We've Survived Our Four Years!

Senior Year. It's hard to believe that this is it for us. Next fall, some will be going on to school and others doing their own thing. Hopefully, this article will bring back some of those forgotten memories of the past years we've spent as a class. Freshman year. The first big event in high school, and a most embarrassing moment for a girl in high school. While marching in the homecoming parade, she gracefully tripped and performed in a human drum roll. She was unharmed, but she is still being teased about it today.

The most exciting event in 1984-85 had to have been when the volleyball team brought home the gold from the State Finals in Oshkosh. But on that same night, spirits were slightly dampened, when the football team lost in the Sectional Finals at Oconto Falls. Could sophomore year prove to be just as exciting? No doubt!

Sophomore year could be called, "The Year of the Mohawk!" With the arrival of a new student, Shane "Spike" Hagerman, hairstyles changed tremendously. A new "barber shop" was opened by the senior football players, as they gave each other creative hairdos. Could this be what stimulated them to go all the way to the Sectional finals again? Or maybe it was all the inspiration that the baseball team needed to bring the gold home as they became Class B State Champs. Again the Dells was proving to stand strong in the SCC.

Look out Washington D.C. and New York City! Here comes another 48 Juniors from Wisconsin Dells to turn the town upside down. The Juniors crammed into a school bus at 5:00 a.m. and headed for the Madison Airport. From there we took off for Washington D.C. where we toured until nothing was unseen. A memory that all who went on this trip will share, is when Aaron Blatchley lost his plane ticket in Detroit on the way home. The poor guy never looked so scared. Yes, there were some good times on that trip. When the voyageurs returned from the east, it was time to start preparing for one of the biggest highlights of the year, the Junior Prom. May 2nd arrived and, as the theme song "Nothing's Going to Change My Love For You" floated throughout the gym, while "A Night in the Orient" was a big success.

The second and probably the biggest highlight of the year, for the school and community was the coming home of the third state championship banner in three years, but this time it was boys basketball. Now, we've celebrated our last homecoming, our last sports events, and our last dances as high school students. Now the time has come to say farewell to our high school students, hello to a new life, new friends, and new experiences. But we will never forget the special memories made at WDHS.

Halt, who goes there! May I see your pass? What is your destination? These words of interrogation are familiar to World War veterans and also suspicious looking "hall roamers" as they pass the hall monitor's station. Each hour two students are selected to man the stations by the front and guidance offices. In between checking passes, running errands and generally keeping the hall traffic clear, these students are free to work on their homework in complete private quarters, until they are disturbed by passersby.

"I have delivered items as delicate as a single rose compared to a 100 pound bag of popcorn!" recalled a hall monitor. "My favorite delivery was a pizza," he added. "It was delicious!"

Mention the word- Drivers Ed to any sophomore and his face lights up with eager anticipation. The initial step in acquiring the coveted drivers License. The word also brings to mind Tom Collins, the instructor who teaches students how NOT to drive, like no rolling stops, no Interstate U's, and no eating donuts while behind the wheel. (a right reserved for front seat passengers only!)

On the fourth day of student driving, the beginner becomes over-confident and imagines himself in the Daytona 500. As one novice explained, "You kick back, one hand on the wheel, changing the radio station, honking and waving to everyone. You soon forget what you are doing and start to use one foot for the brake and the other for the gas, weaving in and out of cars on Broad way, braking and gunning it."

What brings the whole scenerio to a screeching halt? Mr. Collins hits the instructor's brakes and tells you to get out and coolly replies, "NEXT!"

When our high school days are over one thing that we'll remember for the rest of our lives is our friends. Friendship bracelets signify the everlasting bond between two best friends. These multicolored bracelets are woven which symbolizes the fact that the threads of the two friends' lives are as closely entwined as the threads of the bracelet.

Runner's to your mark, get set, the explusion of the gun and they're off! Off to a new season with a new head coach. New Coach Laurie Mumm has focused hard this season on team goals with ten returning letterwinners and a total of twenty-one participants. "I enjoy running and I like the idea of individual events. I do it for myself so I really don't have to worry about letting the whole team down," expressed Archer White.

Looking back at some of the goals for the team Mumm had anticipated a fourth place finish at Conference. The team instead placed sixth. "Considering the amount of people we had we did well as an individualized team," stated Coach Mumm. Advancing from Conference to Sectionals were two dedicated seniors, Barbie and Debbie Anderson, and representing Wisconsin Dells at the State meet was Debbie in the 800 meter run.

