Changing Scenes at WDHS

The 1983-84 school year ushered many changes at WDHS, the most notorious being Mr. Larson succeeding Mr. Reineking's 29-year reign as principal. The switch-over formulated a seven-period school day, interior remodeling, and new staff additions. Joining the educational team were Mr. Breen, vice-principal; Mr. Wasti, school psychologist; and his secretary, Mrs. Carey; Mrs. Gavinska, librarian's secretary; Mr. Smet, Industrial Arts teacher; and Mr. Tucker, Social Problems teacher.

Mr. Larson had wall atlases installed in the history rooms, remodeled the central office for added efficiency, boarded up the windows in the gym and warm-up rooms for energy conservation, repainted the lecture rooms and several classrooms, and the Senior Class donated an emblem which hangs in the gym over the newly constructed wallboards.

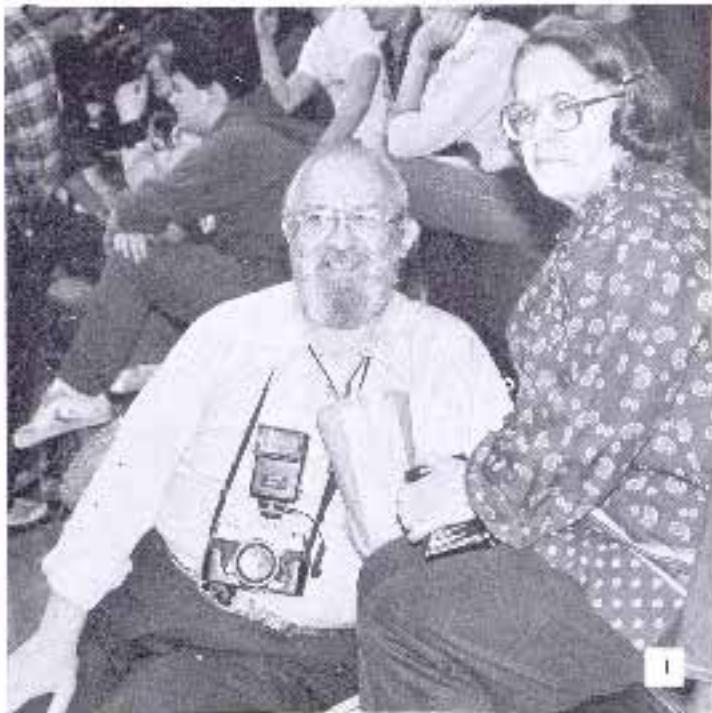

The students' learning was revamped, as many new computers and word processors were placed in various classrooms, while eighth graders were introduced to a semester of high school classes. Overall, the many changes have given students a positive outlook on the appearance and pride of their school.

Spirit week gradually drew to a close with the Homecoming dance. Although the dance was themeless, it was traditionally decorated with an array of blue and white streamers, shrubs amongst the dance floor and flowers and mints complemented the tables. Soft music from the band, Oasis, added the final touch to the romantic atmosphere.

At 11:15, Mistress of Ceremonies, Sheri Beard, began to announce this year's senior couples. Oasis lightly played, "Hold Me 'Til the Morning Comes," accenting the meaningful mood of the evening. As seniors and their dates walked down the aisle, memories from their past years spun slowly through their minds.

To wrap up the evening, court couples swayed to the final verse of the theme song as the band was presented with a bouquet of white roses given in appreciation for a fine performance. With Chairperson Dana Mantor, co-Chairman Jon Carlson, and a commendable amount of work and support from the student council, the dance was an event which will recall fond memories for all the couples who attended.

Spirit Week

MONDAY — WDHS students initiated the spirit week festivities as they "roamed" the halls in togas. Following the 3:25 dismissal bell, designing and construction of class floats began.

TUESDAY — Students came to school dressed for every walk of life as they portrayed "Occupation's Day." Some students relived a short flashback of summer by wearing their official work attire.

