Another homecoming has yet come and gone. It drew to a close as the dance began. Homecoming is a time when freshmen become comfortable with life at WDHS. To encourage underclassmen to attend the dance, court was set up differently. Instead of the usual six senior couples, there was also one couple from the junior, sophomore, and freshmen classes on court. Tricia Pasch presided as the homecoming chairperson.

A Touch Of Class

Books, papers, pens and pencils, tools seen in any classroom of students eager to enhance their education. Occasionally, things out of the ordinary happen which are not part of the lesson plan. Teachers can now look back on these "disturbances" and smile. Here are some of their amusing anecdotes.

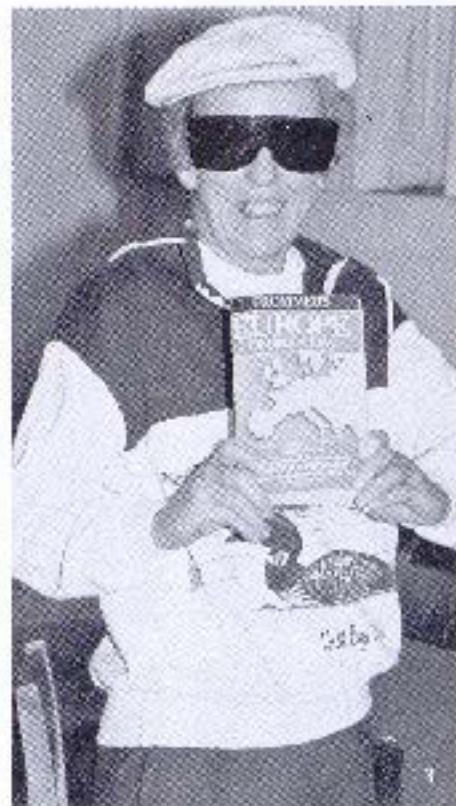

Mr. Geymon: "A freshman student changed his clothes in the back of the room to get ready for an athletic event."

Miss Wolfgram: "I've seen a student take out a needle and thread from his backpack and proceed to sew up a hole in the jeans he was wearing."

Mr. Tucker: "I once had a student open a door (already open) and walk absent-mindedly into the wall."

Mrs. Biffert: "Once when a student raised their hand to ask if another student could go to the bathroom. A few seconds later a foul smell scented in the room."

One special night spent on the Seine.

"When you need me, I wanna be the air for you" is one of the meaningful lines in the 1989 Prom theme song, "I'll Be There For You," by Ban Lowe.

Much preparation was put into Prom. The decorations and planning efforts were made by Co-Chairpersons Amy Rudeisort and Jenny Kelsor. Through much work and effort, the gymnasium was decorated to accommodate the Prom couples.

The Prom Court was as follows: Lar Anderson, Hugh Odom, Stephanie Goral, Joe Sloughlenger, Katie Toloksen, Terry Fokhor, Mary Houghton, Aaron Kirby, Odalis Avalla, John Heitke, Michelle Feldt, Jason Effinger. Vicki Mohr was voted Queen and escorted by Cory Marsden. Mini Queen: Eith Cottrell; Mini King: Adam Risk.

Tanjan, 1984, a local rock band, provided the entertainment. Chub Vista once again hosted Post Prom, and refreshments were provided by the Lions Club while souvenirs were being distributed. Derek Slickman, adviser complimented "Prom was a huge success."

King Cory Marsden sums up his feelings of Prom '89. "By far the best night of my young life."

Drama class produces "Our Town"

Samantha Caughlan directed her first play at Wisconsin Dells High School entitled "Our Town," written by Thornton Wilder.

The first act was called "Daily Life," and went over typical things that take place in Grover's Corners during the day. The scene opened up with Stage Manager, Linda Schauf, talking about the people involved in the play. It moved on to where Mrs. Gibbs and Mrs. Webb are making breakfast in their kitchens. It then progressed to detail the rest of the day.

"Love and Marriage" were covered in Act II, George and Emily's courtship and marriage. The act started with George and Emily realizing that they loved each other. As the scene moved on, George proposed to Emily and the act ended with them getting married.

At the end of the play, the action shows Emily after her funeral, and how she reacts to being in heaven.

