of individual talents throughout the season.

With rookie Coach Tom Collins, the freshmen team showed real improvement by defeating teams they had lost to in previous years. Coach Collins commented on the team as one "... skillful with promising talent." The highlight of the season was the shut-out game against Reedsburg. Ending with winning records gave the JV and Frosh teams added confidence.

With a Little Bit Of Help From Our Friends

With a little help from their friends, the wrestling Chiefs pulled out of a three way tie with Portage and Reedsburg to capture the undisputed SCC Conference Championship. The grapplers secured the team title by a mere one and one half points, leaving Portage and Reedsburg tied for second. The keys to the Chief's success was a direct result of individual achievements with every wrestler placing fifth or better. The Chiefs finished the dual meet season with an 11-3 record, and a fifth place finish at the prestigious Badger State Invitational. The wrestlers then returned home with an impressive win at the Dells Invitational, crowning five individual champions as well as claiming the team title. The winter season ended on a high note for the grapplers, as they placed high in the WIAA tournaments. Leadership was an important factor in the wrestlers' success and with only four seniors, this responsibility fell on the entire squad. Captains Joey VanDinter and Toby Stearns acted as coach, mother, and drill sergeant to keep the team in line during the long hours of practice. With the support of Coach Stapleford and Coach Kratochwill and teamwide dedication, the Chiefs completed the 1981-82 season with triumphs that will long be remembered.

Defense Saves Season for Boys

The 1982 Varsity Basketball season got off to a slow start due to inexperience and a lack of leadership. However, as the season progressed, the team united to form a solid, well developed group. Close scores and overtime games were the highlights of the year, including a 48-44 victory over Sparta for the first time in several seasons. The most important asset to the team was a strong defense. The squad's goals were to improve with each week's practice and to achieve better ball control with less turnovers. These goals were met as the Chiefs ended the season with a 7-11 record. Coach Jack Capelle summed up the season by commenting, "This group of kids have a good attitude and the potential to play against anyone!"

Girls' Rebound at Mid-Season

Senior leadership was a major key for the Girls' Varsity Basketball team. Dedicated practices before and during the season paid off as the Chiefs' teamwork resulted in a winning record. The Chiefs relied on team effort instead of individual performances. This was shown in all the games, where the thrill of victory or the agony of defeat was shared by all the team members. Coach Maher summed up the season by commenting, "Though we had no individuals stand out, we had many dedicated girls who worked to bring out the best in each other."

The JV team, coached by Tom Collins, acquired a 13-5 season record. Coach Collins summed up his team's year by saying, "The JV squad showed great improvement from day one, and the future looks good."

Girls' Varsity Basketball — Row 1: Annette Martiny, Kathy Bloomer, Diane Sturdevant, Row 2: Shelly Marsich, Sue Weilding, Christal Boeck,

WDHS Salutes

WDHS is very proud to have two of the community's most outstanding citizens as part of our school. Combined, Mr. Fred C. Reineking and Mrs. Orpha Reifsteck have put in well over fifty years at WDHS. These two individuals were recognized by the Wisconsin Dells Events by being named "Man and Woman of the Year," respectively, for 1981. The students, faculty, and parents of the Wisconsin Dells school district proudly salute them for their achievements.

1/Man and Woman of the Year.

Deserving Recipients of Athletic Awards

Behind every successful sports team, there are dedicated, athletic-minded individuals. The Dells is exceptionally fortunate to have Mr. Robert Larson and Mr. Bob Kruse to aid in the development of our athletic programs. These men dedicate their services to the WDHS student body throughout the year. Mr. Larson assists by guiding our sports programs, and Mr. Kruse by taking pictures of sports events.

The time they donate, and their willingness to work paid off for them. At the 15th Annual Athletic Director's Workshop, WDHS received both awards given in District III. Mr. Larson earned "Athletic Director of the Year," and he presented Mr. Kruse with a plaque for "Distinguished Service to High School Athletics."

Both of these individuals spend many hours of their own time attending various sports activities. They put an enormous amount of effort and their own personal skill into making each event a success.

As I search back through old annuals, I realize that all of the editor's letters are essentially the same: the summarizing of the year, friendships made, experiences shared, thank-yous and the statement that theirs is one of the best annuals ever. This statement is made because every editor hopes that their book will be well-liked. Every staff works to create a book that is not only liked by the student body, but that follows set guidelines, and employs new ideas. Ours is no exception, and we hope that you will enjoy it not only now, but in the years to come.

I, along with the staff, would like to thank the area businessmen for their help in presenting our theme. As always, we would like to extend our thanks to Bob Kruse who has given us numerous pictures, and who has become a personal friend. I will long remember my experiences as editor, including the many lunch-hour meetings with our advisor Mrs. Biffert.

I would also like to express the staff's gratitude to Mr. Mohr, our Herff Jones Representative, who spent many hours running around Madison to get everything coordinated for our '82 Arrow Attraction.

1982 Arrow Editor