WEDNESDAY — Students flew into school outfitted as their favorite superhero. Class artists put their creative talents to work by painting downtown windows.

THURSDAY — Students proudly entered the school in the tradition colors of blue and white.

FRIDAY — As customary, students waltzed in looking their best for dress-up day and the annual picture taking sessions. Convertibles, transporting Homecoming "celebrities," added class to the annual Homecoming parade. Junior girls slaughtered the seniors in the powderpuff football game. To bring the climactic spirit week to a close, the varsity football team defeated Tomah 30 to 12. The successful game played one more positive factor in saying, "This year's Homecoming will live on in the students' minds for years to come."

Leadership, hard work and dedication were all key factors in the making of the 1983 varsity football team. The Chiefs began their 4-5 record with a victory against the Jefferson Eagles.

Adams was the first Conference stop for the Dells. The Chiefs ran away with a 6-0 win. The Chiefs took a dive against the Mauston Eagles, but shot back and battled Sparta. Their attempts failed, losing by a three-point margin. The Chiefs then traveled to Reedsburg in the hopes of a comeback. Though the crowds' spirits were high, the Dells weren't enough to block Reedsburg's determination.

The highlight of the Dells' football season was the Homecoming game in which the Chiefs annihilated the Tomah Indians with a score of 30-12. Though the rain made playing difficult, the crowd's spirits were not dampened. Contrary, the year's worst upset came against the Chief's long time rival, Baraboo. The I-birds beat the Chiefs with a 32-0 score. The last game of the season came in a disappointment when the Chiefs lost in the last seconds of the game against the Portage Warriors.

Dells Cross Country — One Step Ahead

Strenuous grueling practices, including three to eight miles of distance runs, speed and hill workouts, plus pace running on the track, played an important role in the success of both the boys' and girls' cross country teams. Coach Dean Piehl inspired the team with words of advice and encouragement.

"It was a super year all around, and up to the end, Coach Piehl made it that way," was the way sophomore Erica Krause looked back at the year. The girls placed fourth in Conference behind Reedsburg, Tomah and Baraboo. They placed third in Regionals, qualifying the team for Sectionals, where their dreams of State came to an end. Senior Jennifer Hamm commented about what it takes to be a winner. "A winner consists of 10 percent physical shape and 90 percent mental shape."

The boys team placed third in Conference behind Portage and Tomah. According to senior Doug Gavinski, one of the bigger surprises of the year was taking trophies at both the Poynette and Black River Falls Invitational. Doug summed up the season by saying, "Everyone gave 100 percent and worked hard as a team. The sixth and seventh runners ran well to give lift to the top five runners."

Ready? Yeah!

Bump . . . Set . . . Kill! These words seemed to echo through the gymnasium as the Dells Netters got psyched up before a match. The team proved to be successful with an 8-1 record and receiving second in Conference.

The year's volleyball strategy had a switch from a four-hitter, two-setter offense to a six-hitter, two-setter offense. The team began to use the new offense toward the middle of the season, but it caused too much confusion to use for matches. The J.V.'s team was not as successful because of a newer team. The J.V. team provided an exciting game on parent's night, winning against Mauston and ending the season with a two to nine record.

Coach Collins concluded the season with, "I was pleased with our record, but I expect better performances at next year's invitationals."

Grappling their way to an II-I-I season, the varsity wrestlers clinched the South Central Conference Championship for the fourth time. The team also claimed titles as Regional and Sectional champs. The top individual title was taken by Dan Green, as he went on to win the 132-pound weight class at State.

Under the direction of Head Coach Wayne Stapleford and Assistant Coaches Mike Kratochwill and Jim Murphy, they showed their ability, dedication, and sportsmanship. The six-day-a-week practices and weight watching paid off since team titles were earned and four wrestlers, John Getgen, Dan Green, Dale Gray, and Chip Cahoon, advanced to State.