The team will be loosing seven strong seniors, but Mumm has great expectations for the junior high trackstars coming up.

Chiefs Attack Track

"The 1987 Dells track team had the 'right stuff' "

"Last call for the boys 100 meter dash." The call drew attention from track fans as the thinclads waited for the gun. After a strong start to the season, the Chiefs finished second in Conference, bowing only to Mauston for the Conference championship. To help on special areas, the Chiefs had two new assistant coaches. Rob Carlson worked with sprinters while Rob Conway coached the jumpers.

After advancing to Regional and Sectional competition, the team qualified four athletes to compete at the state level. The mile relay team of Henry Little Soldier, Todd Willert, George Field and Blake Williams qualified for State after finishing first at Sectionals. Willert also qualified for State in the one mile run.

"We had more potential than we showed," commented head coach Bob Johnson. "When someone was doing well, somebody else would be in a slump." As for the participants standpoint, junior Manuel DeJesus summed up track by saying "It was great. Breaking school and conference records in the 400 meter relay highlighted my year." The Chiefs proved that though hard work, they could accomplish success.

"Put me in coach"

Smack. Came the sound of a softball being hit into orbit over an unwary centerfielder's head. Melissa Pandrich succeeded to hit the only homerun of the season. Melissa grins as she places her foot on home plate and glances at screaming teammates in the dugout.

The Trolls varsity softball team started the season with seven players missing from the first game because of the Junior Class trip to New York. Not only were there players missing, but the team had a brand new coach, Jeff Heesch. Heading the team were three seniors, Stefanie Brandt, Melissa Pandrich, and Sophie Sliwa. "I feel that our abilities became much more knowledgeable about the game. We were never totally demoralized by any we played.

The biggest thing we learned was proper technique and a winning attitude," concluded Head Coach Jeff Heesch.

The newest editions coming into the softball scene showed they have the talent and pride to be the best. "I learned many things and I can not wait until next year to prove we can do it," commented frosh shortstop Amy Ruderadorf. Frosh coach Sue Wiedling helped to make the freshman rookie short talent. "They really put 100 percent into the game," stated Sue Weidling.

JV players were surprised by the freshman as well as JV Coach Jay Heesch. With a new coach and nervous players the first games were bumpy. "At the beginning today, the new coach was difficult, but the girls soon made me feel right at home," concluded Coach Heesch.

Bump, Set, Kill!

This past season was a rebuilding season for the 1987 Dells volleyball team. With the loss of seven seniors, the young team lacked some experience but made up for it with their determination. The team ended their season with a 4-4 conference record. "We really pulled together as a team," stated Laurie Witteha, senior volleyball member.

The Dells JV volleyball team finished 5th in Conference with a 2-6 record. They showed strong determination and teamwork.

Though the season wasn't as prosperous as they had hoped, Senior Jessica Dorow summed up the season by stating, "It was a blast!"

Dells Football- The Tradition Is Kept Alive

"A tradition of excellence is kept alive."

With the leadership of 15 talented seniors, the 1987 Dells Football Team finished the season by capturing conference and going on to tournament play. The Chiefs kept the tradition going by winning the schools fourth straight SCC Championship.

The Chiefs started off their season with a bang by defeating the Baraboo Thunderbirds. After that, there was no stopping the Dells gridders. They went on to win seven games, including a high-spirited homecoming game against the Sparta Spartans and a come-from-behind victory at Reedsburg. The season ended on a dim note when the Chiefs came up short in a defensive battle against Tomah. With the SCC Championship under their belts the Chiefs were ready to face Praire Du Chien in tournament play. But Praire proved tough and the Dell's season was ended.

The Chiefs overall record was 8-2 with three shutouts. "The rest of the coaches in the conference said our days of glory were over," declared Head Coach Pete Gust, "I'm glad we proved them wrong."

JV/Frosh: Never Second Best!

"Six, nineteen, eighty-eight, HUT ..."

The junior varsity and freshman football teams are a large part of the Dells "football family" although they are not always in the limelight.

These soon to be varsity Chiefs do their best to make the school proud and to keep in pace with the varsity team. They put forth much effort and time to make their season a successful one. If determination and dedication was the only factor in winning, the Chiefs feel that they would be undefeatable.

The junior varsity ended their season with a 6-2 record, while the freshman closed up the season with a 2-1 record.

"A Year Of Rebuilding."