They're off for the time of their life

"Wow! My 73rd real look at another part of the country," replies a member of the Junior Class who has never been out of the state of Wisconsin. There were many "firsts" on the "dahs" as the class took off from the Milwaukee Airport on their journey to the "Mudder Capitol" and the "Big Apple." The first sight these thirty-six students experienced when they reached Washington D.C. was the Eastern Airlines plane, resting on the tarmac. Soon after, they met their bus driver and tour guide, Gary, who many of the girls referred to as "Gary Indiana."

While in Washington D.C., the students visited many of the landmarks and encountered many hardships. The idea of the world announced Scholl's Cafeteria activities that had not been mentioned in public books, trained for the first two days of the trip, forcing the students to wear deodorant, badges and shower caps to stay dry. They still had a blast talking about what occurred one night at the Socio Lodge involving a certain boy's room who had an ice fight, causing police to arrive on the scene. Soon after visiting such a place like The Washington Monument, Frimsey Row, The White House, The Jefferson Memorial, and The Smithsonian Institute, the students packed their bags for a five hour drive to New York.

On their arrival in New York City, the colors were relieved that their long journey was over and they could get some rest. But to the surprise of everyone, the Hotel Carter was not as they expected. Blood stained sheets and blankets, bullet holes, bugs, and last but not least, syringes were found in their rooms. No one slept much that night and they all hoped for better conditions by morning.

As they awakened to a wake up call by a bitch who only spoke Chinese, the thoughts of home went through almost everyone's mind. Then just as everyone thought about staying in their place for one more night, Clyde, our travel companion, announced that they were going to move to the Millard Plaza. A "class do" boned to the Hotel Carter. Now everyone could relax as they toured through Chinatown, Hoboken, The Empire State Building, and New York's fine shopping industry.

Finally the time came to roll in back to their homes in the dairy state. On the plane ride home, all that was heard was 36 junior snoring away to the beat of their headsets. Upon the arrival to WDHS, everyone was relieved to be home safe and sound.

Track coaches initiate new method in 'running'

"We're not done yet?" "Come on coach. Why don't you let us off easy tonight?" These groans of exhaustion from members of the 1989 track were commonly rang into the ears of Head Coach Robert Johnson. Veteran Coach of fourteen years, Johnson was partly responsible for a new way of "running" the track teams. The girls team merged with the boys team to make one complete team under one man's supervision.

A tremendous effort was put forth by the teams. The results were not always victorious, but the individual results were improved meet after meet. The team members who qualified for sectionals were John Loundrie on discus, on the 400-meter was Erick Bockhaus, Hugh Gaston, Cory Marston, and Jon Loundrie, and for girls' 800 meter relay was Amy Montgomery, Stephanie Gassot, Sheri Anstedt, and Kathy Peterson.

Coaches and athletes agree that the combining of boy and girl teams has been extremely beneficial for the girls' team. Katie Toloksen exclaimed, "We have improved a lot by practicing with the boys. They push us to the max, and we love the results."

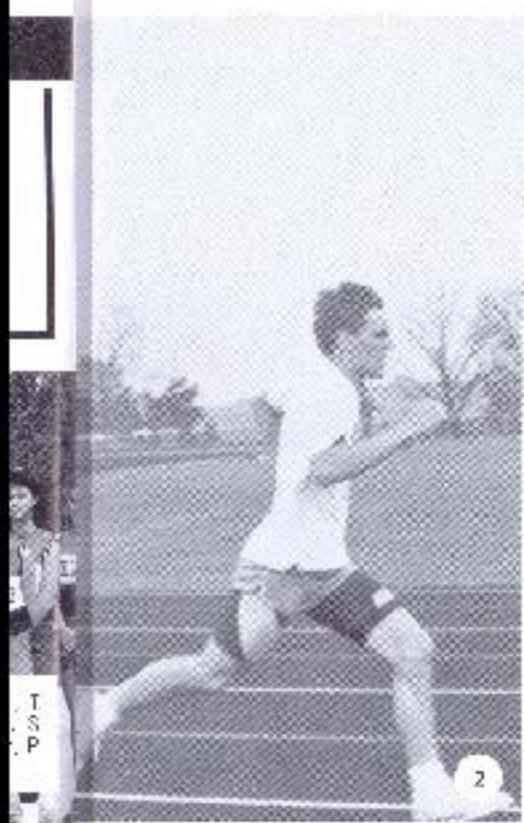

- 1) Now Kathy, Is improve your running ...
- 2) Mix sprints for finish line,
- 3) Step reaches for the baton.