Dells Cagers Get Trapped in a Tough Season

The Dells' varsity basketball team hit a rough season this year with a record of 5 and 13 overall. Some of the main problems consisted of very few upper-classmen. With only three seniors, the team had to depend on its underclassmen to keep the ball rolling.

Besides a shortage of upperclassmen, the team ran into a few other major problems. Being a smaller-sized team, the group had to focus on high arching shots and fast speed. An omen of injuries kept two members from playing most of the season.

Captains of this year's team were Matt Winn, Dave Cahoon and Wayne Nevar. Their leadership led them through a difficult season including three close games and one spectacular game against Mauston. The team advanced to Regional action against Nekoosa, playing a skillful game, but suffering a disheartening loss by one point in the last six seconds of the fourth quarter.

Take It Away . . . WD Girls' Basketball

With the help of eight returning letterwinners, the Varsity girl's basketball team scored a 10 and 9 season, taking 5th place in Conference action. Although the team had some ups and downs, the girls pulled away with memorable close game experiences. "The players put forth individual skill and team effort, but unfortunately, didn't produce as well as anticipated," commented Coach Maher.

Likewise, skill, effort and determination were key factors as the JV girls wrapped up a 17 and 1 record season, capturing the Conference championship. Their only loss was at Reedsburg, 37-34. Kellie Wieland, leading scorer, steals and assists, was out of action for two games due to a foot injury. Also, Suzie Van Wic and Jill Diehl added extra support at their positions to help the JV girls produce a winning season. In closing, Coach Collins stated, "This group was determined to win the Conference title, and they did!"

Last Call for Girls' Track

"On your marks, Get Set... GO!" — such began the girls' track season reviews. Training began when Coach Cindy Collins organized a rookie camp for all freshmen and new members. The camp provided information on perfecting running skills, examining tapes of individual events, working out with circuit training and weight machines, and observing stretching techniques. In the end, the Dells came out on top, receiving their first and well-deserved trophy of the season.

Lori Galitz and Cindy Snyder, managers of the girls' team, were assisting behind the scenes throughout the wins and losses. Just as the season began with a "bang," the girls ended the year with a sense of victory in individual and team achievements.

On the Track to Success

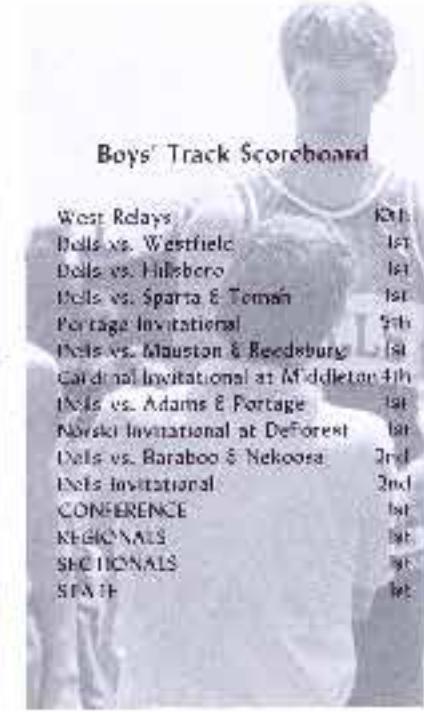

"The most successful season in memory," was the way Head Track Coach Robert Johnson summed up the boys' track season. With the help of Coach Dean Piehl, Coach Johnson and the team took first place in the 1983 Class B State competition.

The track team sprinted off to a good start, placing first in their first three of four meets. From there they kept the team fire burning throughout the season, placing first in Conference, Regionals and Sectionals. The Dells was represented in four events at the State track meet.

Co-Captains Karl Schultz and Randy Zamzow led the way to State, along with five other team mates: Greg Zander, Rob Conway, Bill Fandrich and Mike Jones, receiving their own sweet taste of victory. The Dells placed first with 32 team points.