"We're the Cross Country team and we'll be up first. We like to run and waste no time. We run our head, we use our feet to try and distribute the Cross Country turfs."

This was a rhyme that the girls cross country team wrote to keep them going throughout the '87 season and which became the key to their success. Due to the fact that there were so few girls out for cross country this year they only competed "varsity level."

This year's team, being very young and eager, began their season with extensive training in August. Often, the workouts consisted of conditioning exercises, hills, and many miles of long distance. The girls cross country team did not have it easy to say the least, but the excitement and determination showed as each new day began and the competition increased.

"This year was unique in that we started from scratch," replied M.V.P. Christine Borchik, "but each individual did their best and came out a winner." "We are only losing one person this year and we will miss her leadership," commented Coach Dean Pieh, "but the rest will be returning front-runners with a lot of experience, which will be a great help for next year's team."

"We can do it, yes we can!"

"Over hills, across fields, and through the woods to dusty cries in the heat, in the cold, you could hear the sound of feet to the street."

Who could they be? Mom thinks the boys cross country team. "Who else would want to participate in a sport where all you do is run and run." This was a comment that was heard often by spectators of the boys' line season. But did it affect the way they ran? The answer is no.

The boys also began their season in mid August and put in some long and vigorous workouts for the '87 season. With the team having lost the majority of its members to graduation, the boys team had to start from scratch, just like the girls. However, having the endurance and strength that this team did, they were very competitive. Besides doing well for a young team there were some individual highlights. Sophomore Kevin Schmidt was named M.V.P., and led the team through most of the races. He commented, "We were all so close, that of like a family, we depended on each other for support and it showed in our races."

Coach Dean Pieh summed up his hopes quite well, "It is nice to know that we have every member of our boys team returning next year; some even have two years more to go. We can look forward to a team that improves overall also as individuals."

Girls' Basketball Reach New Heights

"Lady Chiefs Rank Second."

During the course of the campaign, the Wisconsin Dells Lady Chiefs basketball team, was held in great expectations of being the finest team the Dells has ever put together.

The team had many goals for the season such as beating their biggest rival, Portage, and making a high quality field in the Mauston sectional. Coach Richard Tucker hoped for the best of his team, but unfortunately, fate turned an icy corner. The team was unstoppable for the most part. They lost only one game at home to the high-powered Warriors and posted a 12-2 conference mark, good for second place in the SCC. After rolling over Columbus in the sub-regionals, the Lady Chiefs met an equally matched team from Markesan. The Hornets, playing on their home court, knocked the Chiefs off the road to Madison with a stunning loss.

The team was lead by their captains, Jon Waterman, Tammy Sweeney, and Tracy Runde. The rest of the players and coaches should be recognized and congratulated on a fine season also.

"There may be teams in the future that win more games, but there won't be a better put-together team than the one in 1987-88," commentes Coach Tucker. "There were some hard times, but I in my mind, our Lady Chiefs are number one."

Though the JV and freshmen teams are just learning what it is like to be proper "lady" Chiefs, they have a big challenge ahead of them. Next year they must come in prepared to pick up where the Varsity left off. Coach Laurie Mumm of the JV team and Coach Sue Weidling of the frosh have prepared their teams to their own capacity. They played each game by its measured importance and never pushed the girls farther than they could go.

"I think the girls did well overall finishing with a 7-9 conference record. I see much potential for next year provided that they spend some time in the off-season preparing themselves. I look forward to the 1988-89 season," commented Coach Mumm.

To Coach Coppedge and the '88 D'Iberia

Thanks again D'Iberia for another great season.
You made Friday nights a pleasure.

We saw you win a title all right, with class to back that down to a tee.

No one could imagine such a great feat, so thrilling, you guys are a real treat.

The season went by much too fast, but you gave us memories to last and last.

Hold your heads high for D'Iberia,
You see, you're the best of Class A, B or C.