"Although we didn't win very many games, it was one of the most enjoyable groups I've ever worked with." This is how Coach Jim Murphy summed up the 1988-89 Baseball team, with the record of four wins and six even losses for the season.

The Varsity team consisted of four sophomores, six juniors, four of which are returning letterwinners, and five returning seniors. The team fought long and hard; many members have awards to show for it. Sophomore Matt Jorgoe received the Silver Bat award for the most runs batted in. Junior Gabe DeJesus won the Golden Glove for the best defensive player. Lewis Moorehead got the Holtman Award for the most dedicated player and Andy Neva was voted the most valuable player. The Captain of the team was senior Fritz Elsen.

The Junior Varsity, coached by Derek Slickman, was made up of thirteen freshman and only six sophomores. Their season ended with no wins and six even losses. The fourteen members that made up the freshman team fought hard to win their games but didn't succeed finishing with three losses and no wins. Coach D. Slickman feels that winning isn't everything and stated "We had fun."

Riverview Park is known for its games and rides, but behind the park is where the action really takes place. If you were to venture behind the go-karts you would notice the Varsity along with the J.V. softball teams practicing in the fields. Not only would you observe drills of hitting, throwing, and running, but one of the teams' favorite past-times, sliding.

Now I need Coach, Dale Gray, commended, "I feel I have the skill to teach these girls, but for it being my first year, it takes some extra time." The Varsity team also had a new assistant coach, Mr. Fredriksen, who helped keep the team alive.

The Varsity team consisted of seven seniors, three juniors, and four sophomores. Karen Shad and Carol Weiss were the team captains. Carol was announced MVP, while Karen was chosen for the Coaches' Award. Amy Fowert received the Batter's Award, and Lori Swanson the Glove Award. Next year veterans will consist of two returning starters and five off the bench.

Dells par fore improvement.

Many people believe that golf is a sport enjoyed only by the pros and doctors. However, this is not true according to this year's team.

The golf team consisted of eighteen students during the season. Head Coach J. Hoenecke and Asst. Coach J. Brancel stood by their semi-experienced team throughout the good and bad times. "We're looking for improvement next year," commented Coach Brancel.

MVP was awarded to Pat Conley, with Erick Lorenzen receiving "best putter" and Brad Gussel receiving most improved. Scott Mattson, Team Captain, was "very devoted, practiced extra, had a good attitude and was a good example," according to Coach Hoenecke.

SIX IN A ROW

The junior varsity basketball game has just concluded. All the loyal W.D.H.S. fans are waiting in anxious anticipation, when all of a sudden the band starts playing the song "Champions" p." The crowd goes crazy as the defending South Central Conference Champions come running out onto the floor to start going through their pre-game warm-ups with some high flying dunks and long range three point bombs.

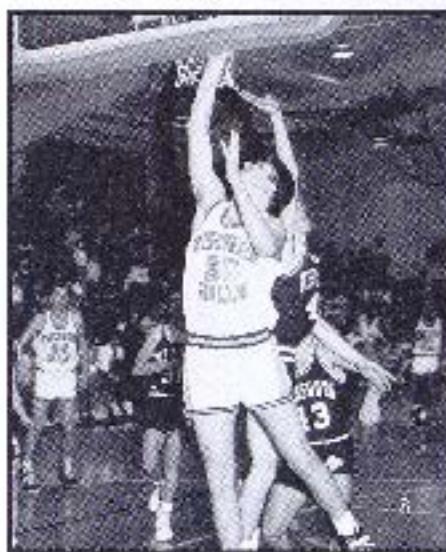

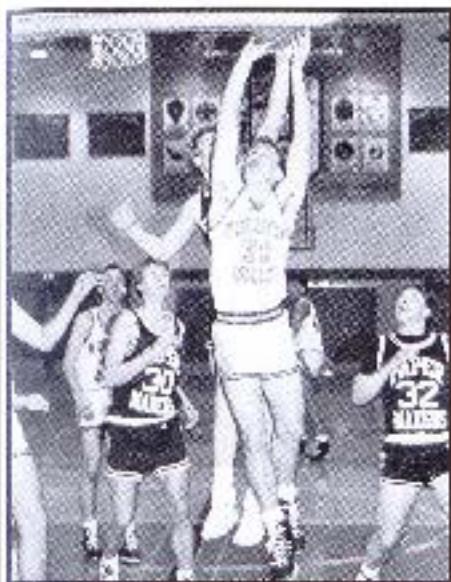

This was a familiar scene as the Del's Chiefs have compiled another successful year. An experienced team with eight seniors started out with a big win over the Tomah Indians who moved out of the conference along with Sparta this year. Then they went on for an eight game winning rampage to take a comfortable lead on top of the conference. The Chiefs then went to Madison Edgewood to lose a hard fought game.