Golfers Swing to Victory

"Leadership was the key to our success," commented Coach Jack Capelle. With the leadership of senior Mike Smith, the Dells' golf team swung its way to a first place in the South Central Conference and Regionals. In addition to an excellent team season, Al Zimmerman's individual talent of a consistent swing allowed him the challenge of competing at State.

Early in the season, the Dells hosted a four-team match at which the Dells placed third behind Reedsburg and Adams. As the season progressed, however, so did the Dells by placing first at a conference eight-team tournament held at Tomah. Ultimately, because of the team's consistency in scoring, they took first place in Conference.

"Motivated by fierce competition for the limited varsity spots, 20 golfers finished the season," Coach Capelle commented. "With the combination of competition and leadership, the Dells finished with a very successful season." Truly up to PAR!

Behind The Scenes

Keeping the halls clean, cooking daily lunches, washing the phys ed towels, and fixing buses were many of the tasks the WDHS staff encountered each day. The staff was up and around before school every day, busily preparing lunches and school halls for use by over 500 students.

The staff busily prepared the school during the summer months as they waxed the floors and painted the halls. During school hours, the staff helped to transport students to and from school, fixed broken lockers, and provided nutritious meals for the students. Through hard work and dedication, these people definitely made WDHS a more comfortable place to learn.

SCVC ... Learning Through Job Experience

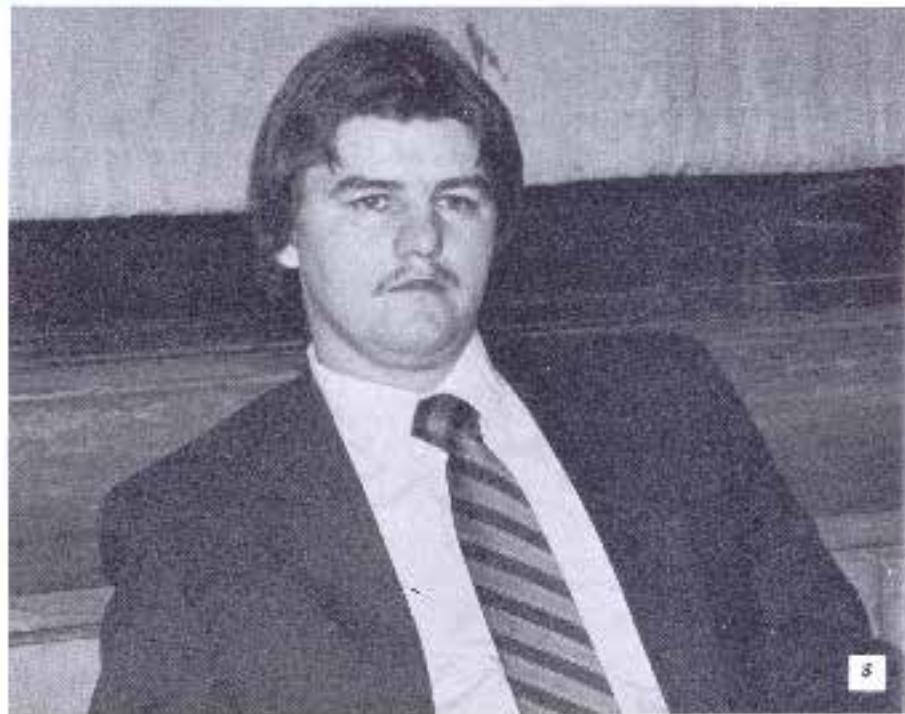

For several years, Dells, Baraboo, Portage and Reedsburg students have had the opportunity to take classes within the SCVC Program that provide them with the knowledge and experience of today's labor market. SCVC, directed by Cate Nicklas, provides training in foods service, health occupations, appliance technician trades, exceptional educational needs, and building trades.