Thanks for the memories

Dave Norman

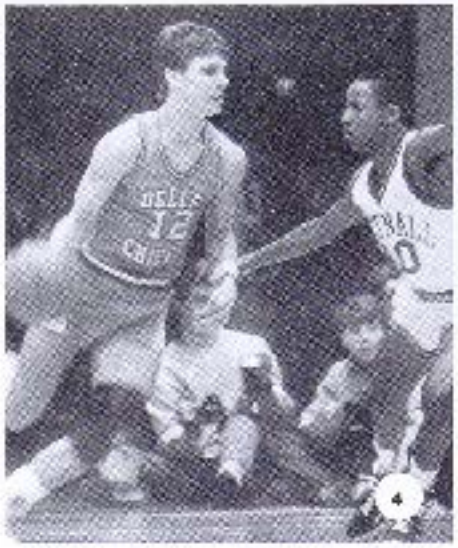
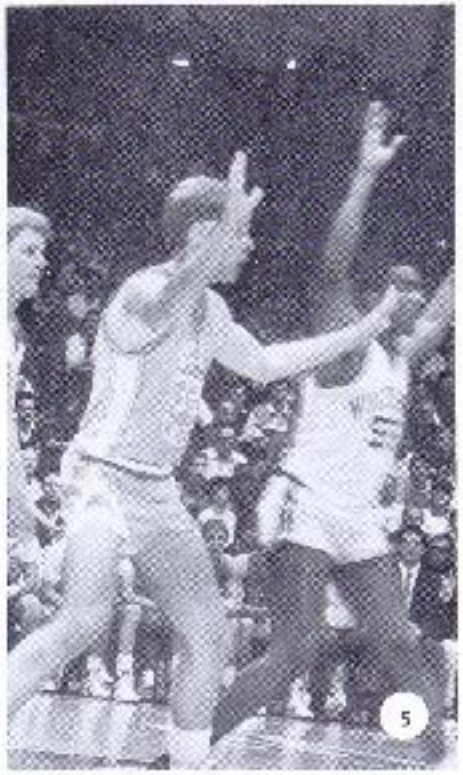
The Wisconsin Dells JV boys' basketball team had a phenomenal year, and overcame all their odds that such a successful year under first-year head coach Terry Stockman. The JV's finished the 1987-88 campaign with a winning record. The most notable moment of the year had to have been Duncan Scott's unbelievable four point play at the buzzer to upset Milton. Duncan's play sent the Indians on their own personal journey deep into the tournament. Of course, these boys' wouldn't have done it on just one shot. It was the whole team effort that made the season a success, commented Coach Stockman.

"Whenever I look at the season, I think of the win over Edgerton. We were down by 4 with 3 seconds left. Duncan was open, but Coach Stockman told the team to "Shoot it, you're not out of the game." Duncan made the shot, but I think the whole team deserves credit for that win," commented Coach Stockman.

At The Field House . . . One More Time!





Wisconsin Dells athletes have been high on the victory scale this year. Now it is time to look beyond success at a team that worked very hard but ended up short handed.

The matmen at WDHS were unfortunate to have a season where losses outweighed wins. Their main drawback being the size and age of the team, many losses were due to the forfeiture of weight classes because of unavailable bodies.

Despite the lack of team members, individuals showed great promise. Tim Fish became sectional champion and made his way to a fourth place finish in state competition. Other successful seniors were Jeff Wakefield who won a conference championship. John Webb who took a second place finish at regionals, and Jeff Webb who placed second in regionals and third in sectionals.

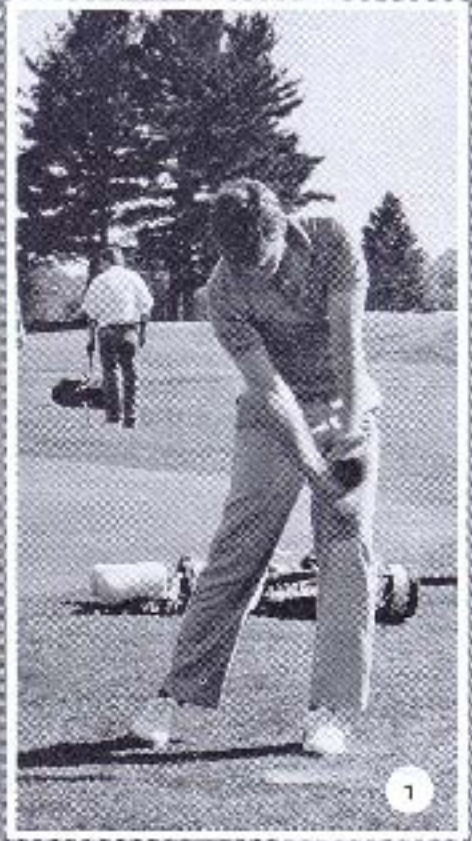
1/ Tony, superputter in action! 2/ The coaches practice their moves. 3/ Where's the ball Pete?