Girls "Jump" into the season

They looked up at the clock. The game was tied with only 30 seconds left. The opponent continued to work their offense against them. The coaches yelled and screamed; everyone knew that something had to be done. Their only chance to get the ball back was to foul. So one of the players did just that by fouling the opponent. They now were behind by two points. They got the ball back but then lost it. They had to foul again, and as a result the opponent raised their lead to three. The buzzer sounded, it was now over. They had wanted to win this second meeting with Baraboo, badly and were so close, but yet did not win. This was only one of the games in a long, tough season. The Lady Chlets played their hearts out.

Unlike the boys team, they didn't win many games throughout the difficult season. The varsity squad consisted of three seniors: Miki Michael, Aileen Stowell and Wendy Waterman. Waterman was injured early in the season and was never able to return. "The Lady Chlets were a young team, they show a lot of promise for the future," commented co-captain Miki Michael. There were many tough opponents in the conference this year: Marathon, Baraboo and Portage. But the team would not give up in any game, instead they would go onto the court after each time out ready to play even harder.

Flame in the Palace of Pain."

mini "miniee)n, anything that is smaller than normal or customary." This definition certainly does not accurately describe a 6'5 1/2" 262 lb. 1990 Wisconsin Class B Wrestling Heavyweight Champion. Nevertheless, Jason Monkovi has quickly become the Wisconsin Dells definition of "miniee." Jason finished his junior wrestling year with a single season individual record with most wins (33), best record (33-0), most consecutive wins (33), most championships (2), and most pins (27).

Ever since Jason won the title, things have been very well for him. In addition to all the recognition, Jason is also driving a new, red, '89 Pontiac Firebird Formula, as well as being honored at a school assembly and "Mini Day" in the US history class. Jason loves being the center of so much attention. "It feels sensational" and I hope it never ends!" he exclaimed.

1. Guess who set his records.
2. Jason over edges the competition.
3. Tell he over lay him for 2nd place my freshman determination.
4. I don't believe it can you believe it?
5. Miniee state.

Teams turns towards triumph!

"Let's hurry out to practice and play football." This quote was heard many times from members of both the guys and girls cross country teams. Yes, the cross country teams played football, or warmed up, just as the football team ran to warm-up. The whole season seemed to be about this contradiction for the Delta Harriers. The guys cross country team finished fourth in conference this year, missing third place by a mere six points. The team placed ninth out of seventeen teams in sectionals to finish out the season. Although the season showed many successes for the malechie's, they especially showed their strength at two invitational meets. Both the guys and girls teams were proud to bring home a third place finish by the guys team at the Paynette Invitational. This trophy was the first to be brought home by a cross country team in over three years. The guys second great success came at the Black River Fair Invitational where they placed third out of nineteen teams, but did no-receive a trophy, as it was only awarded for first place.

The guys were fortunate this year to have quality leadership from the seven seniors that were out. Russ Erickson, awarded MVP, led the team to its success, receiving three personal medals. Todd Schad received the Coach's award this year for his valuable leadership for the team and for his help given to the new coach, Adrian Perrig. The AHS student received the Most Improved Award, as he started on JV, but ended up coming in fourth for the Dells. Emma L. Wimmer came in third followed by Mike Behn, John Engleman and Jim Warner. The Junior Varsity Squad consisted of Perry Stein, Shawn McMahon and Brian Gaston. The girls performed quite well this season, considering that they only had five members on the team. Their best meets were at the Reedsburg Invitational and Paynette Invitational. The girls rounded out their painful yet fun season with a seventh place finish at conference. They also competed at sectionals and took fourteenth place out of nineteen teams.