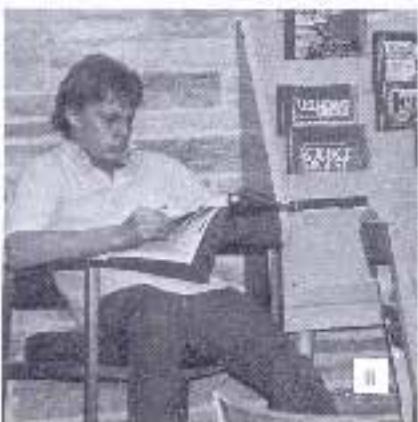

Outstanding highlights within each section included the foods class catering to various different functions and the health occupations class adding more extensive clinical work in the medical facilities of Portage, Reedsburg and the Dells. The Appliance Trades class provided the students with a hands-on experience of repairing both small and large appliances. The Exceptional Education Needs class took several field trips to Perry Printing, Coils Industries and Libby's. For the sixth consecutive year the Building Trades built a home from start to finish in Baraboo.

It's Only "A Chorus Line"

A new year is synonymous with new beginnings. The new school year brought about changes in the Music Department. Instead of Concert Choir and Girls' Glee, the classes were introduced to Chamber and Concert Choirs.

Chamber Choir, consisting of 38 members, brought on new rules for new and old members of Concert Choir. Membership insisted upon extended interest in music and putting this interest to work. The songs were more difficult, six lessons per semester and competition in the local music contest were all required of the members.

The beginning of a new school year brought on the beginning of a new Concert Choir. The change turned the hands of time from first to fourth hour and opened the class to new members.

There were no tryouts for Concert Choir and few regulations. This gave a chance to students who enjoyed singing but not seriously involved, and for those who did not receive an opportunity in Chamber Choir. Mr. Christoph, director, believed the class also brought more men in choir.

There has always been an over abundance of girls over guys. By replacing this class over Girls Glee, there were more placements and encouragement for men vocalists.

Chiefs Go Marching On and On .

The high pitched noise of the whistle by the director . . . the hustle and bustle of the band members and flag and baton twirlers arranging themselves into formation . . . the placement of the Stars and Stripes at the front of the mass of marchers . . . These are common sights and sounds at Friday night football games as the Marching Chiefs prepared to thrill and entertain the spectators.

The band members spent weeks learning how to correctly pivot, perform marching formations, and finally playing energetically enough to psych up the cheerleaders and student body. Energy flowed from the many instruments as the Marching Chiefs performed a grand finale concert, containing all of their marching songs, a la University of Wisconsin style.

The Wind Ensemble, a newly formed, 50-membered band, contained instrumentally talented students that were interested in challenging music and a greater learning of the music they played. Unlike past years, there was only one person to a piece of music, instead of a group of firsts, seconds, and thirds. Another new idea was the instrument sectionals in which the students learned about music keys, terminology and theory. A strict requirement for all Wind Ensemble members was the participation in an ensemble at contest, with each instrument section leader playing a solo. This band not only created music, it created a better musically oriented student.

That's Entertainment!

Gloria ... Maneater ... Chariots of Fire ... No, it's not a rundown of the top ten hits of the year, it's the new sound that was produced by the Concert Band. The serious atmosphere created by the Wind Ensemble's Beethoven and Sousa is completely destroyed once the members of Concert Band filled the room. Members combined fun with improving their musical skills.

Concert Band members teamed up with the Wind Ensemble to create the WDHS pep band for a sound that was the highlight of winter activities. Members earned points toward their letter by playing in pep band. Aside from playing pop hits, the band also prepared tunes for concerts and contests.

It takes practice to be good, and the members know it. Hours of practice during school went into making all the performances entertaining successes.

Jazz Has Snazz

The sounds of "New York, New York" and "Rosanna" rang through the band room as jazz band warmed up for another practice. This talented group of self motivated individuals practiced once a week on songs that they would use for festivals and contests. Each member learned how to become a better musician and have fun in the process.