If putt, birdie, par, and eagle are foreign words to you, you must not be a golfer or a member of the golf team. This year's young team was lead by second-year Coach John Huenecke and first year assistant, James Brancel. Both coaches guided the seventeen man team through their slow start and their strong finish.

What the team lacked in experience they made up for with the enthusiasm of youth. With a disappointing sixth place finish in conference, the team did not have high hopes for Regionals but they surprised themselves with a second place finish. Overall, we showed improvement and came on strong at the end of the season." explained Assistant Coach Brancel, with a grin. "We were the 'Cinderella' team at sectionals." The team was held together by a number of more experienced juniors.

These players included Joe Hess, Steve Peterson, Pete Tofson, and Jim Jermier. "We had potential, but we were young and inconsistent." summed up Joe Hess on the 1987 season.

The dedication of golfers Jim Jermier and Joe Hess were recognized as they tied for Most Valuable Golfer. Steve Peterson was named the Most Improved Golfer for the season. Next year's team will have a line-up which includes five returning letterwinners. Their experience will guide the team to a higher finish in conference.

This year's team had Sharon Hagerman, Kelly Fiechtl and Matt Marion in the "A" members. The "B" team consisted of three juniors Eric Hagenhaus, Amber White and Kris Nelson. The "C" team was led by two year veterans Jeff Diehl and Johnny Krueger, along with Tammy Sweeney.

Academic Decathlon's first meet was in Hoodsport and the team placed 6th out of six schools. From there they moved on to competition at Klesath's Peak where they advanced to state competition.

Student Council

"Leader Of The Pack"

Student council is made up of each classes' elected officers. For the second year student council attempted to send an officer to Haiti to help doctors and nurses treat people for different illnesses. Mr. Brancel is the advisor in his sixth year.

The group earned money through the Homecoming Dance and one other dance after a basketball game. Another source of a fund raiser was selling the manditory phy. ed. uniforms to students. The council members pride themselves in keeping an ear open, listening to the voices of the WD student body.

"I Wanna Be A Cowboy"

Members of the Riding Club trained their own horses. They first competed in a fair. If a blue ribbon was achieved they proceeded to State. Gymnastic Club

"I'll Tumble For You"

These people tumble for WDHS. That's right, it's the gymnastic club and tumbling, twisting, and flipping is exactly what they do. Self sacrifice and pain is common to these girls, and they accept that knowing it will only make them better gymnasts.

Gymnastics is a sport that requires not only determination and coordination but also flexibility, poise, and balance. "It's difficult and it takes a lot of time but I enjoy it," stresses senior gymnast Christine Czerkas.

Each individual on the team choreographs a floor exercise to music and performs this routine at a meet. They also compete on the uneven bars, the vault and the balance beam. Striving to perfect their routines the club practices three nights a week at the Lake Delton gym in Lake Delton.

The health craze has hit WDHS by storm as more and more students started going to the weight room. There are many reasons that the weight room has become so popular. Two main reasons were to participate in sports and to stay in shape for off season sports. "It is too early to see the result of this program," commented Coach Irish, but he feels it has been a success because of enthusiastic student response.

Paulina Garcia

The American Fielding Service brings students from different cultures, backgrounds, and cultures together to learn from each other. This program sent Delta student Kori Nelson to Japan over the summer where she stayed with the Kobayashi family. It also gifted the Delta with Paulina Garcia from Peru. Paulina stayed with the Franczyk family during her stay.

AFS is a valuable learning experience for everybody involved.

"Thanks to all of you for making this year so memorable. Everyone was so friendly and patient. I'll remember you forever. I hope I can do something for you someday."

Creative Writing

"Write Back"

This group was created for students because they had the desire to write; whether it be a short story, an essay, a poem, drama, or children's literature. They are the creative writing club. The Creative Writing Club activities include traveling to Whitewater for a creative writing festival in the fall, publishing the Reflections magazine in the spring, and holding their annual Creative Sand Castle picnic in the spring at Devils Lake.

"The club is actually more of a mutual support group where all of the students get feedback on their literature," commented Mrs. Prosser, the advisor. "They are always encouraged to write and express their ideas."