Nancy Schauf, a sophomore, led the lady harriers through the season. She received the MVP Award for the girls and also achieved a personal medal at the Paynette Invitational. Tara Bark followed behind Nancy and was awarded the Coach's Award for her strict leadership among the girls (and guys) teams. Karen Kozlowski ran a third place for the girls team followed by Jessica Venduchi. The recipient of the Most Improved Award on the girls team went to Michelle Haefer for her magnificent dedication of time throughout the season. Both the teams were extremely fortunate to have such an enthusiastic coach. Coach Steiner selected Mr. Pleh and team members agree he did a fantastic job at his first year as coach of the Delta Cross Country teams.

Netters dig a successful season.

All athletes want to win. They love the joy of defeat. The Girls Varsity Volleyball Team, coached by Cyndy Collins, experienced the joy of taking first place in the conference tournament by defeating Baraboo, Madison, and for the first time in over a decade, Portage; all of these teams had won against the Chiefs in the regular season. The SCCC tournament put the Dells in second place overall, tying with Baraboo.

Throughout the season, the Chiefs compiled a 3-3 record, tying for third with Reedsburg. Many goals were accomplished throughout the season, especially the Saturday tournament play. The highlight of the Saturday tournaments was the LaCrosse invitational. The Dells placed fifth out of sixteen and first in Division B.

Finishing the season, the Chiefs leave behind five talented seniors, Kels Foster, Jonny Kaiser, Miki Maher, Amy Rudeasch, and Katie Tollakson. Awards were received by Kolie Tollakson, MVP and co-captain; Miki Maher, co-captain; Kate Wimmer, most hustle; Kathy Zamzow, most improved; and Deb Oxner, most spirited. Jenny Kaiser and Katie Tollakson were nominated to the first team All Conference, as well as Kate Wimmer, second team, and Kathy Zamzow, honorable mention.

S E N I O R S

Yes, this is it for us. It's hard to believe isn't it? Twelve years of school, a vast amount spent complaining of school and yet next tell what will some of us be doing? More school. Even better, we will be paying our educational tuition. Those of us not going on to school will be off doing their own thing, whatever that may be. Hopefully this article will summarize and make it impossible to forget "the best years of our lives."

Freshman year: goody-goody class. Obviously a very good class indeed because starting with freshman year, all elaborate place. Psyche! Each room was individually decorated by very unique people. When the tourists returned from the East it was time to start preparing for the Junior Prom. April 29 arrived as the theme song "I'll Be There For You" floated through the gym, while "A Night on the Town" was a big success.

Additional junior year highlights included more bringing home the gold. While boys basketball again traditionally brought home the fifth SCC Champ, the girls were definitely not taking a back seat. For the first time in our class knows is winning. The reign began with the new football Coach Pete Gust, bringing home the SCC Championship. From there the flame was lit. The torch was then passed to Coach Jack Capello as the boys again captured both the third SCC as well as Class B State competition. Could the flame burn into sophomore year? No doubt.

In 1987-88 the football team again stole conference. Looked as if Coach Gust was a much needed touch. Then basketball season rolled around. Wouldn't you know it, Conference Champs again. To put the icing on the cake, the boys achieved a fifty game winning streak. Again the Dells' torch burned bright in the SCC.

Look out Washington D.C. and New York City. Here comes another thirty-six juniors from WDHS to tear up the town. The juniors crammed into a bus and headed for the Milwaukee Airport. From there it was off to the nation's capital to see nothing unseen. A memory, for all who went on the trip, that will not soon be forgotten in the great Carter total. The class could not believe the measly amount they paid for the trip would allow them to stay in such an ten years they won the regional champ honor. Even this did not close out the year as one of our own, Pete Zapuchalak, ignited the torch again by becoming the 152 lb. Class B State Wrestling Champion.

Last but certainly not least, our senior year Boys basketball won the sixth SCC Championship. In addition, to keep the flame burning, Mike Buri, Russ Erickson, Jason Manecki and Zapuchalak advanced to wrestling sectionals, resulting in Manecki capturing the Heavyweight Class B Championship.