Jazz Band paired up with the Swing

Choir in February to host Cabaret, a dinner/dance show. They again packed up and traveled with The Corporation to the LaCrosse Winterfest, a festival in which they competed. Their dedication led to self pride in each jazz member as they prepared for each concert. "The excitement of each performance," commented Brian Marty, percussionist, "made all of our practicing hours worthwhile."

Sounds of Swing

One, two, three, four . . . ! The band kicks off the first few measures. Amid the applause, the Corporation swings on to center stage for another dazzling performance. Perpetual energy, radiant smiles, and a flame for performing are requirements among.

Practices, ranging from one to three times a week, helped the members "get their act together." Director Bruce Christoph and Choreographer Nany Walsh often gave up their after school time to bring to perfection old songs and dances, and teach dancers new ones. Practice paid off and the Corporation proved they were Number One this year at Lacrosse Winterfest Festival where the group took Grand Champion over schools from around the state. The Dells Swing Choir also traveled to Nashville, Tennessee, to compete against 26 of the best show choirs in the nation.

The Corporation also gave numerous concerts for the public Performances at Cabaret, Great America, Kiwanians Convention, the Dells Midwest Festival, and at both the grade school and high school were among many others given.

Keys to the Future

A dull moment was never on the agenda at Key Club meetings. Keeping the 57-members quiet for the duration of the meeting was an accomplishment in itself.

Community and school service were the main objectives of all Key Club projects. The year started with members selling ads for WDHS sports' programs, cleaning the school grounds, raking leaves in Bowman Park, and helping the Kiwanians during WO-ZA-WAH weekend. Bringing friendly smiles and Christmas cheer to the needy by caroling and delivering fruit baskets during December, accentuated members' sensitivity to community needs. Presenting an Anti-Smoking Campaign to the fifth and sixth graders and hosting a Key Club Convention in Madison added to the club's accomplishments.

"Confront Confusion—Discover Direction" indicated the theme and spirit for the year. Key Club members learned to confront a confusing world yet discover direction in all they did through the many service projects they endeavored.

FFA brought an opportunity for members to visit local dairy farms and increase their knowledge and training in the agri-business field through a variety of activities. Members of the club initiated an array of new ventures, including a fire extinguisher sale and a chainsaw raffle. The annual Dairy Expo in Madison allowed club members to experience competition in cattle and horticulture areas. This venture pre-

It's Just Your Imagination

For those students interested in aspects of imagination, the Creative Writing Club proved to be the club to join. At monthly meetings, members shared original writings, some being submitted to the annual Creative Writing Workshop staged at UW-Whitewater. A fund-raiser kept the student body guessing in hopes of winning a boom box by guessing the number of M & Ms in a jar. The purpose of the contest was to help fund the publication of Reflections, a magazine containing the written works of WDHS students. Creativity was the main issue as students wrote essays, poems and short stories to grasp their classmates' imagination.

Change the Shape of Your World

"Half of the world does not know how the other half lives." — (Rabbis) — or does it? WDHS students had the privilege of hosting two foreign exchange students this year, Raymundo Garza from Mexico and Tomas Parmigiani from Argentina.

An exchange of the students was only possible by having community support for housing and finances. The main fundraiser was the AFS food stand in Bowman Park during Wo-Zha-Wa. Coupon books were also sold by the student and adult club. These funds were used for students "going" as well as "coming".

One such student was Dana Mantor, who went to Germany last summer. Her experience was worth more to her than the money she could have earned if she worked at a summer job. It did change the shape of her world. Life in Germany was more structured, particularly during meal times. Lunch was the hot meal of the day, comparable to our dinner.

Food was also part of AFS Club activities. Many formal and informal parties were held throughout the year. This provided an opportunity for meeting and making friends, and friends of other worlds.