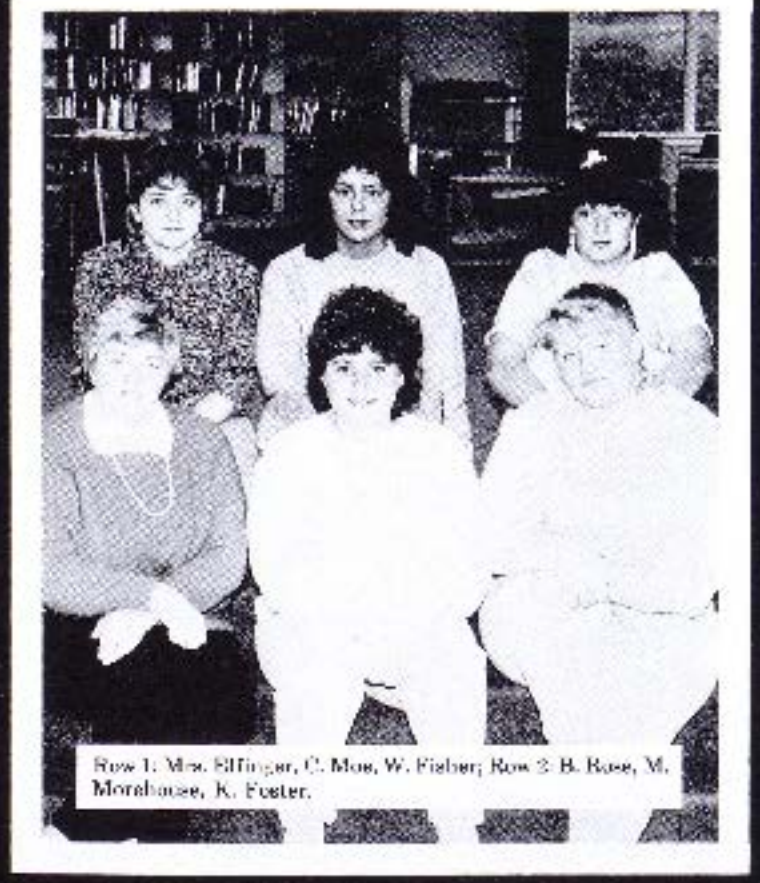
Librarians

"You Got The Books"

Librarians have an important role in the functioning of the WDHS library. Their duties include labeling, marking, checking-in and checking-out books. They are an important part of making the library run smoothly. Assisting Mrs. Effinger this year is Mrs. Aurich.



Row 1: Mrs. Effinger, C. Moe, W. Fisher; Row 2: B. Rose, M. Morehouse, K. Foster.

Key Club

"It's time to make a brighter day"

Striving to help the community, Key Club members dedicated themselves to do the best job they could do.

Key Club members participated in the presentation of smoking hazards to the fifth and sixth graders in the surrounding schools. Food baskets were delivered to the underprivileged, and they also assisted the Kiwanis during the Who-Zha-Wah Festival. These dedicated students spend hours of time helping the community be the best it can be!

SADD

"Don't Drive Drunk"

"Imagine your best friend. Now imagine your best friend dead." This saying is now a familiar verse in the halls of WDHS. A group of students formed a SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) chapter in our school to combat the number one killer in their age group- death due to drinking and driving.

SADD is the first program of it's kind to unite not only the students but also the community against the drinking and driving problem.

When a student participates on a varsity team or meets the eligibility requirements in music, he/she receives a letter. The letter reflects their hard work and dedication.

"Encore"

Imagine yourself on the island of Okinawa, Japan. The moon is rising slowly over the small teahouse in which you sit. The 1987 play "Tea house of the August Moon" was a humorous play concerning the U.S ocupation of Okinawa after WW II. Capt. Fisby (Andrew Bates) was sent by Col. Purdy (Dan Johnson) to remote village of Tobiki-their mission-to build a school house.

Unfortunately the interpretor, Sukini (Angie Statz) turned up with Lotus Blossom (A geisha girl played by Angie Beard) and insisted that they do not want a school house but a teahouse instead. With the help of the gardening fanatic Capt. McLean (Kari Nelson), the teahouse began to take shape along with their new industry, selling sweet potato brandy to U.S. troops.

Their happiness is ruined when Col. Purdy entered just as the village is celebrating their new teahouse. But low and behold the show isn't over yet, Col. Purdy has just realized what a mistake he's made when he's informed a U.S. Congressional team is visiting to congratulate Capt. Fisby on his work. As Angie Beard stated, "It was a fun experience and if I had the chance, I'd do it again because I believe it was a success."

Much of the credit for this success must go to the two directors Diane Jepson and Bill Nehring, who helped bring it all together.