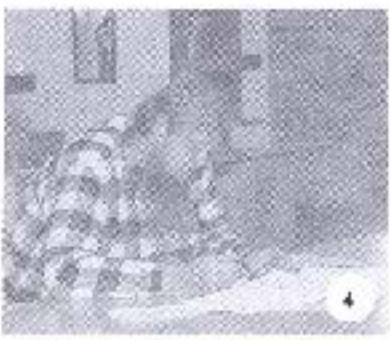

Now we have celebrated our last homecoming, our last club encounters, and our last sporting events as high school students. Now we've reached that time to say good-bye to our high school days and hello to a new life. We will never forget the special memories each of us has captured at WDHS. Thank,

Tammy Pritchard

I imagined while walking the other day the squares on the sidewalk below my feet. I like to imagine things, but this walk was special, so special in a way because it was describing someone's life. The seventeen squares on the block I walked made my viewpoint of Jay Blaser a walk I'll never forget. As I walked alone, my eyes caught details, and thoughts flowed through my head.

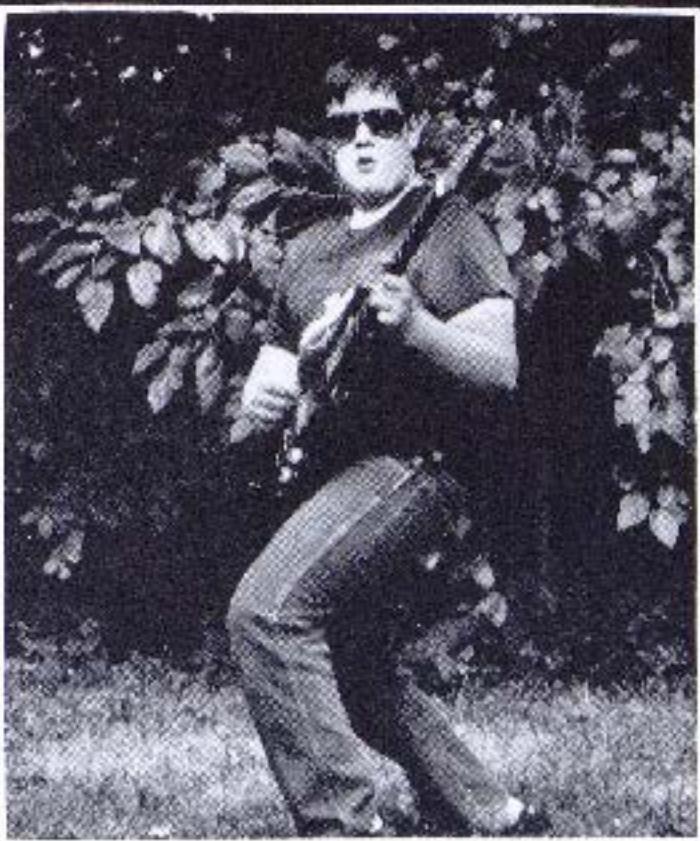

The cracks in the squares represented the many hurt moments in Jay's life. The leaves hid the squares like feelings kept hidden within Jay's self. The weeds growing between the cracks in the squares gave me a picture of Jay's many accomplishments. His dream was to be a rock star; his music was his own accomplishment. Some weeds were higher and some were shorter.

Sidewalks are used by many people each day. They're walked on and even run over. Did you ever stop and wonder if we treated Jay just like we treated a sidewalk? Never taking the time out to realize how important that sidewalk really is to us, just like we may not have noticed how important Jay was as a human being.

One of the most memorable things I did was to count all the squares I had already walked on. I thought he changed like the sidewalk, but like the sidewalk, I could have counted them again tomorrow. I don't mind though, because I'm still counting.

1990 Arrow staff

Working as a part of the 1990 ARROW staff proved to be one of the most challenging and rewarding projects that I have been involved in. It was quite an honor to have chosen as only the second male editor in the last fifteen years, not to mention working with a staff composed entirely of females.

I feel that working on staff has brought each member closer and has made us a tight knit group. There are so many unfilled deadline memories that the lucky few on staff will never forget.

I would like to thank all of the individuals who made our publication a success. Mrs. Biffert was by far the biggest help. She was always here to make sure that everything was working in the most efficient and effective way. Also a big "thank-you" to the office administration and faculty for allowing us extra time from our academic duties when needed. A nod on the book to our #1 shillergang, Mr. Kruse, for his numerous pixs of the year.

Words cannot express my appreciation to the "designing women" who put the book of the memories together. Each of you added your special touch which makes the 1990 ARROW one of a kind.

Last, but not least, a big THANKS to the student body at WCHS for your superb recorded activities and achievements which represented the happenings from the FADED 80's to KUCH CH-IHI 90's.

KEEP IN TOUCH,
Shane Holton, editor-in-chief