"Maids of the Mats," or Matmaids are known as an ambitious group with tasks designated to directly assist the wrestling program. Besides cleaning the mats, group members sold concessions at tournaments, ran the timers, and kept statistics at the matches. The Matmaids also helped the wrestling team with fundraisers during the year. Working behind the scenes, a Matmaid received less glory but accomplished self-rewarding honors. These rewards included attending the annual banquet at a restaurant of the members' choosing, and working with fellow students who were interested in furthering the successes of the WD wrestling team.

"Put the Devils in their place"; "Watch out Sparta"; "Chiefs are on the war path"; "Chiefs will raid the Hornets." These slogans and others helped to raise spirit among athletes and the student body. The members of Pep Club spent their free time not only making these spirit-filled locker signs but also providing refreshments for the hosted Parents' Night. An industrious Pep Club member must possess creativity and patience. Much preparation goes into the spirit promotion without which many athletic events would go unpictured.

Serious discussions concerning worldwide, community, and personal topics were a beneficial segment of each Fellowship of Christian Athlete's meeting. These informal talks gave each member a chance to express his own opinion which in turn helped to build personal self-confidence and growing respect for fellow classmates and team members. Besides the home meetings, the group participated in raking lawns and Christmas caroling in order to assist in community goodwill.

STUDENT COUNCIL

GOVERNING BODY OF WDHS

Student Council's role as an integral part of the governmental body has long been recognized by the student body. Many responsible decisions and actions have been carried out by the active class leaders. Among these responsibilities are included Homecoming festivities, class elections, and the Doughnut Deli. With the cooperation of the school's food service, the Council endeavored to spice up the lunch program and enrich the à la carte line choices. The overall efforts by all of the people involved were definitely in "good taste." The council members pride themselves in keeping an ear open, listening to the voices of the WD student body.

The Few . . . Proud . . . NHS

The National Honor Society offered prestige for six juniors and six seniors selected by school personnel in terms of character, service and leadership. In addition to maintaining a high "B" average, the members were required to keep the announcement case by the cafeteria up-to-date. Recognition for being in the Society included the allowance of members to be exempt from final exams in the senior year and the wearing of a special emblem at graduation.

Active since 1950, the Librarian's Club has been a service organization which lends a helping hand to browsers and researchers alike ... the WDHS student Club members hold several responsibilities, mainly working at the "charge-out station" or the magazine area. Duties range from the upkeep of the charge-out files to helping students locate, sign out, and return library materials. Well deserved highlights of the year include an annual gala Christmas party and visits to the Madison City-Dane, Sauk and Columbia County Library.

Spanish Club's highlight of events centered around the welcoming of two Spanish-speaking AFS students, Raymundo Garcia, Mexico, and Tomas Parmigiani, Argentina, helped the group relate to their culture; likewise, WD students initiated the two visitors into American customs. "Mucho" describes the compiled listing of activities for the year. As customary, the group prepared flavorful Mexican delicacies for the faculty in honor of Spanish Week. The members also traveled to Madison to view a Spanish play, "The Three Cornered Hat." The cultural activities of Spanish Club bring to life the textbook readings and illustrations presented during Spanish classroom instruction.

A Ticket to the Fine Arts

For those students who prefer the finer side of the art world, Art Club provided them with a chance to travel to surrounding cities and see plays, concerts, or various other art-oriented activities. Plans for the year included a trip to Chicago to visit area museums and plays and several visits to plays and concerts within surrounding cities.

FRESHMEN

The Freshman Class experienced a big transition from being the mighty eighth graders to becoming the "unknown" freshmen of WDHS. Immediately they were introduced to a new environment of PSII, Ala Carte—the "Silver Bible," and History A. Upperclassmen were always happy to be of assistance, especially giving instruction pertaining to the "WD" in the lobby. What would happen if a student stepped on the sacred emblem? No one seemed to want to find out. Through trial and error, the freshmen learned the ups and downs of finally being classified as a "high schooler."