A Night In The Orient, 1987

"When my name was announced as 1987 Prom Queen, it was a moment I'll never forget."

No jeans tonight, tonight's the night we put on formal attire of shimmering dresses and tuxedos. Tonight celebrates Prom 1987. May seemed a pleasant spring evening, set the stage for Prom when couples journeyed thousands of miles into an oriental paradise. A seventeen foot pagoda was surrounded by statues and light that released hues of orange, black and red throughout the gymnasium.

The paths along the garden lead the couples to the anticipated grand march. The theme song "Nothing Is Going to Change My Love" by Glen Madrona put their feet in motion.

After Grand March was announced and the couples danced their last dance, Angie Shafer, the prom chairman breathed a sigh of relief. The hand Power Play was a hit and not one streamer had made its descent from its place high on the ceiling. The formal occasion came to a close as the time came to put on jeans and put away the dresses and tuxedos as if Cinderella had lost her glass slipper.

To New York

"New York may be the 'Big Apple' but home is where the heart is."

"Start spreading the news, I'm leaving today. I want to be a part of it, New York, New York ..." This was the tune that fourty-eight juniors and their four chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Susdorf and Mr. and Mrs. Prosser, sang as they boarded the bus that was to take them to Madison to catch their plane.

On their arrival in Washington D.C. they were met by their busdriver, Sam, and their guide, Jack Novak, affectionately remembered as Jack "The Whack." For the three days of the Washington D.C. tour, Jack and Sam took them to such sights as the Christ's Church of Alexandria, Mount Vernon, Arlington National War Memorial, the Smithsonian Institute, plus many other historical sights.

Washington D.C. was fun but after three days it was time to move on to bigger and better things, namely New York City. The group took New York by storm, literally. The weather may have dampened their hair but nothing could dampen their spirits. The group experienced the mystique of Chinatown, the beauty of the Statue of Liberty, the tallness of the Empire State Building, and the culture of our hotel which contained everything from a nude musical to everyone's friend Steve on Channel 23.

The hotel was so intriguing that some people didn't leave it to go shopping on their last day there. Between lost privileges and a lost plane ticket, the Junior Class trip turned out to be an adventure in itself!

What shall I wear? What activities are going on tonight? There are loads of questions during Spirit Week; no one wants to be left out of all the fun!

Each class has to work together to show just how much spirit they really have. Everyday there are different competitions, and points are received. The competition does not stop there!

There is window decorating and float building. During float building on Thursday night all the students gather behind the football field for a toasty bon fire. Cheers are chanted, Senior football players are presented, and the 1987 Homecoming King is announced.

On Friday all the students and faculty have a pep assembly. Competition cheers are lead by the cheerleaders and the Alma Mater is sung. At the end of the assembly the winning class is announced.

During Spirit Week cooperation is the name of the game. It is also a time for everyone to remember as a fun experience of their high school years.

I'd also like to thank the patrons, the teaching staff, the office ladies, Trumbles, and above all I'd like to thank you, the student body, for without you there would not be an Arrow.

Putting together this yearbook was a definite turning point in my life as it was for other members of the staff. We have learned a lot; not only about yearbooking but about ourselves as well. There were times when we wanted to call it quits, times that we were so exasperated that we wanted to strangle ourselves with the croppers and smother each other with 3-R layouts, but we always stuck with it and got the job done. I am very proud to have been editor-in-chief of the 1988 Arrow. Yes, sometimes things were turned upside down but in the end everything turned out just right, because ANYWAY YOU TURN IT-IT'S ALWAYS 88.

A Turn For The Better

"That is the 'world turns' so does our Yearbook"

Amy Stroede, Editor-in-Chief

Memories are easy to make, but it is no easy task to capture them in a 128 page book. As the editor-in-chief of the 1993 Arrow it was my responsibility to turn the jumbled thoughts and imaginations of the staff into the unique yearbook you see before you.

After choosing our theme we all knew there was no turning back. During the first few weeks everything was in a total state of chaos. (see picture one) Upon completion of our first deadline we made an about face and became an exemplary and business-like group. (see picture two)

I'd like to thank each member of my staff for all the hard work and creative ideas that they put into the Arrow, and for putting up with me when I was ordering on the edge of insanity. Each one of them used their skills and talents to make this year's book approach.

On behalf of the entire staff I'd like to thank the following people:

Mr. Schaut for taking the club pictures and for always knowing what to do in the photography department even when the negatives turned out hot pink.