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores finally reached the anticipated goal of a higher class status. As they continued climbing the rungs of the WDHS ladder, they progressed into American literature, the term paper, and learned the techniques of CPR in health class. A familiar scene in WDHS halls is viewing the wearing of red ring sizers on sophomores' fingers, anxiously awaiting to order their class rings. With most sophomores hitting "Sweet 16," they progressed from learning to "safely" operate the driver's ed car to persuading mom and dad to use the family car Friday nights.

JUNIORS

With only one year left before becoming the "mighty seniors," this year's juniors made quite a name for themselves in the records at WDHS. In a surprise come from behind victory, the class of 1985 won the grand title of "champion" for Spirit Week 1983. With Homecoming Week behind, the class members ventured into salesmanship by selling magazines to raise money for Prom '84. Besides their sales' efforts, the year was highlighted with the juniors finally receiving their long-awaited class rings.

A NIGHT ON THE CARIBBEAN

The sparkling blue, green and turquoise waters of the Caribbean Sea . . . dramatic clouds . . . dimmed lights . . . soft music . . . and a starry sky — was the atmosphere of the 1983 junior prom.

"A Night on the Caribbean" was the theme for this enchanting evening. Once aboard the deck of the S.S. Caribbean, couples danced to the music of Oasis. The night was highlighted by the traditional grand march and the surprise crowning of King Chris Honish and Queen Lisa Nelson. The evening concluded with the playing of the 1983 prom song "We've Got Tonight."

Chairman Brenda Bauer and co-Chairman Traci Triggs were behind the scenes of this memorable night. After months of preparation, the prom became a reality. Prom Chairman Brenda Bauer commented, "The only thing I regret is the night was here and gone, leaving us only memories of our junior prom."

WALTER VERNON KINGSLEY

May 26, 1963 — October 23, 1983
(Beirut, Lebanon)

Moving on UP

I am just 18 and out of control.
Lost to the wilderness and Marines.
I know down deep in my country soul
That I have to get away . . .

So I lit out one day in July
High on life of the Marine boot camp —
Humming me an old country song.
With my favorite jeans and my Ford hat,
I ran off chasing a nearby cloud.
Well, I thank God each and every day
For giving me the nerve to enlist
And the job I do.

I'd never make it without my peers.
Now I sleep a little better at night
When I wake up in the bright sunlight . . .
(chorus)

I guess happiness was farming
In the old-fashioned days.
Now happiness is earning your keep,
Growing richer and dearer.
And I think I finally know just
What it means.

And when I leave, they're gonna miss me
As I go look for a career.

By Walt Kingsley, 1981

When I was initially offered the position of editor last spring, I had no idea what a frustrating, yet very rewarding, year's task I had lying ahead. Trying to complete a well received, 128-page yearbook was no "drop in the hat" for an eight member staff! Therefore, I hope that the book you now hold will reflect the determination, creativity, and sweat and tears, (of both joy and frustration), that the 1984 ARROW staff has put into their book.

I, along with the staff, would like to give special thanks to Bill Metzger and the staff at the Al Ringling Theater for providing us with a personalized marquee for the theme portrayal.

A personal "thank-you" is extended to Bob Kruse, who has supplied our book with countless numbers of creative and rememberable photos. The Dells Events and Trumble's Photography are also thanked for use of their photos.

Our faculty and staff should receive thanks for their patience when annual staff projects were traded for class hours. I would especially like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Biffert, who became a "second-mother" to the annual staff "family." Her unique personality and integrity especially guided the staff when we were on our own during the absence of our company representative!

Since our staff was one of the smallest in years, we all shared our problems, confusions, and accomplishments. "Work nights" topped the lists for fun, as we observed each other "pig out, jam out, and often freak out" as we finished pages for deadlines. I'm proud to be part of such an individual, original staff.

I hope you have had as much fun paging through this book as our staff had producing it. The 1984 ARROW will "realy" be "HELD OVER FOR MEMORIES" and enjoyed for many reruns!!

1984 Editor,

Patti Seiler