Mr. Kruse, who was the seventeenth member of our staff, for supplying us with hundreds of candids;

Damon Milner, our dateless rep., who was always there when we needed him to solve our numerous problems;

Mrs. Biffert, whose enthusiasm, ingenuity and support helped us believe in ourselves and our abilities.

They've Got The Beat

Here come the high-stepping, flag twirling, marching band from Wisconsin Dells. Dressed in new uniforms with many new faces, the band had a slightly different look this year. Many hours of practice went into learning their songs and moves for the football field. Linda Schauf, this year's drum major, worked hard to keep the band sounding sharp and professional. The flag squad and twirlers worked equally hard to choreograph their routines to music.

The marching band concert was a huge success with some new songs and sounds that delighted the audience. The band worked as one large group until January when they split into Wind Ensemble and Concert Band. The improvements in this year's band helped to keep the band looking and sounding upbeat and modern.

The Corporation Sings America

Under the leadership of Bruce Christoph, 28 talented students put together yet another Corporation. With only two returning singers, this was primarily a building year for the Corporation. However, practice and participation steered the Corporation to a fine year.

The Corporation competed at De Pere for the St. Norberts Festival and at Sauk Prairie Festival in Prairie du Sac. In addition, they performed at Stevens Point for the State Assistant Principal's Convention, and at the Holiday Inn for the Kiwanian's Ladies Night.

Pop tunes such as "I Go to Rio" by Peter Allen, "Kiss Him Goodbye" by the Nylons, and "Everybody Have Fun Tonight" by Wang Chung dominated the Corporation's lineup.

Thru Thick And Thin

As Time Goes By
The times we shared seemed like they'd never end,
The good times and the bad,
the smiles and the laughs.
We will always keep the memories of us together
close at heart.
Time came, grabbed us by the hand and led us through the best times of our lives!
But now it is time for us to part, Friends we will always be, without letting time get in the way.
Remember me; For I will always remember you.
Our high school days are gone
now,
But don't shed a tear; instead smile,
For there will always be a special bond between us,
As Time Goes By.

"In a certain sense all men are historians." Carlyle Life can be compared to a book, the end of each chapter signifying the beginning of the next. Mr. David Lake has just ended one chapter and turned the page to start a new one.

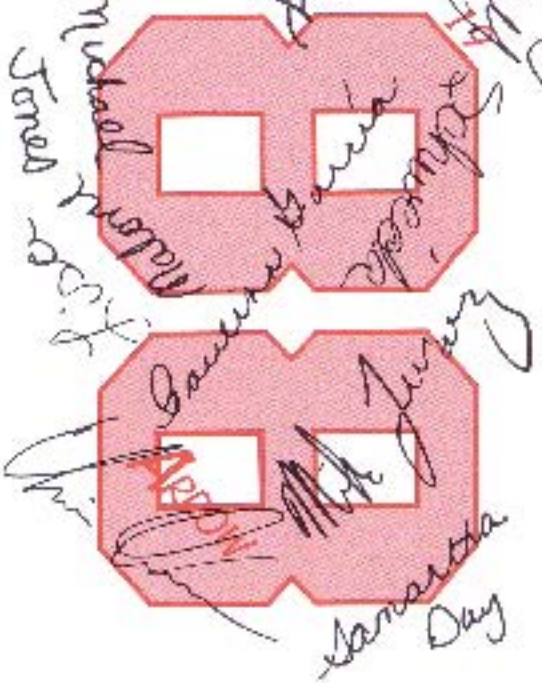
The first chapter began with Mr. Lake graduating from Moorehead Teachers College and receiving his masters from St. Cloud University, both of which are located in Minnesota. After graduating he joined the Army and two years later received a teaching and coaching position at Atwater High School in Minnesota where he served from 1954-1962. Mr. Lake then made a move to Wisconsin Dells, thus turning the page to a new chapter.

In the fall of 1962, Mr. Lake began his teaching position at WDHS where he has served for the past 25½ years as history teacher. During his past at WDHS, Mr. Lake earned the admiration and respect of many persons, though some did not appreciate his true character until after his retirement. "It's funny that I never realized what a knowledgeable and dedicated teacher he was until he left." shared one student.


The next chapter begins with newly retired Mr. Lake residing in his book store, Raven Wood Books, which he has owned for about 15 years. He will be spending most of his time there, an appropriate ending for this never ending saga.
